Site Done For Saturn Big Rocket

America's Best Chance in Race

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Construction has been completed on the launching site from which early Saturn space vehicles will be fired.

The super rocket, which will generate 1½ million pounds of thrust on liftoff, is America's best hope of overtaking the Soviet lead in the space race.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration dedicated the $11-million facility Monday, accepting it from the Army Corps of Engineers in a brief ceremony.

Like 30 Stories

Engineers supervised the two-year building program for the massive 45-acre complex, whose centerpiece is a service tower which is as tall as a 30-story building.

Scientists and technicians now will prepare the ground support and launch control equipment for the first experimental Saturn firing, set for next fall.

Dr. Kurt Debus, head of NASA's launch operations directorate, called the complex "the first launch point for the world's greatest known rocket.

"Saturn," he said, "will be the workhorse booster for many exciting space experiments planned in the next decade.

To Get Men Into Space

"The main application of the Saturn launch vehicle will be man into space. Not too many years hence, three astronauts will be blazing toward an orbit about the moon atop the mighty Saturn."

The early Saturn C1 vehicle will be fired from this launch pad. A second stage will be added later, giving the rocket capability of placing 10-ton payloads into earth orbit.

A second Saturn launch complex will be built here to handle the advanced C2 vehicle, which will have considerably more power and twice the payload capability.

This nation's present largest space booster is the Atlas, which has 360,000 pounds of thrust. Estimated thrust of the Soviet space rockets ranges from 800,000 to one million pounds.

Will Consider Police Residency, Streets and Dogs

A proposed police department residency law, a street rebuilding and resurfacing program, and a proposed dog ordinance are on the agenda for tonight's meeting of the Common Council at City Hall.

The residency law, proposed by Police Commissioner Henry Eighmey would require all applicants seeking appointment to the police department to reside in the city, excepting where Civil Service requirements provide for the appointment of applicants outside the city.

Would Allow 90 Days

In such a case, Mayor Edwin E. Radel said, an appointee would be allowed 90 days to establish residence within the city limits.

A special Common Council committee is expected to present a proposed dog ordinance at tonight's meeting. The committee said in a communication to the Council that it is the opinion of committee members that a dog ordinance should be adopted for the protection of people, especially children, dogs and their owners.

Mitchell Hurt In Hotel Fall

Herbert Holran, executive director of Mitchell's campaign, said Mitchell had met late with aides. As the candidate was going to the bathroom, he slipped on the tile and fell heavily to the floor.

Holran estimated that Mitchell would be on crutches for at least three weeks with complete healing to take four to six months. The gubernatorial election is in November, when Mitchell will oppose Democratic candidate Richard J. Hughes.

Hunger Drove Fugitives Out

Says Trujillo Plotters Held Family Four Days

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A young doctor said four of those who plotted dictator Rafael Trujillo's assassination held him and his family hostage for four days until hunger drove them out of hiding.

Dr. Robert Reid Cabral said his home was commandeered by the four fugitives shortly after Trujillo was gunned down last Tuesday night.

Two of Four Slain

Reid Cabral said he, his pregnant wife and their infant son were held hostages until Sunday.

The family's ordeal ended when the fugitives, desperate for food and cigarettes, came out of hiding. Within two hours, two of the four had met death in a gun battle with police. The two others surrendered to authorities.

Leader of the group and alleged mastermind of the assassination was retired Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, 52.

Reid Cabral told this story:

After the Trujillo slaying, Diaz and his accomplices went to the office of another physician, Dr. Marcelino Velez, to get treatment for a bullet wound.

Forced Way In

The men threatened Velez unless he found them a hiding place and he took them to Reid Cabral's home. When Reid Cabral opened the door, Diaz and Antonio de la Maza forced their way in with guns drawn. Later two other figitives moved in.

Reid Cabral said the fugitives tried to get him to relay word to a person identified only as "wimpy" to tell Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt that "the tyrant is dead."

Wimpy was to try to drum up support in Latin America for the Dominican Revolutionary Movement, the country's opposition party. Reid Cabral refused to relay the information, despite threats to liquidate him and his family.

Departure Never Came

"Every day they said they would leave at night, but the hour never arrived," the doctor said.

Two hours after they came out into the open, police spotted Diaz and De la Maza in downtown Ciudad Trujillo. Diaz was machinegunned to death and Maza died of wounds soon afterward in a military hospital.

The other two, Salvador Estrella and Luis Caceres Michel, gave themselves up voluntarily.

Waterman to Hear Sentence June 7 On Entry Charge

Donald Waterman, 19, 61 German Street, one of two brothers accused of entering the Friendly Tavern on Thomas Street and also allegedly involved in numerous other thefts about the city, entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry and petit larceny Monday before County Judge Raymond J. Mino. Sentence will be pronounced on Wedesday at 11 a. m.

The Waterman indictment was one of 42 criminal cases on the June County court criminal calendar presented by District Attorney David W. Corwin.

Donald Waterman was accused of entering the Friendly Tavern on March 12, 1961, and was indicted for third degree burglary as well as the other two charges. He continued his plea of innocent to the burglary charge. Jointly indicted is his brother George Waterman, 17, whose case was continued to Wednesday at 11 a. m.

The Waterman brothers were arrested after Donald was observed by Kingston police officers carrying a brown paper bag behind the John M. Rapp Van Lines, Inc., at 537 Broadway. Contents of the bag led to questioning about the tavern job. Police said later both signed statements admitting more than 200 larcenies involving parked cars, milk bottles and private homes.

Thomas Saccoman appears for George Waterman and Marshall Lipton appeared for Donald Waterman when the plea was taken Monday afternoon in County court.

Other Cases

Among other cases before Judge Mino Monday afternoon were:

Vote to Help Baseball

Merchants Endorse Modernization Week

Kingston's Urban Renewal and Home Modernization Week was enthusiastically endorsed by the Uptown Businessmen's Association Monday night at the June meeting in the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

In addition to the endorsement of the week of June 11 as Urban Renewal Week, as proclaimed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel, members and citizens were asked to support the project by a general program of clean-up, fix-up and paint-up for community beautification.

The Uptown Businessmen also voted to support the Braves Booster Committee in the project to help keep organized baseball in Kingston. James Elder was named to head a committee and arranged for at least one car in the motorcade Saturday night. The motorcade, sponsored by the committee, will start from Delaware Avenue and Broadway at 7 p. m. and proceed to Deitz Memorial Stadium for the opening baseball game between the Kingston Braves and the Poughkeepsie Club at 8:30 p. m.

Will Write for Signs

It was also voted to write to Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and the State Department of Public Works asking for the immediate erection of temporary or the permanent signs at the Thruway traffic circle marking or indicating the Washington Avenue approach to one of Kingston's major business districts. Present signs direct all traffic to the new arterial route, except that going to Route 209. It was agreed that the words, "Business District" on a sign pointing to Washington Avenue would be satisfactory.

A letter of appreciation from the support given to the Kingston Women's Bowling Association in their sponsorship of the 1962 State Women's bowling tournament was read. This tournament which will bring over 15,000 bowlers to Kingston starts on March 23, 1962 and continues to about May 28.

Promotions as planned by the special committee were approved. The dates will be announced for each one individually.

President Clyde E. Wonderly Jr. of the Uptown Businessmen's Association presided at the meeting last night. The next meeting will be held on July 10.

Carpenters Still Out

Firms Say $1.13 Demand Is Exorbitant

There was no change in the labor situation today between striking carpenters in the nine county area covered by the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters and the employing contractors. Pickets were still on two school jobs in Kingston and the New Paltz State Teacher College job.

Another meeting is scheduled for Wednesday evening between the contractors and Union officials.

Contractors met last night to discuss matters prior to resuming discussions with union leaders tomorrow.

In a press statement issued today spokesmen representing construction employers from Newburgh, Middletown, Oneonta and Kingston described the current status of their negotiations with the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters as "continuing," despite certain difficulties brought on by the expiration of their agreements with the Council.

The contractors described the carpenters contract demands as exhorbitant when compared with recent settlements negotiated with other construction trades in the area. The statement says

Warns Soviets Are Trained To Cripple Pentagon Staff

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Army spokesman says the Soviet Union has the trained operatives, gadgets and the germs to sicken the Pentagon's 30,000 employees in a secret attack.

The Army also warned that the Soviets are so far ahead in both offensive and defensive chemical and biological warfare that it would take the U.S. at least five years to catch up.

In recent testimony before the House Appropriations Committee, censored before release today, Chemical Corps intelligence officer W. E. Black said that the Soviets could start a general war using chemical weapons and sustain it along a major front.

He said that the Soviets were equally proficient in covert operations, citing the possibility of erupting a small vessel of highly infectuous material into the ventilating system of a building such as the Pentagon.

Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, Army research chief, said that about one-sixth of the huge Soviet military stockpile consists of chemical warfare weapons.

The Army's chemical chief, Maj. Gen. Marshall Stubbs, testified that all intelligence points with certainty to the fact that the Soviets and their allies are ahead of the United States and its friends in both the use and the defense against chemicals and germs.

The censors pruned out most of what the general said was required to catch up with the Communists.

There'll Be Some Changes Made

Vision Fogged Briefly By Vibration: Shepard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut Alan Shepard disclosed today that rocket vibration fogged his vision briefly in the early part of his historic 15-minute space flight a month ago. But he said just about everything else went well.

Shepard said that as the result of his difficulty, some changes have been ordered in the Mercury capsule design to reduce vibration during the crucial moments just after launching.

Data For Scientists

Shepard made the observation in a paper prepared for delivery to 300 physicians and research scientists at a conference on the medical results of the first U.S. manned suborbital space flight last May 5. He rocketed to an altitude of 116.5 miles before landing in the ocean 302 miles from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site.

Shepard said the roughest part of the flight came as the rocket accelerated through the speed of sound and then passed through the point of maximum dynamic pressure. That was the point at which the Redstone rocket and the capsule it carried were subjected to the most severe combination of acceleration forces and atmosphere resistance.

Blurred Few Seconds

"These events occurred very close together on the flight, and there was general vibration associated with them," Shepard said.

"At one point my head vibration was such that my vision was blurred for a few seconds.

"We intend to avoid a recurrence of this experience by providing more foam rubber for the head support and improving the space craft adapter ring."

Shepard said he had no other difficulty during the powered flight and found no problem in breathing, seeing, or reporting to the ground.

Shepard added that:

1. The water landing was no more severe than the catapulting of a plane from a carrier deck.

Debriefing Useful

2. The so-called debriefing conducted during his two-day stay at Grand Bahama Island, after the flight, was useful and will be profitable for future flights.

3. The five minutes of weightlessness was similar to floating and did not affect movements, speech or breathing.

4. The capsule periscope not only was a good device for viewing the sky and earth, but also was a "backup" aid for navigation and for monitoring the opening of the parachutes on the descent.

Points to Trend That Threatens To Destroy Law

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Jacob K.Javits says recent cases of price-fixing in the electrical industry, work stoppage at missile centers, and the failure of local police to protect Alabama "freedom riders" all reveal the trend that threatens to destroy the law.

The New York Republican told a meeting of the Erie County Bar Association Monday night that it is up to lawyers to help restore moral responsibility and to keep the law from being undermined.

Javits cited the recent convictions in Philadelphia of high corporate officials under anti-trust laws for price-fixing on electrical equipment and also cited what he termed "featherbedding" in the missile base building program.

He said 30 unions and 100,000 workers were involved in 327 missile work stoppages that cost the government millions of dollars.

Javits charged that police and public officials in Alabama failed to protect "Freedom Riders" and were in open violation of the Constitution by "permitting the mob to take over."

Rocky Goes to Syracuse To Do Early Campaigning

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) —Gov. Rockefeller headed today for this Republican trouble spot on a fence-mending visit arranged along the lines of a full-scale campaign trip.

Although Rockefeller will not be campaigning for re-election officially until next year, he scheduled the unusual, two-day political assault against the background of continuing Republican concern over his popularity in the state's fourth largest city.

For the endeavor, he has crammed more than 18 public appearances, speeches and meetings into his schedule.

He set meetings with industrialists, labor leaders, businessmen, educators, political leaders and, in the finale tomorrow night, with the general public at a "Town Meeting."

Rockefeller prepared to listen sympathetically, during the two-day visit, to area problems and hopes in highway building, industrial development, schools and other areas.

He also scheduled political meetings and will dine tomorrow night at the home of Sen. John Hughes, who was a leader in the 1959 legislative revolt against Rockefeller's taxing - and - spending program.

The governor's tax program, which involved increases, touched off strong opposition in Syracuse and Onondaga County, which Rockefeller had carried 101,749 to 67,325 when first elected.

Other factors spurred the anti-Rockefeller feeling. Orthodox Republicans protested that his criticisms of President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon in 1960 hurt the party and contributed to its defeat last November.

The defeat of Assembly Majority Leader Charles A. Schoeneck Jr. in the election was a danger signal to Republicans. He had won two years previously 22,270 to 15,837.

Talk Set At 7 P.M. On Summit

Congress Voices Hope, Skepticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy returned home today from his series of summit level conferences abroad and prepared to report to the nation tonight on the results of his trip.

In a nationwide television and radio broadcast at 6 p.m. EST, Kennedy planned to brief the country on his meetings with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, President Charles de Gaulle of France and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Will Reaffirm Stand

In tonight's talk, Kennedy is expected to deal largely in generalities in reporting his conversations with Khrushchev. But it seemed certain that he will reaffirm the West's determination to stand solidly against any new Communist thrusts in Berlin and other danger spots.

Members of Congress—divided between hope and skepticism — eagerly awaited Kennedy's report.

Congressional Democrats generally were optimistic that some improvement in East-West relations might grow out of the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Vienna, even though no concrete results had been anticipated. Republicans were more skeptical.

Sees Groundwork

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he believes the conversations were "well worth while" and may have contributed to laying the groundwork for lower-level negotiations on East-West differences.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said it seemed to him the Vienna meeting "well served the purpose of getting the two leaders acquainted" and giving them an opportunity to talk over the world situation.

Solved Nothing

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, in a separate interview described the Khrushchev session as "a sparring match that solved nothing."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a spokesman for GOP conservatives, said he doubts that the meetings will alter the world situation in any way.

"About the best we can say is that they didn't do any harm—so far as we know now," he said.

Upstate Chief Is For Department Like Kingston's

Kingston's police department is cited as one of "excellent reputation" in a bid by an upstate police chief to gain helpful information in its reorganization project, it was learned today.

In a letter to Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Chief Gerard C. Paul, of the Town of Greece, a large Rochester suburban community, said his department was projecting its personnel needs, "for the next 10 years or so," and he asks for information, as to the Kingston departments' organizational structure chart, manual of procedure, rules and regulations, and officers' identification cards.

"I have been informed," said Chief Paul, "that your department has an excellent reputation in your area, and I would like to pattern our department after one such as yours. Also, if at some later date, I can make arrangements to visit your community, would it be possible for me to meet with you and discuss this matter."

Chief Murphy said he has invited Chief Paul to come to this city, and said he will cooperate with him fully in outlining the operation of the local department.

Albany Man Stricken

Successful Camporee

842 Turnout Sets Tri-Mount Record

All previous Camporee attendance records were eclipsed by a turnout of 842 Boy Scouts, Explorers and leaders at the 1961 Rip Van Winkle Council Camporee held at the Camp Tri-Mount Scout Reservation June 2-4.

The "young army" of boys and their leaders descended upon camp late Friday afternoon and evening. Most of the time was spent by the Scouts in setting up their tent campsites for the weekend outing.

Show Is Highlight

Highlighting the Camporee program on Saturday morning was a sportsmens and conservation show which included an archery exhibition put on by three members of the Kingston Archers group, Arthur Pinkham, Donald Planthaber and Donald Bowra. The Scouts also were in enthusiastic evidence at the camp waterfront as the Ulster Skindivers Club demonstrated their skills. Members of this group who took part in the demonstration included Edward Muller, Gerry Klemin, Theodore Wiands and Richard Grant. Climaxing the conservation phase of the program was a presentation on forest fire fighting and safety in the woods made by Ranger Victor Schraeder of the New York State Conservation Department.

An opportunity to test their outdoor skills was provided the Scouts Saturday afternoon as more than 100 Scout Patrols vied in traditional inter-patrol skills competition. Included among the events were physical fitness, observation, nature lore, compass work, Morse code signalling and first aid. Giving leadership to the patrol skills contest program was Harold Harrison, assisted by a large group of veteran Scouters representing all seven districts in the Rip Van Winkle Council.

For Explorer participants at the Camporee a special field event program was staged Saturday afternoon. The older boys enjoyed a program which included such varied activities as tree felling, cross cut sawing, tree climbing, rifle markmanship, canoe racing and chess matches.

Heading the special Explorer field events program was William Lenski of Cairo assisted by Gilbert Fredenburgh of Catskill.

Campfire Is Climax

A grand climax of the Camporee activities Saturday was a spectacular Council campfire program conducted by Robert Tremper of Ulster Park, assistant district commissioner of the Kingston District. Conducting the colorful opening ceremony of the campfire program were members of the Half Moon Lodge, Order of the Arrow.

In addition to the traditional campfire songs, skits and stunts, special musical entertainment was provided by Scout Orman Leighton of Mt. Marion. A monologue by Explorer Robert Burnett of Kingston was a highlight of the campfire program.

Council Scout Executive Alex Macdonald of Hurley spoke briefly and dedicated the campfire to the volunteer Scout leaders of the seven districts in the Rip Van Winkle Council.

Western District Commissioner Richard Stewart of West Hurley brought the campfire to a close with a brief inspirational message.

Worship services were conducted on the Camporee grounds for Scouts of Protestant and Catholic faiths Sunday morning.

A feature of the Camporee program Sunday was the closing ceremonies during which recognition was given to all who had participated in the weekend Camporee program. Ken Magyar, of Saugerties, Council Camporee chief presided over the closing ceremonies program.

Award Ribbons Given

Award ribbons were also presented to the Explorer Posts which participated in the Special Explorer Field Events program.

First place ribbons were awarded to Post 43 of Cairo for winning the tree chopping, canoe, tree climb and chess contests. First place was awarded to Explorer Post 12 of Kingston in the 2 man cross cut sawing and obstacle race. First place honors in rifle markmanship were awarded to Post 78, New Paltz.

Second place winners in the various field events were Post 141 of Catskill; Post 78, New Paltz; Post 43, Cairo; and Post 12, Kingston.

Overall winner of the Explorer Field Events program was Post 43 of Cairo. Explorer Post 12 of Kingston won second honors.

Camporee emblems were presented to all Scouts, Explorers and leader participants by Council Commissioner Sherwood Lasher of Kingston.

Told to Take Gold a 13

JERUSALEM (AP) — A young Jew told the Eichmann trial court today that at 13 he was forced to extract the gold teeth from bodies of gassed vicims in the Chelmno concentration camp.

Simon Srebnik, a Polish-born mechanic now in Israel, testified he saw an average of 1,200 Jews paraded to their deaths daily over a period of nine months.

The routine was always the same, he said. The Jews were given towels and soap and 80 to 100 at a time were herded into a big van and driven away.

"The doors were hermetically sealed," he said. "When the van moved on, the gas would enter it and in this way they all were killed."

Court Upholds 1940 Smith Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday upheld validity of the "knowing membership" clause of the Smith anti-Communist law of 1940.

The clause makes it a crime to be a member of a group knowing that it advocates violent overthrow of the government.

Justice Harlan delivered the court's ruling.

The court made the decision in upholding conviction of Junius Irving Scales, scion of a prominent North Carolina family and onetime chairman of a Communist party district embracing the Carolinas.

No Thought of Controls Yet

Recovery May Renew Inflation, Concern Of White House Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top White House advisers say there is rising concern in the Kennedy administration over the threat that business recovery will revive inflation.

There is no thought of resorting to direct price or wage controls barring "a wartime situation," said Chairman Walter W. Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

But Heller added: "We will have to exercise self-restraint to a degree perhaps never known before."

Three administration leaders—Heller, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, and Walt Whitman Rostow, special assistant to the President—stressed the renewed threat of advancing prices in addresses to the Advertising Council Monday.

The council's an organization of national advertisers and advertising agencies which donate millions of dollars worth of free advertising each year to campaigns in the public interest.

Heller told the advertisers the vigor of the business upturn should lift national output to a record $530 billion yearly rate by the end of 1961—a 5 per cent gain from the first quarter—and should generate enough tax revenues to give government a budget surplus in fiscal 1963.

But he and other officials stressed that a resumption of living cost increases may be a by-product of prosperity unless unions settle for moderate wage advances and management holds prices in check.

"As we go into the new wage negotiations, the question is whether we will negotiate our way into inflation or whether we can exercise discipline without wage and price controls," said Rostow.

Heller disclosed that the problem is currently before the President's Labor-Management Advisory Committee. The administration is hoping the committee of labor, industry and public representatives can lay out guidelines for wages and prices in major industries like steel and autos.

Phone Contract, Aimed at Ending Strike, Refused

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Telephone maintenance workers here, spurning the advice of their international union, have overwhelmingly turned down a new contract aimed at settling their month-long strike at the Rochester Telephone Corp.

The workers, members of Local 1170 of the Communications Workers of America, voted 619-93 Monday night against a new 33-month contract. Officials of the local had fought the contract because it changed a sick leave clause in their old contract, they said.

At the same time, the workers, acting on the request of the international, filed separate mail ballots to the union's headquarters. The international had favored the company offer, which provided for a $4.50-$5.00 weekly wage raise and increased fringe benefits.

About 1,100 workers are on strike at the company but existing telephone service has not been affected.

Results of the mail balloting will not be known until later this week. Local union sources said they did not know what would happen if results of the two votes disagreed.

TRUJILLO'S ASSASSINATION

No signs exist at this early stage that the people of the Dominican Republic have been or will be the gainers from the assassination of dictator Trujillo.

His oppressive government remains in firm control. The reported mastermind of the attack upon him is said to have been guided by a desire for personal revenge rather than a wish to transform the Dominican government.

It is not beyond the range of prospects that Trujillo's political heirs may use this stunning event as a new excuse to take the Dominican people toward Communist totalitarianism.

One of the ironies of Trujillo's last months in power was his sudden turning in that direction after long years in the Fascist mold. It was proof, if any be needed, that at the foundation totalitarianism uses ideology largely as a weapon and a lever.

The late dictator's switch, evidenced by a propaganda bombardment of Communist slogans, came after he was quarantined diplomatically by the United States and many other members of the Organization of American States. It appeared to be pure revenge.

There were indications, indeed, that the move actually was producing a quiet concert with Fidel Castro in Cuba, though earlier the two dictators had "traded invasions" and seemed the worst of enemies.

No one likes to see assassination employed in political warfare but slight sympathy will be found for Trujillo among free men. Not only had his own regime become repressive in the extreme, but he had many times trafficked in plots against Democratic leaders in Venezuela and other Latin lands. He was a confirmed exporter of trouble.

Free nations like to believe that change spells opportunity and progress. But in an unhealthy political society such as prevails in the Dominican Republic, change can spell danger.

No alternative of Democratic leadership looms in prospect. Repression has been carried on too long. Neither the trained men nor the means of gaining power are at hand.

On the other side, no successors to Trujillo can hope to match, at least at the outset, the confident independence with which he pursued his ugly course. Like Castro they are likely to look for friends. This could be another compulsion pushing them toward the totalitarianism of Moscow and Peiping.

Trujillo's violent death has removed an evil figure from the scene. It has not yet given promise of good things to come for the long-suffering Dominican people.

Joe Cronin, American League president, favors reinstatement of the spitball. He hopes the rules committee doesn't think he's all wet.

THE GAS STATION FBI

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover's appeal to gas station attendants to assist in the war on crime is intriguing. These men are, Hoover notes, in a position to render outstanding service to law enforcement. Many wanted criminals are among travelers who patronize gas stations.

Quite a number of lawbreakers already have been apprehended through the help of those who man the gas pumps. It makes good sense to alert them particularly to keep their eyes open for known criminals.

The FBI might even go a step further and give attendants who meet certain requirements a kind of reserve status. More than a few station attendants have been wounded or killed in brushes with criminals, and even when they act in an exceptional manner these men seldom reap any reward for what they have done. Some sort of FBI recognition might well be awarded to honor those who thus take an active part in the fight against crime.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

BIG JIM'S ANGER

No more kindly person exists upon this planet than Big Jim, better known to the lesser folk as James A. Farley, who was, among his sins, responsible for making Franklin D. Roosevelt President of the United States. In recent years, Big Jim has been selling Coca-Cola outside of the United States and has been making speeches all over the place. He is usually applauded enthusiastically even if he rises only to take a bow.

Rarely angry about things, Big Jim enjoys his way of life, continues to make friends, continues to travel and is never lonely.

Unlike Herbert Hoover, Jim Farley remains a partisan. Hoover has become a general American without too much regard to political parties and he speaks as kindly of Harry Truman and John Kennedy as he does of his erstwhile Republican colleagues. Jim Farley remains a Democrat; supports his party and despises mugwumps who slide hither and yon wherever the provender is best.

So James Farley went down to San Antonio, Texas, and told an audience:

"But neither the Greeks nor the Franks nor ourselves ever before faced the mortal challenge which confronts us today in world Communism. Tens of millions of graves and thousands of concentration camps prove conclusively that the Communists place less value on the human spirit than did Attila the Hun. Space rockets and spinning satellites prove that our enemy intends to borrow every technical advance of Western civilization to destroy the spiritual values which produced these self-same material advances. Worse still, not being bound by our humanitarian and spiritual values — with unparalleled cunning — the Communist enemy has used the symbols of faith, hope and charity to subvert and destroy those values in the human heart itself."

This is the strongest language I have ever heard James Farley use. Then he said:

"Let us not pay tribute to the enemy's zeal; that is only half the story of his success. The other half we have contributed through our folly, our child-like ineptitude and our outright appeasement."

These are important two sentences for the President to bear in mind during his visit with Khrushchev in Vienna. For after all, it is as easy to give away as to be taken. Who is to say that Franklin D. Roosevelt was taken by Stalin at Teheran; yet today we know that the losses of the United States at that Conference were enormous and the fact that none of them were incorporated in a treaty does not make the loss less. In fact, Farley denounces policies and attitudes for which Democrats were more responsible than Republicans although both sides pursued the same course. He says further:

"It was the incredible theory of the leaders of the West that our great strength frightened the Communists. To accommodate the supposed fears of the enemy, we disbanded our forces; demobilized our armies; dismounted our air arm; mothballed our fleet. The Communists at once expanded into the power vacuum we had left. Country after country fell before their unopposed forces."

Coming from James Farley, this attack upon the policies of General Marshall and Secretary of State Dean Acheson policies is startling. It can only mean that in 1961 what seemed to be right in the 40's has proved itself wrong and that some men are capable of recognizing error no matter where it originates. It is true that John Foster Dulles attempted to undo the errors of his predecessor but he could not have succeeded because they were established fait accompli. The Russians had taken advantage of every opportunity and using the Teheran agreements as a base proceeded to commit their outrages legitimately even though inhumanly. It is the legitimacy that must now be brought into question and that can only be done by the publication of all the documents relating to Russo-American Relations from Teheran on. Only then can we know the precise truth.

Did we give away human freedom or were we tricked by our naivete? This question can only be answered by looking at the facts without partisanship desiring to protect personalities. History will be written in brutal language when all the data is in and no one will be spared. The fact is that Western civilization was struck a fierce blow at Teheran — a blow from which it is not recovering. We need to know why and by whom.

Be Kind to Those Nerves— You Can't Replace Them

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If ever you've rapped your funny bone on the edge of a table or the arm of a chair you don't need to be told that the nerve trunk is composed of mighty delicate tissue.

But perhaps you aren't aware of the damage that can be done by continued pressure on an exposed trunk.

Writing in the Journal of Industrial Medicine, Dr. A. A. Marinacci has drawn attention to nerve injuries and even paralyses that result from constant pressure, sometimes the result of on-the-job activities but sometimes unrelated to wage-earning.

Here are a few examples of Dr. Marinacci's investigations, with suggestions for their avoidance:

Weakness of a branch of the facial nerve from prolonged use of the telephone with the base of the receiver resting on the shoulder and the rim against the side of the face.

To prevent, use a headphone.

Weakness and even paralysis of the powerful muscles of the upper back and neck from bearing heavy weights on the shoulders, as do hod carriers.

To prevent, use heavy padding.

Crutch paralysis, with involvement of forearm muscles from pressure in the armpits.

To prevent, use modern crutches with hand bars and learn to reduce armpit pressures to a minimum.

"Saturday night paralysis" from heavy sleep while under the influence of drugs or alcohol, with arm hung over the side of a bed or a chair or from resting the weight of the body on the flexed arm.

Weakness of thigh and leg muscles from heavy sleep, with the leg hanging over the side of the bed.

Weakness of forearm muscles from resting elbows on the arms of a chair during prolonged sessions of televiewing. Weakness of leg and thigh muscles from hanging the legs over the edge of a chair during similar session.

Weakness of the leg mucles on one side from prolonged sitting with legs crossed.

Weaknesses of hand muscles from prolonged use of tools held in the palm, particularly during operations such as riveting.

Numbness of the feet and pains in the calf when carpet-layers abuse their lower extremities by standing on their toes and use their hamstrings (back of the knee) as springs.

Weakness of foot muscles from prolonged motoring in bare feet.

Permanent weaknesses and even total paralyses from injuury to adjacent nerves by the fragments of a bone fracture, particularly at or just below the shoulders (Erb's palsy).

Better be kind to those nerves. They're not easy to repair and they're impossible to replace.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Most of the changes in U. S. Army organization just recommended to Congress by President Kennedy were put forward during the last six years by former Army chiefs of staff—Generals Maxwell D. Taylor, Matthew B. Ridgway, and Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, retired chief or Army research and development. The main points in the Kennedy program include::

- A long-delayed modernization to cost $100 million.
- New programing of existing Army appropriations to provide another $100 million for nonnuclear, guerrilla warfare.
- Reorganization of Army reserves to provide double combat strength in less than two months after mobilization.
- Increase Marine Corps to 190,000 men, $60 million.
- Complete overhaul of United States intelligence operations.
- Change the present pentomic division of 12,500 men in five combat teams to the former triangular, three-regiment division of 15,000 men, in place of the World War II 17,500 men.

Only this last point is a repudiation of the Ridgway-Taylor ideas. Both of them backed the pentomic division, as a result of their Korean war experience. But it proved to be too thin and light, so a return to heavier organization is ordered.

THIS CHANGE IS GENERALLY CREDITED to General George H. Decker, the new Army chief of staff. He took his recommendations to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and together they persuaded the President of its desirability.

All the other changes, however, bear great similarity to earlier recommendations of Ridgway, Taylor and Gavin.

In 1955 Ridgway, backed by Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Arleigh A. Burke, vigorously opposed reduction of United States armed forces from 3.2 million to 2.8 million men in two years.

When President Eisenhower was asked about this criticism, he replied at a press conference that Ridgway's views "were in a sense, parochial," because he did not have the overall sense of responsibility of the commander-in-chief.

When Ridgway's memoirs were published under the title of "Soldier," the next year, he repeated his criticism. He accused Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson of "ordering manpower cuts for political reasons that reflected the sort of thinking which brought us disaster in Korea."

Shortly after this, Ridgway asked for early retirement. He was succeeded by Taylor in 1958. Wilson also departed, to be succeeded by Neil H. McElroy.

TAYLOR IMMEDIATELY BEGAN PUSHING his campaign for modernization of the Army, which had also been advocated by Ridgway. Eisenhower resisted this for the last five years of his administration, for reasons of economy and a belief that nuclear weapons made ground forces less necessary.

Taylor argued that the United States already had excessive nuclear weapon capacity, with thousands of vehicles able to deliver bombs, whereas only hundreds were needed. He advocated more conventional weapons for fighting smaller wars.

Unable to persuade the Eisenhower administration of this need, Taylor resigned in 1959. In his subsequent book, "The Uncertain Trumpet," he set forth views which, if adopted, would have predated changes now being recommended by Kennedy.

THE VIEWS OF GENERAL GAVIN are known to have influenced President Kennedy a great deal. An advocate of more research and development, Gavin talked constantly of wanting "quantum jumps" — great leaps forward. He didn't want 1903 weapons brought up to the 1950s. He wanted weapons for the 1960s and beyond — more Army airpower, missiles and small A-bombs.

His views were too advanced for his time, however. He retired at age 51, and wrote a book, "War and Peace in the Space Age." Gavin was a military adviser to Kennedy during his campaign for the presidency and after election. Many of the President's ideas took shape in this period, before he appointed Gavin as his ambassador to Paris.

Military experts warn now, however, that the new Kennedy program alone will not do the complete job.

It is recognized that the U. S. may use small, non-nuclear forces in the first rounds of any small foreign war. But if they fail, reliance must be put on nuclear weapons.

Congress Seen as Entitled To a Full Summit Report

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 5—The American people may have to be content with the generalities of President Kennedy's half-hour speech on television about his meeting with Premier Khrushchev. But Congress which is after all a co-ordinate branch of the government, cannot be satisfied with such a fragmentary account.

All the members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs are entitled to a detailed report on any statements made in behalf of the United States during several hours of talk with the Premier of the Soviet Union without the presence of even the Secretary of State.

If there were any commitments or pledges or agreements which could directly or indirectly involve preparations to be made by our armed forces or the appropriation of public funds for foreign aid or other matters connected with foreign policy, the committees in Congress have a right to be informed about them.

Possible Controversy

Diplomacy normally is a proper means of communication for the executive branch, but when our government talks to another government in a crisis involving war or peace it is important that the legislative branch be advised, and in detail. Many an executive agreement has been made in the past with a foreign government which was not submitted to the Senate for ratification, and this has produced many a controversy. The clear intent of the Constitution, however, is that Congress, through its leader or committees, should be kept informed.

Mr. Kennedy acted at Vienna in the role of ambassador. But he reports to nobody else in the executive branch. He talked alone for several hours with the head of the Soviet Union with only interpreters present. Notes of a sort were kept, but hardly a complete stenographic record. Translators have a way of condensing long answers, and sometimes they unwittingly soften harsh phrases. Sometimes they give meanings that are not as comprehensive as they should be as language differences are not always explainable.

Certainly the long hours of off-the-cuff conversation between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev were hardly a substitute for the carefully prepared papers and documents of formal diplomacy. Yet the fate of the world may rest on the most effective communication possible between the head of the American government and the dictator of the Soviet government.

Mercuric Khrushchev

Plainly Mr. Kennedy thought that personal contact would be helpful in producing an atmosphere of cordiality and friendliness. But Premier Khrushchev is the kind of man who turns on the smile or the frown to suit his own purposes. His promises have proved meaningless in the past. He can fraternize with Dwight Eisenhower one day and not long afterward he can be calling him a "coward" or a "thief." He can be addressing the United Nations Assembly one day with all the dignity of a foreign potentate and the next day he can be pounding his shoe on a table like an uncivilized peasant.

Subjects like Laos and disarmament and nuclear test bans and the status of Berlin are never going to be settled by personal parleys at the "summit." Power and the pressures of the "cold war," in which many billions of dollars are spent on both sides, will alone affect the result. The threat of war will be used to force trades and deals and so-called agreements. The truth is that the communist dictatorship is deploying its army of plain-clothes men in every country of the world.

Basis for Respect

If these subversive activities were really outlawed and banished from this country, for instance, the Soviet government would begin to have more respect for the West. But inside the United States, as long as so-called "intellectuals" — various professors and crusading students, as well as sections of the press and church groups—continue to call for a stifling of Congressional investigations of subversion, the FBI will be helpless by itself to stamp out the movements that are, knowingly or unknowingly, playing the Communist game.

The only course available, therefore, is to bring out into the open every statement made by Premier Khrushchev so that the world can witness his deception and trickery and be alert to the acts of treachery which have been so effective for his side in Laos, Africa, Cuba and Latin America.

For the Soviet government is carrying on the biggest intervention in the internal affairs of other nations the world has ever witnessed—and still the so-called free world sits by and carries on wordy conferences with its most powerful enemy. If the American objective is to win friends through public argument, then the sooner the United States establishes communication with the people behind the Iron Curtain and begins telling them the whole truth about the real threat to peace, the sooner will come the day when peoples inside the Communist bloc will deal with the dictator and the menace of war will be removed.

The Soviet Union spends each year on its forces stationed inside the free world far more money than the United States spends for "foreign aid" of all kinds. It is more important today for America to spend money to win peace on earth than it is to spend forty billions to invade the moon.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The Decoration Day parade brought memories of years gone by when a benefit was being held for the Joyce Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the proceeds of which were to be used to erect a home for the returning veterans. There was the Joyce Schirick Post ball held in October of 1945 at which Florence Albright was chosen queen. Margaret DeCicco was chosen queen by the veteran patients at Castle Point.

I wonder how many remember when Chuck Connors returned to the local sports scene in November, 1945, to appear in the lineup of the Jersey Reds to meet the New York Jewels in the season's first basketball game for the benefit of the Joyce-Schirick Post, VFW. The proceeds to be used toward the VFW Home in Kingston. Chuck was well known to sports fans here then, as he was first baseman of the Kingston Recreations.

Mrs. Dominick La Torre of 42 Post Street gave me the Pictorial Magazine of the Journal American of Sunday, May 21, 1961. Chuck Conners is on the front page, in bright colors, for he is headliner in a TV show, "The Rifleman." They write about him in part: "Upon the TV frontier, each week looms, Chuck Connors, ballplayer-turned-actor. In the title role of ABC's popular Western, "The Rifleman," he's a truly formidable man-behind-the-gun. Brooklyn-born Chuck joined the Dodger's roster in 1942, while a baseball star at Seton Hall College. Sojourns with Southern teams, with Montreal, the Chicago Cubs and the Los Angeles Angels followed. The LA stop proved a big boon for his popularity with the fans led to a part in M-G-M's "Pat and Mike" and eventually to a full-time career in movies and TV.

I bought an interesting book the other day. It is a hard cover, red cloth bound book called "Reformed Church of Flatbush, 1807-1907." of Flatbush, N. Y. compiled by Rev. P. S. Beekman. It was printed by R. W. Anderson and Son, of 15 and 17 West Strand, Kingston, New York in 1907. It is printed on good paper and well illustrated.

Quoting in part from this fine book. I see the committee expressed their thanks to Benjamin M. Brink, for his introduction and helpful suggestions. I take it, Mr. Brink was the publisher and editor of "Olde Ulster" the historical and genealogical magazine, also printed by Anderson around 1907, of which I have a few copies. I understand Mr. Brink could translate local records from the Dutch language. They also thank Jacob M. Snyder, who remembered all the pastors of the church, as well as the edifice as first built, and other interesting and valuable information.

Mr. Brink gives in detail all the land conveyance from the early 1600's and uses freely Indian names and Dutch names. One grant of 1677, he tells about the consideration given the Indians was "a blanket, a shirt and a loaf of bread and baize for socks." He further goes on to say, "The consideration appears ridiculous to us, but it was then an unbroken wilderness of hills, forests and swamps needing the years of toil requisite to clear and develop. To the Indians it was worthless. This may interest historians: "On May 19, 1687, the great patent was granted to the people of Kingston, which was known as "The Kingston Commons," which covered all the region of Flatbush."

NEW YORK (AP)—It would be really nice if some of the season's commercials were heading for oblivion along with all those network entertainment programs which won't be back next fall.

Every viewer has his own candidates for extinction, but I could manage to struggle along without:

The jolly demonstration of a wash-day product involving two small boys heaving chocolate pies at a clean table cloth and mopping up with dainty towels a floor covered by a nauseous mess of gravy, soup and sauce.

The rude, aggressively snoopy neighbor who walks into the housewife's kitchen and proceeds to order her to use a certain soap.

The "scientific machines" that demonstrate how fast pills dissolve, how a woman can breathe out of only one nostril and how bad an onion smells.

The couples, obviously madly in love with each other, who spend their precious time together sentimentally describing how mild and satisfying their cigarettes are.

The announcers with authoritative "doctor voices" prescribing reducing aids or headache pills.

The athletes attributing all their skill and vitality to one brand of bread or cereal.

Those filthy sinks that the scouring powder cleans without even scrubbing.

Dave Garroway obviously is going to leave NBC's "Today Show," as he requested, but the date of departure is still up in the air. Garroway was planning to take things easy this summer by taping a couple of shows one day each week anyway.

John Daly is considered the most logical replacement, but network officials say that a number of names have been submitted for consideration.

Recommended tonight: "Summer on Ice," NBC, 10-11 (EDT) —skating show with Peter Lawford and Peggy Lee; Garry Moore Show, CBS, 10-11 — with guest stars Alan King, Eileen Farrell and the Jonah Jones Quartet.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Debt continues to mount, if jerkily. The recession slowed the increase of the total of private debt. But there's a good chance today that both public and private debt are ready for another spurt.

Since World War II, total debt and national income have kept pretty closely in step with each other—speeding up in boom times and slowing down in recessions—but over-all advancing steadily. This is particularly true of corporate and personal debt, and as long as it moves along in step with income, most people won't get too excited.

Net Debt Was High

The total of public and private net debt stood at a record $883 billion at the start of the year, a gain of $37 billion in 12 months. The various forms of government owed $301 billion, corporations were in hock by $295 billion and individuals and unincorporated enterprises by $287 billion. All three types of debt had risen in 1960, although much of the year was a recession period.

The gross national product for the year—that is, the dollar total of goods and services produced—was $503.2 billion, a gain of $21.1 billion in the year. This, too, wasn't bad for a period called disappointing in terms of earlier predictions.

Recession Slowed Debt

But the recession did slow the growth of corporate and individual debt, and the increase in gross national product, also.

Individuals continued to pull in their horns during the early months of 1961, a fairly rare occurence since the end of the war.

Instalment debt totals fell in January, February and April, and had only a slight rise in March. The total is now about level with last September, although still above a year ago.

The recession also slowed borrowing by corporations. Plans for expansion were pared. This cut down the need for funds for building plants or buying equipment.

Need for Funds Drop

Also, business drew back from building up stocks and tended to live off those on hand. The need for funds to carry inventories dropped way down.

Those two factors left many corporations in position to finance the ordinary operation of their business largely out of cash on hand.

But in all three sectors—government, corporate and individual—the signs today are for an increased borrowing pace.

William Howard Taft was first U.S. president to be chief executive of all 48 states; Eisenhower of all 50.

No Dirty Dishes Either

U.S. Unveils Space Kitchen of Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space kitchen in which three astronauts can set up housekeeping in a flight to the moon has had a down-to-earth showing.

If nothing else, the kitchen has one notable merit: No dirty dishes.

The kitchen had its showing Monday at a luncheon, where a young man garbed in an astronaut's suit operated the kitchen to prepare the kind of meal a space traveler might eat.

Moving like a ballet dancer to simulate the free-floating condition of weightlessness in space, he moved from freezer to refrigerator to oven, clutching handles to keep from drifting away.

From the oven he produced a heated can from which he unscrewed a bottom cap, attached a forced-feeder device resembling a potato ricer and fixed a feeding nipple to the can.

He then squeezed the food out of the container, through the nipple and into his mouth.

The kitchen can be stocked with 108 cans of frozen foods like pineapple, strawberries, fruit bars and pound cake; 207 canned main item courses like veal steak, ham and eggs, vegetables and potatoes; 618 plastic tubes of dried milk, cocoa, tea, coffee, fruit juices, eggs and steamed rice.

Overhaul Must To Save WCB, Chairman Avers

NEW YORK (AP)—The chairman of the State Workmen's Compensation Board says he thinks his agency may be threatened with extinction if it doesn't get a major overhaul soon.

Speaking from 33 years' experience in the field, Chairman Solomon E. Senior says he believes the whole process of governmental provision for the injured in industry has failed to keep abreast of the times

He complains especially that the Workmen's Compensation Law does not yet cover all employes, that its benefits have not kept pace with the cost of living and that costly "legal jousting" has come to dominate a system once designed to deal quickly with workers' needs.

At a news conference Monday called to answer critics who have demanded an investigation of his board, Senior said the fundamental trouble with the compensation process is that it fails to emphasize rehabilitation and restoration.

an outmoded schedule of compensation payments that ignore the worker's age and other circumstances and relies too often on lump sum benefits where long-term payments coupled with rehabilitation programs are called for.

He called the entire system of lump sum payments "baffling."

State Sen. Joseph Zartozki, Manhattan Democrat and Senate minority leader, and Assemblyman Melville E. Abrams, Bronx Democrat, have asked that the agency be investigated by a joint legislative committee.

Mrs. JFK Sleeps Late, President Wings Home Alone

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy stayed in bed until nearly noon today, resting up from a hectic round of public appearances with her husband.

In response to questions about Mrs. Kennedy's plans for what remained of the day, a secretary said: "I really don't know what she is going to do. She might get an impulse to do something."

As the President flew home, the First Lady stayed behind at the home of her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill.

The secretary said that Mrs. Kennedy plans to leave sometime Wednesday for Rome en route to Athens but that the departure time was still not fixed.

In Greece she plans some rest and sightseeing, and a short cruise to the islands in the Aegean.

Bids Business Chiefs Do More on Ethics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said today that business leaders should do more to impress on their own employes the importance of adhering to the antitrust laws.

Hodges testified before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, which has been investigating price fixing in the electrical equipment industry.

He said he believes that the American businessman is committed to finding a way to both live within the law—particularly the antitrust laws—and to compete fairly, honestly and helpfully.

But Hodges said that big business does have some special problems and perhaps one of its great failures is a failure in communication.

"Management of corporate America must assume the responsibility for a more aggressive program of acquainting its own people with its policies, its commitments and its philosophies," he said.

Woman Pays Fine Leaves Jail for Woodstock Home

One of three Town of Woodstock residents jailed for refusal to take shelter during the April Civil Defense alert has paid a $25 fine and been released from jail after serving out the original five day jail sentence imposed in addition to the $25 fine.

Mrs. Mona J. Fletcher, 32, of Lake Hill, was discharged from the Ulster County jail last Friday on completion of the jail sentence when she paid the fine. Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten, Town of Woodstock, sentenced Holley Cantine Jr., Dorothy Secrest and Mona J. Fletcher to 5 days in jail and imposed a $25 fine, one day to be spent in jail for each $1 of the fine unpaid. Cantine and Dorothy Secrest have completed their five day sentence but have not paid the $25 and remain in jail.

Two additional cases involving failure to take shelter during the April 28 Civil Defense drill, are still pending. Jeanne Nield will have a hearing on June 13 and Mrs. Gorien Kelcey Jacober will come before the justice on June 27.

anxiety which the child does not know how to handle. She expressed the belief that there is no such thing as a bad parent, and added parents may be sick or misguided or that they do not know how to handle problems of the child.

Must Be Consistent

Dr. Sportsman also emphasized that a happy child is never cruel and that the most important factor in handling a child is to be consistent. Being strict in handling problems of a child is not so important as consistency in the treatment of a child, the speaker said.

Spoiling a child often comes from inconsistent management, she said. A spoiled child is the result of a bribery between incapable parents.

The speaker also emphasized that problems of emotional disturbances can sometimes be helped by the person talking over problems with an understanding, disciplined person.

Howard St. John appeared for defendant and adjourned the case to June 15 at 2 p. m. The act allegedly took place July 28, 1960.

George Federal, charged with driving while intoxicated as a second offender, was represented by Seymour Meadow of Catskill. He asked for a copy of grand jury minutes and the case was put over the term. Federal is charged with the act in Town of Saugerties on March 11, 1961.

Frederick Vaughn, 22, Box 34, Saugerties, was arraigned on a charge of burglary, unlawful entry and grand larceny for the alleged entrance to the Davenport Feed premises, High Falls, on June 18, 1960. Louis DiDonna appeared for defendant and a plea of innocent was entered. The case was set down for June 7, at 11 a. m.

Lawrence Elrich Black, charged with burglary, unlawful entry and petit larceny for entrance to the Alfonso Favata premises on February 26, 1961, was arraigned and the case moved over to June 7, at 11 a. m. when his counsel, S. James Matthews, was unable to be in court.

Elizabeth Brown, charged with third degree assault, was arraigned and the case moved over to June 7 at 11 a. m. Joseph Avis appears for defendant.

Franklin DeLeon Staples, who on December 7, 1960, was accused of fraudulently obtaining property for charitable purposes, entered a plea of innocent. S. Greenblatt appeared for Staples who allegedly solicited funds as representing the Mid-Hudson Area Migrant Committee. The case was adjourned to June 15 at 2 p. m. and bail was continued.

Court recessed until 11 a. m. Wednesday and jurors were excused until that time.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — A patchwork of small plus and minus signs left the stock market in an irregular pattern early this afternoon. If there was any trend either way, it was upward.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .30 at 252.40, just below its record closing high achieved last month. Industrials were up .20, rails up .30 and utilities up .20.

Steels were lower.

Trading was moderately active.

Wide movers were few and far between, although Woolworth moved up another 3⅛ and Standard Oil of California rose 1⅜.

Chemicals were strong, with Air Reduction up 1¼ and other leading issues fractionally higher. Rubbers also moved up small amounts, but other industry groups were pretty well scrambled.

One-eighth changes up and down were the rule among motors.

Seek Stone Throwers

City police are patroling at intervals along Rondout Creek in the immediate vicinity of Island Dock in an effort to prevent boys from throwing stones that have caused some damage to boats. A spokesman for the Island Dock Lumber Co. Inc., termed the condition as a nuisance, and said boats are not moored within throwing distance of the Rondout Bridge. Parents are urged to advise their children not to throw stones at boats and to keep off the piles of block to avoid possible personal injury or damage to property.

Carpenters Still

"comparable increases were offered the District Council, but were refused."

"We feel the public should know the extent of the demands made by the carpenter and the potential effect of these demands on tax rates as a result of increased public building costs."

Statement Made

The statement of the contractors, which is denied by Union officials, continues:

"The carpenters have been, and are now, demanding increases in wages and fringe benefits amounting to at least $1.13 per hour. Current carpenter wages and fringe benefits total $4.32."

Gtorge E. Yerry Jr., president and agent of the Council said the contractors have offered, "a 5c an hour increase this year and to negotiate elimination of travel expense and shape-up pay."

Yerry stated today that the Council had offered numerous suggested remedies to the situation under certain circumstances. Among the suggestions is a one year contract with rotation of work for all carpenters and a wage agreement under two, three and four year periods.

Yerry Charges Confusion

The statement that the carpenter demands are for at least $1.13 an hour, Yerry said, without stressing the time element was adding to the confusion being created by the contractors. Although no definite statement as to what offers have been made, Yerry indicated there has been some discussion with contractors on a basis of hourly increase coupled with length of the new contract and increases in hourly wages at certain times during the contract period.

Today Yerry made arrangements with union officials in New York City to supply work in New York for any carpenter from the Hudson Valley District Council area who desires to work in New York City.

Carpenters employed on the West Delaware water project where New York City is creating a new reservoir, are not affected by the strike since they are now working a new thr e year agreement. Highway construction carpenters are also continuing work under a new contract.

Kraus Homestead Fire Accidental, Is Being Razed

Fire at the former Kraus homestead, which is being demolished for a new shopping center on Albany avenue extension, was of an accidental nature investigation disclosed. It is believed sparks from burning refuse near the house Monday afternoon set fire to the brick structure which was being razed.

Ulster Hose No. 5, responded and found a lively fire in progress, fanned by high winds. Before the blaze was extinguished practically the entire roof was burned away and heavy hand hewn floor and roof timbers, which the contractor planned to sell were practically ruined.

Prior to the fire, windows had been removed and much of the interior had been salvaged, leaving only the heavy hand hewn floor and roof timbers standing inside the brick shell.

Medical Electronics Has Good Potentials

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "What do you think of the medical electronics industry? I am interested in this field. Would you name a stock?" H.B.

A) You are interested in a growing and active field. I regard the medical electronics industry as having very big potentials. The demand for medical treatment has risen rapidly since World War II, Population increases, insurance plans and research breakthroughs have all contributed, and this uptrend should continue. Hospital officials say that the rate of expansion will have to be doubled to meet 1975 requirements. And the experts go on to say that these projected needs will result in a doubling of volume in new-type electronic instruments over each of the next ten years.

You will find that many larger, well established companies are interested in medical electronics. From an investment viewpoint, though, the best gains will probably be made by specialized firms. I particularly like Sanborn Co. (OTC) as a good growth issue. This company will probably be merged into Hewitt-Packard (NYSE). By buying Sanborn, you will have an interest in medical electronics, which will be broadened, if the merger goes through, into a wider field of electronic instrumentation.

A list of other companies having an interest in medical electronics includes Beckman Instruments (NYSE), Cenco Instruments (ASE), Bell & Howell (NYSE), Gulton Industries (ASE), P. R. Mallory (NYSE), Tracerlab (OTC), and Minneapolis-Honeywell (NYSE).

Q—"I hold 50 shares of Gillette which were bought a year ago. I have a profit. Is there a chance of a stock split? Should I continue to hold? J.G.

A) Gillette (NYSE) is prominent in the manufacture and merchandising of shaving needs and other toiletries—Consumer items from which steady growth is expected. Aggressive promotion of new items will continue and acquisition of other lines is quite possible. The stock displays a very strong pattern of growth on my chart and is a prime candidate for a split. My advice is to hold your Gillette for further gains.

No Single Rule For Trujillo Jr. Rubirosa Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Rafael Trujillo Jr. was reported today to have no ambitions whatsoever toward continuing the political dynasty of his assassinated father in the Dominican Republic.

The report came from Porfirio Rubirosa, Dominicar playboy-diplomat, in an interview by the New York Journal-American. Rubirosa arrived Monday on what he termed an unofficial mission, not otherwise defined.

Rubirosa denied that there had been any mass arrests or reign of terror in the island republic after the dictator's assassination.

Rubirosa was asked who was boss in his country now.

"We have no single boss today. The generalissimo is dead, and no man has succeeded him, and no one person intends to succeed him," he said.

"President Balaguer heads our government, and Gen. Trujillo commands the army, which supports the government."

Says All Members Were Informed of Deal in Tractors

WASHINGTON (AP)—An aide says Milton Eisenhower was fully informed about other members of the Tractors-for-Freedom Committee before agreeing to help in the drive to ransom 1,200 Cuban rebel prisoners.

The statement by Eisenhower aide Keith Spalding Sunday came in response to Republican charges Eisenhower was enlisted by President Kennedy without telling him who other members of the committee would be.

His brother, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is reported by associates to oppose the exchange of 500 tractors for the prisoners captured when an invasion attempt was crushed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The former president has made no public statement on the matter.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers Union president.

Richard N. Goodwin, assistant special counsel to Kennedy, also said the President made it clear that Eisenhower would be asked to work with Mrs. Roosevelt and Reuther in the fund-raising drive.

Spalding declined to comment on reports the former president was not pleased with his brother's participation. Milton Eisenhower was unavailable for comment.

KENANSVILLE, N. C. (AP) —An electric power company reported a 5-foot short circuit knocked out electric service to 2,200 homes. The 5-footer was a black snake that crawled into a power company substation and disrupted service. The snake was electrocuted.

Nation Has More Than 400 Centers With Poisoning Data

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — There are now more than 400 centers in the United States that can give a telephoning doctor fast, life-saving information in cases of accidental poisoning, it was reported today.

These so-called "poison centers" —usually just a reference library, a few staff members and a telephone — are manned round-the-clock and keep a file on poisons in all commercial products, said Dr. Roger P. Smith of Dartmouth Medical School.

He told the 57th annual New York State Public Health Association meeting that the centers shoulder an increasingly important role, as shown by a survey indicating that half of all accidents handled by pediatricians involve accidental poisoning.

Dr. Smith said poison was the fourth-ranked cause of death in children from one to four years old and added that these cases alone amount to about 5 percent of all fatal accidents.

The "poison centers," begun in Chicago eight years ago, are usually maintained by public health officials, hospitals, and medical schools.

Sol F. Lifson, public relations directors for the National Tuberculosis Association, told the conference that public health agencies are dependent today more than ever on other public agencies because of the increasingly complex health problems they face.

He cited air and water pollution, radiation hazards, and the mounting number of older people.

Dr. Herman Hilleboe, New York State health commissioner, told an opening session of the four-day meeting Monday that state and local government must provide plans flexible enough to make "medical care available to all who need it, at a price people can afford and without dislocating the economic stability of families."

Dr. John M. Galbraith, president of the State Medical Society, urged more ties between health agencies and the medical society in projects on air pollution, alcoholism, youth physical fitness, health education, and post-graduate medical schooling for doctors.

Levitt Favored For Governor by Columbia Group

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Comptroller Arthur Levitt had the backing of one county committee but he had no reply today on its support for the 1962 Democratic gubernatorial election.

The Columbia County Democratic Committee, at a dinner Monday night, formally pledged its support to Levitt for the party's nomination next year.

Levitt, principal speaker at the dinner, made no public reply.

County Chairman Charles Alonge claimed Columbia was the first county in the state to declare for a candidate.

Levitt has remained consistently noncommittal on his plans in the 1962 election other than to say that he will be a candidate for statewide office.

The dinner program was curtailed after the publicity chairman for the county committee collapsed and died.

Samuel Berman, 59, a furniture dealer in Hudson, was stricken as he sat down at his table after being introduced to the dinner. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Columbia Memorial Hospital.

Others frequently mentioned as possible candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination include Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City and Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady. Neither has yet indicated he was seeking the nomination.

"Last week, I erroneously reported to The Freeman that points in the Western division of the Woodstock Riding Club's Dollar Championship series stood: Jerry Ellis, first with 11 points, and Dawn Countryman, second with 8 points. Actually, Mrs. Ellis and Miss Countryman are tied for the lead with 8 points each. — DONALD M. TWINE."

Demonstration Unit Sets Final Meeting

The Woodstock Home Demonstration Unit will meet at the Methodist Church hall on Tuesday, June 13, at 1 p. m.

Members are requested to bring sandwiches or picnic lunch. Dessert and coffee will be furnished by the executive board. This will be the closing meeting for the season, so there will be no guest speaker.

WOODSTOCK

PB-QA

Following is another series of questions and answers pertaining to planning and zoning in the Town of Woodstock:

Q. How much should an individual contribute to the Growth Plan?

A. Give according to what you can afford and according to your feelings about the importance and urgency of a Growth Plan for Woodstock. If your budget is small, don't hesitate to give only a very small amount.

Contributions received from commercial enterprises range from $500 to $5 and those received from individuals from $300 to $2. On June 1, the average pledge (for 3 yearly installments) was $51. As of June 1, pledges received totaled $7,512.

Q. Does a Growth Plan mean zoning?

A. No, strictly speaking, it does not. The town can have a Growth Plan without also having a Zoning Ordinance. The Growth Plan, however, is not truly enforceable other than by means of a zoning ordinance, to which the town law has specifically assigned the power to implement a Growth Plan.

Although a Growth Plan does not mean zoning, it is highly desirable that a Growth Plan be followed by a zoning ordinance. But they are two separate things. Few people will object to the making of a Growth Plan and particularly so if its costs are not a tax burden (as in Woodstock where it will be financed by voluntary contributions). The subsequent zoning ordinance, however, means regulations and people are only likely to accept such regulations if they are first convinced of the merits of the Growth Plan. The Planning Board therefore believes that the citizens of Woodstock should first be allowed to have a good look at such a plan for Woodstock (and participate in its development) and only thereafter decide as to whether they wish to accept the necessary zoning regulations to implement it.

Stiff Penalties Due for Bogus Air Bomb Calls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a bill clarifying and stiffening penalties for false information about bombs on airplanes.

The bill sent to the Senate Monday was requested by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy who says too many airplane bomb hoaxers have been acquitted by juries when they said they were just playing a practical joke.

The attorney general's bill specifically provides punishment for practical jokers—those who give false bomb information knowing it to be false. Maximum penalty would be a $1,000 fine or a year in prison.

Another section would provide a tougher penalty for anyone who gives false bomb information maliciously "or with reckless disregard for the safety of human life." The penalty would be a $5,000 fine or five years in prison.

Sarah Churchill Fined

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—Sarah Churchill, actress daughter of Sir Winston Churchill, was fined two pounds—$5.60—Monday for being drunk and disorderly in a Brighton pub.

It was her eighth appearance on such charges in two years. She pleaded guilty and told the magistrate: "I have nothing to say except that I regret it."

May Car Sales Best of Year

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's auto dealers sold more new cars in May than in any previous month this year. The daily selling rate also was the highest of 1961.

The five automakers reported Monday that May sales totaled 537,825 cars with a daily sales rate of 20,686.

Last month's upturn failed to match the pace of May 1960 when sales totaled 566,650 and the daily rate was 22,665.

Sales had been lagging nearly 100,000 units per month below 1960, but the gap was cut to less than 30,000 in May.

Admits Pushing Girl Into River In Trial Record

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) —A youth's confession that he pushed his teen-age girl friend into the Hudson River has been admitted as evidence at his trial.

The statement by David Amesse, 20, was taken by Dutchess County Dist. Atty. Raymond Baratta on Dec. 21, the night Rachel Perry, 18, drowned in the river.

The statement, read Monday in county court, said:

"She had her hands on the rail, all set to go together. I chickened out and pushed her. I heard her hit the abutment and splash in the water.

Amesse is on trial on charges of second-degree murder in the death and first-degree manslaughter because of a suicide pact with the girl.

Escape Costs Him $50

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) —A pair of workhouse overalls cost a prisoner a $50 fine in city court.

Officers said Joel Clark Hill, 22, charged with petit larceny, was wearing the overalls when he escaped recently. He was recaptured, they said Monday, but the overalls were not recovered.

$6 Million Loss

2 Plants, Ten Dwellings Lost In Mass. Blaze

AYER, Mass. (AP)—Town officials and businessmen met today to assess the future in the wake of a devastating fire which destroyed two industrial plants and 10 dwellings with an unofficial loss estimated at $6 million.

In smoldering ruins after Monday night's fire were the town's largest employer, Hartnett Tanning Co., and the International Purchasing Co., a rope-making firm, along with the dwellings of some 40 persons.

The disastrous fire raged along a quarter-mile front, devouring all buildings in its path. A 20-mile-an-hour wind whipped the flames which firefighters battled for more than four hours.

Heavy smoke felled 25 persons. Another 10 persons suffered minor injuries.

Loss of the tannery was a particularly hard blow to this central Massachusetts town of 15,000. The plant, which employs about 400, is the town's main industry and has distributed over $2 million in bonuses annually.

Load in Washer Causes Smoke, Kerosene Burns

Firemen from Engine Company 2 and Truck 2, Wiltwyck fire station, were dispatched to 65 Amsterdam Avenue at 7:44 a. m. today after a resident reported she detected odors of smoke in the cellar.

Firemen in charge of Deputy Chief Julius L. Buchholtz traced the source of smoke to an automatic washer, which was overloaded. The washer was disconnected. The house is owned and occupied by Alfred Rose.

At 11:15 p. m. Sunday Engines 1 and 2, Trucks 1 and 2 and the Salvage truck were dispatched to 277 Clinton Avenue where kerosene ignited on the hot water heater in the basement and caused smoke.

An exhaust fan was used to clear smoke from the building and the burning kerosene was extinguished with C02. Firemen said the first floor is occupied by the owner of the rooming house, Leonard M. Dessler, who was repairing a leak when the fire started.

Ating Fire Chief George D. Matthews and Deputy Chief Edwin Murphy were in charge of firemen.

AFL-CIO Presents 47 Films for Use In State Schools

ALBANY — An initial five-film unit of the motion picture series, "Americans At Work," produced by the AFL-CIO and showing men and women on the job making the products and providing the services of America, was presented today to the New York State Department of Education.

The presentation was made here on behalf of labor by Harold J. Garno, secretary-treasurer of the New York State AFL-CIO. Dr. Walter Crewson, associate commissioner for elementary and secondary education, accepted the gift in the absence of Dr. James E. Allen, commissioner of education.

A luncheon attended by the two officials, along with assistant commissioners Edwin Van Kleek, Warren Knox and Joseph R. Strobel and representatives of guidance, vocational and secondary advisory staffs, preceded the presentation, held in the office of Dr. Crewson.

Garno expressed the hope that the films, along with the other 42 selected units of the set being shipped directly from Washington, will prove of value to education in New York State.

"Each of these films gives a brief picture of one of the many skills for which our young people in the schools may prepare themselves and emphasizes that continued cooperation between employers and employes makes possible our American standards of pay and working conditions," he said.

Burns Are Fatal

AMSTERDAM, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Enola Lee, 87, who was burned April 21 while tending a grass fire near her home in Broadalbin, died Monday in St. Mary's Hospital here.

Sit-in Becomes 'Sleep-Through'

NEW YORK (AP)—Four students turned a "sit-in" into a "sleep-through" Monday night at the offices of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters, Inc., where they vowed to remain until Paramount theaters in Austin, Tex., are desegregated.

The four began the sit-in at 2 p.m. Monday as a climax to picketing of the ABC-TV Center Building by 10 Austin students. They slept through the night while two others marched outside the building.

ABC-Paramount issued a statement saying its theaters are not centrally controlled and that desegregation "is a matter to be resolved by the responsible elements in each community."

It is illegal to use live fish as bait in any lake or stream in Utah.

Esopus Resident Pleads Innocent To Drunk Driving

Accused of driving an automobile while intoxicated after a collision on Ten Broeck Avenue Monday at 4:20 p. m., David MacFarland, 43, of Parker Avenue, Esopus, was paroled by City Judge Aaron E. Klein.

MacFarland pleaded innocent today and received an adjournment until Tuesday, June 13, to obtain counsel.

According to Patrolmen Lewis Keator and Raymond Wells, MacFarland's car was involved in a collision with a vehicle operated by Mildred Herwig, of 33 Manor Place. No one was injured, according to police, who said the defendant refused to submit to a chemical test following his arrest.

First motion picture on the west coast was produced by Charles French, an Ohioan, and antedated Cecil B. DeMille by five years.

EUGENE LaPLANTE

Popular Art Teacher Accepts Another Post; Designs New K of C Building in Saugerties

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

Eugene LaPlante, director of art for the Saugerties Central School System, submitted his letter of resignation to the Saugerties Board of Education today in order to accept another position in his field at a substantial increase in salary and advancement in departmental responsibilities. Mr. LaPlante, who had signed a new contract with the Saugerties School System in May, told the Freeman he has accepted a position in California and that his resignation will be effective the end of this school year.

Details of Mr. LaPlante's new post will be released at a later date by the California school.

In a statement to The Freeman, Mr. LaPlante said, "We will certainly miss our many friends and students in the area. However, in deference to my family, I feel it is my obligation to accept a better position when the opportunity presents itself. My new post will also enable me to work toward my master's degree."

Makes Art Popular

In the time that Mr. LaPlante has been with the Saugerties School System, he has successfully made the art program a popular one. He has encouraged seniors to study art on the college level and many of them return each year to see the improvements at the school and discuss their work with their former teacher. This year, four graduates have chosen art as a major in college.

It was upon Mr. LaPlante's recommendation that a four-year art program, instead of three-year, was introduced into the Saugerties Central School System. Under his direction, students were screened for the course enabling the most talented to be trained. Another first, was the coordination of the elementary, junior and senior art programs under one department head. The art program today also includes a study on art history. The course makes use of projector and color slides. At the outset, only 12 slides were included in the files. Today, the slides number at least 500 enabling students to learn about the art treasures of the past and present.

Along with other programs Mr. LaPlante has introduced the following: originated Saugerties Sawyer Spectacular for the yearbook benefit; assisted with all art work for the Saugerties Yearbook and contributed original drawings for this year's publication. He has also assisted with the staging of the Snowball Dance and has aided the Physical Education Department with their various shows.

Artist, Singer

As an artist, Mr. LaPlante has gained recognition for his beautifully executed oils and water colors. His work has also included commissioned portraits.

His recently completed architectural plans for a new Knights of Columbus building in Saugerties were approved by the K of C headquarters in Connecticut and will be built in the near future. Mr. LaPlante has also designed a showroom and garage in Catskill and completed several swimming pool plans for A. C. Home Improvement Inc.

The St. Rose of Lima School in Littleton, N. H., is mainly Mr. LaPlante's design and he has volunteered architectural plans, services and ideas for many individual residences in the area. He has also found time to serve as an interior decorating consultant in the area.

An active member of the community, Mr. LaPlante has staged shows for the Saugerties Rotary Club, school operas, operettas, and variety shows, to name a few. As a vice president of St. Mary's Choir, Saugerties, he has staged the group's annual benefit shows and appeared as soloist.

A popular tenor, Mr. LaPlante was guest singer for the Ulster County premiere performance of "Via Crucis," a religious cantata composed by the Rt. Rev. Joseph D. Ostermann of Kingston. He has also appeared for the Kingston Newspaper Guild's Page One Ball and numerous benefits throughout the area.

Mr. LaPlante attended the Boston Conservatory of Music and was graduated from the University of New Hampshire with a degree in art education. He appeared with the Boston Opera Company in the lead role of Don Jose in "Carmen," also "Student Prince," and "My Fair Lady."

Active in summer stock with the Salisbury Players in New Hampshire, and Boston Players, Massachusetts, he has appeared in such plays as "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Importance of Being Ernest," and "Our Town."

His memberships have included the New York State Art Teachers Association.

Schimmerling, Pauker and Bornstein Give Lecture Recital on Israeli Music June 3

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

Those attending the lecture recital on Contemporary Music of Israel given Saturday, June 3 in the auditorium of Temple Emanuel, were treated to an unusually fine program.

Lecturing was Hanus A. Schimmerling of Woodstock, assisted by June Pauker, soprano and Peter Bornstein, violinist. The program was sponsored by the Jewish Community Center of Kingston.

Mr. Schimmerling divided his program into five categories — Sources and Development of Israeli Music; The Eastern European School; The Central European School; The Eastern Mediterranean School; and The Young Generation.

According to his precise and detailed presentation, the most prolific composers in the world today are to be found in the small state of Israel. Mr. Schimmerling carefully illustrated how these composers are not only contributing to the musical wealth of the world, but to the cultural uplift of their young country. Paul Ben-Haim, who represents the Eastern Mediterranean influence, seems to be Mr. Schimmerling's favorite.

In tracing the origin of Israeli music, how it developed, how it compares with other church music of today, and how other cultures influence the Israeli composer, Mr. Schimmerling also conveyed the message that the most interesting place today, as far as music is concerned, is Israel.

Musical illustrations of style were sung by Jane Pauker, soprano. Mrs. Pauker made a difficult task seem comparatively easy. Her strong, clear soprano voice was particularly suited for this type of presentation. Mrs. Pauker's voice has gained depth and range and she handled the vocal gymnastics of some of the most difficult passages with confidence of a seasoned professional. Although Mrs. Pauker was limited to the program material, her performance was very satisfying and she was received enthusiastically by her audience.

Mr. Schimmerling further enhanced his program with the appearance of another fine artist, Peter Bornstein, violinist. Particularly enjoyable was his interpretation of Jacobi's "King David's Lion."

Since it is not our intent to reproduce Mr. Schimmerling's lecture here, suffice it to say that it would be encouraging, if we are interested in the musical uplift of our own immediate area, to see more lectures of this type scheduled. Not only on the music of Israel, but other countries as well. Local interest in this type of format was evidenced recently by the good attendance at a series of Music Appreciation lectures given by Claude Monteaux, director of the Mid-Hudson Valley Philharmonic.

In brief, the works and backgrounds of the following composers were discussed by Mr. Schimmerling: Edel, Rappaport, Stutchevsky, as representative of the Eastern European influences; Sternberg, Salomon, Jacobi, Josef Tal, Central (German) European; Paul Ben-Haim, Oedoen Partos, Alexander Boskovich, Menahim Avidon and Marc Lavry, Eastern Mediterranean area; Haim Alexander, Herbert Brun; Starter; Miron Michrovsky, Yitzchak Sidi and Dev Seltzer.

Mrs. Kennedy Is Staying Behind To Visit Greece

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy stayed behind today while her husband flew home to report to the American people on his European tour.

Mrs. Kennedy is spending two more days in London with her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, and then taking private sightseeing trip to Greece.

America's beautiful young First Lady has captivated London just as she did Paris and Vienna.

In her last official appearance at Buckingham Palace Monday night she displayed still another new hairdo that drew a chorus of "oohs" and "ahhhs" from spectators outside. Her black hair was lifted high in front, nestled in slight waves across her ears and tucked into a swept-up bun enhanced with diamond clips and diamond-drop earrings.

Queen Elizabeth II gave what was described as a "good old English dinner" for the President and his wife under soft lighting in the palace's state dining room.

Kennedy was the first U.S. President to dine at the palace since Woodrow Wilson in 1918.

COULD ANYONE BE THAT GRASPING?

Q: Will you kindly settle this dispute before it grows out of proportion and ends in a family feud? "A" says it is an accepted fact, that a wedding guest is permitted to take the unused portion of any and all liquors home with him, after the reception. "B" feels that such action is a display of very bad manners. A guest can drink (and eat) all he wants at the reception but the leftovers are none of his concern. The remaining bottles belong to the host, who paid for them, the father of the bride. Who is right?

A: I cannot imagine where "A's" astounding misinformation comes from, and "B's" calling such behavior very bad manners is hardly strong enough criticism of it.

Hosts Have No Spare Room

Q: My husband's aunt and uncle are coming to visit us shortly. We live in a three-room apartment and have only one real bedroom. However, we do have a sofa in the living room that opens into a bed that is quite comfortable. Does courtesy exact that we give up our room to our guests, or may we stay where we are and let them sleep in the living room?

A: You are not expected to give up your bedroom, but you must warn them, when they ask if you can put them up, or when you invite them to visit you, that all you can offer them is a bed in your living room.

Making Room for Others to Pass

Q: I have a pet peeve which I wish you would write about in your column. Whenever I go to the movies, I get furious with people who remain in their seats and make it necessary for others to squeeze by them. Don't you think it is very discourteous of them not to stand to let people by?

A: I agree that if by turning their knees to one side, they cannot make enough room for you to pass easily, they should stand.

Resignation Is Read at Village Meeting Monday

At the Monday night meeting of the Saugerties Village board, the official resignation of Sgt. John J. Keeley Sr., from the police department was read and accepted with regret by Mayor George P. Holmes and the board members. The letter, addressed to Mayor Holmes, Police Commissioner George Terpening and the trustees, follows:

June 2, 1961

Gentlemen:

It is with deep regret that I must tender my resignation as a member of the Saugerties Police Department effective July 1, 1961. As you may have been aware of for some time, my health has not been too good. I am now at the point where I believe that my physical condition will prevent me from discharging my duty according to the standards required of a police officer.

I deem it a privilege to have been able to serve the people of Saugerties for the past 31 years. It has also been a great pleasure to have been associated with the other members of the police department and I have greatly enjoyed working with them

Sincerely
JOHN J. KEELEY SR.
Police Sergeant

Mayor Holmes requested that a letter be sent to Keeley, thanking him for his long years of service to the village and wishing him happy years in his retirement.

Sealed bids for the furnishing of fuel oil to the municipal building, the C. A. Lynch Fire Company meeting rooms, and the public library were opened and the Wham Oil Company of Kingston was awarded the contract as low bidder on a flat rate per year.

It was recommended by the board to send Donald Sullivan of the police department to the 9th annual training conference at St. Lawrence Institute for police officers July 16 through 21, sponsored by New York State Division for Youth.

Mayor Holmes informed the board members that Frank Haas, field representative of the Urban Renewal Administration, and others from the planning department of that office, would be in the village June 13 to meet with members of the board and Chamber of Commerce to look over specific areas to determine if the plan would be available to the village.

Lunch will be served from noon to 1 p. m. after which conferences will be held and a question and answer period.

Private confessions and private conferences will be held between 3 and 4 p. m. Holy Hour will be 4-5 p. m.

We The Women

Woman Who's Widowed Is Apt to Lose Friends, Too

Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Since a large percentage of today's wives someday will be widows, the indifference of women who still have husbands to women who have lost theirs is hard to understand.

It exists just the same. This column continually receives letters from widows that express pretty much the puzzled disillusionment in the following letter:

"My husband died two years ago. While he was alive we had a close circle of friends, couples we thoroughly enjoyed and entertained from time to time.

"I can truthfully say that we entertained more often than most because we both enjoyed being with old friends and making new ones. We also tried to be especially thoughtful about inviting newcomers to our home.

"I thought we had so many friends and such a well-established place in our community that I would not feel left out of the town's social life when I was left alone.

"But, though our friends rallied around me wonderfully at the time of my husband's death —all but two couples have drifted away in just two years.

"I still am invited to strictly 'female' get-togethers, teas and luncheons, and such. But I'm no longer included in evening parties where there are both men and women.

"I realize that I am now only half of a couple—but should that make such a difference to friends of long standing? I wouldn't be writing this letter if this were just my problem. But I think what has happened to me happens to most widows —and, somehow it seems unnecessarily unkind. I should have said unnecessarily thoughtless, for I am sure that none of the couples who used to be such close friends actually mean to be unkind."

Beaten by Negroes

Youth Is Back After Race Riot In Dixie Town

TRINITY, N.C. (AP)—Robert Paris, 20, employe of a grill, who had been missing all night after a race riot, walked into his home today. He had welts on his back and arms from what he said was a beating by Negroes wielding leather belts.

Parris told officers he had fled from a fight Monday night involving about 40 Negroes and a dozen whites and hid under a house. He said he lost consciousness and did not revive until daylight.

Monday morning, Parris said, three negro youths came into the grill, got drinks and started out. A group of white youths said something to the Negroes.

John McPherson, owner of the grill, told the Negroes to leave before trouble started and as they told him: "I'll be seeing you tonight."

An intensive search for Parris had been made after the fight.

There were no arrests.

Trinity is a community of about 1,000 persons with whites outnumbering Negroes. It is in central North Carolina.

Six Children Perish As Their Home Burns

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Six children perished in a fire which destroyed their home Monday night. Another child was critically burned.

The mother, Jesse Mae Forest, was treated for shock. She rushed from the blazing house barefooted and in her nightgown. A neighbor, Jimmy Davis, and another man, Van Adams, rescued one child, Michael Forest, 9, who was rushed to a hospital with burns over 60 per cent of his body.

The flames blocked further rescue work. The house was destroyed.

The dead children ranged in age from 1 to 9. They were Aaron 10, Don 7, Ema Mae 6, Kayseen 5, Robbis 1, and Jennett 2.

The Forests are Negroes.

Twenty-two parents and 37 high school students were in attendance. Refreshments were served by the Hi-Y girls, aided by the YMCA Parent's Club.

Officers installed were:

Adlai Pleased, Continues Tour

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson heads for Argentina today after a 48-hour visit to Venezuela's capital, first stop on his presidential mission to Latin America.

Although no agreements were sought on concrete problems, Stevenson made known he was pleased with the results.

For one thing, he was reported reassured by President Romulo Betancourt's continued firm stand against dictatorships in Latin America, of both the left and right complexion.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations also was gratified by the warm personal reception he received in the city which displayed violently anti-U.S. feelings to Vice President Richard M. Nixon three years ago.

Stevenson will see Argentine President Arturo Frondizi Wednesday. No special difficulties are anticipated in Argentina since relations between the United States and the Frondizi government are extremely cordial.

Efforts to Force Communist Party to Register Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday upheld the government's long effort to compel the Communist party to register as an arm of the Soviet Union.

Such registration was ordered under the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950, but the case has been tied up for almost 10 years in the courts. The high tribunal heard arguments on two separate occasions, totalng six hours of legal debate, before reaching today's decision.

Justice Frankfurter delivered today's 5-4 ruling.

Must Reveal Members

Under the registration law the party can be compelled to divulge its membership lists and finances and label its literature as Communist propaganda.

Justice Frankfurter's majority opinion ran 112 printed pages.

He concluded with this sentence: "The Constitution does not prohibit the requirement that the Communist party register with the attorney general as a Communist-action organization."

Chief Justice Warren and Justices Douglas and Black wrote dissenting opinions. Justice Brennan wrote a separate opinion dissenting in part.

Warren Gives Reasons

Warren's dissent, covering 22 printed pages, gave reasons why he felt the law constitutes a violation of the Constitution's 5th amendment ban against self incrimination.

Black said in his dissent that he would "leave the Communists free to advocate their beliefs in proletarian dictatorship publicly and openly among the people of this country with full confidence that the people will remain loyal to any democratic government truly dedicated to freedom and justice—the kind of government which some of us still think of as being 'the last best hope of earth'."

Douglas' dissenting opinion asserted that "our Constitution protects all minorities, no matter how despised they are."

Rocky-Goldwater (Or Vice Versa,) Possible: Miller

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman William E. Miller says a Goldwater-Rockefeller or a Rockefeller-Goldwater ticket is possible in 1964.

But, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., doesn't think it would be a good idea for him or any other conservative to have a second spot on a ticket headed by a liberal.

And, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said a ticket combining Goldwater with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York would be an undesirable poltical hybrid. Javits, like Rockefeller, is considered at home in the party's liberal wing.

Miller foresaw a possible Rockefeller - Goldwater combination when questioned by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a television program taped for New York stations.

Not entirely lost in the discussion was the 1960 GOP presidential candidate, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Miller said if Nixon runs for governor of California in 1962 and wins he presumably would be a contender for a second presidential nomination. Another possible aspirant, Miller said, is Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Most famous of the hundreds retiring from teaching this month is Dr. Frank Baxter, who refused to pull a tea cozy over his bald head and fade away like Mr. Chips.

The only resemblance between Dr. Baxter and Mr Chips is that they were both good teachers. But Dr. Baxter is no ivy-covered pedant. A man of infinite jest like Yorick, he has carried his zest for knowledge across the land through the medium of television.

Lectures Win Awards

For 31 years, Dr. Baxter's English classes have been one of the notable assets of the University of Southern California. In 1953, he enlarged his classroom for "Shakespeare on TV," a pioneering venture for the new medium. Since then, his TV lectures have garnered a harvest of awards, including seven Emmies.

Now 65, he is retiring from USC. All that remains of his academic career is correcting a set of final papers.

"No, I'm not sorry to be quitting," he said. "After all, I've been at this teaching game for 41 years. That's a long time. I'll be happy not to have to get up early and fight the freeway traffic from South Pasadena three times a week. I won't miss correcting papers; undergraduate prose is not the most uplifting in the world.

"Oh, I'll miss certain things. Mainly it's the students. All of us in the teaching profession are vampires feeding on the blood of the young."

His future schedule sounds athletic. He has lined up lectures all over the country, starting this summer in Hawaii. He will start a 15-minute radio series on subjects of his choosing for Westinghouse, which has been seeking him for two years. He will tape introductions for "An Age of Kings," the British-made series of Shakespeare's chronicles which will appear on TV throughout the nation. He may continue narrating the Bell Telephone science hours.

"I feel fit," he commented on the heavy schedule. "In some ways I feel like a man of 20, though the legs tell me differently."

Island Dock Lumber to Hold Home, Urban Festival 2 Days

Island Dock Lumber, Inc., will hold a spectacular "Home and Urban Festival" at the Island Dock, Abeel Street, on Saturday and Sunday.

Mayor Radel will officiate at the initial opening at 1 p. m. on Saturday, and Mrs. New York State will be official hostess at the event both days. The two-day festival will be open to the public between 1 and 6 p. m.

Better ways of living through use of the latest materials and home products will be demonstrated. Among the nationally known manufacturers displaying products will be Stylon Ceramic Tile, Johns-Manville, Universal Rundle bath fixtures and General Motors Delco heating, both conventional and the latest concepts in electric heat.

To Explain Building

The Home Modernization Center at Island Dock will have its grand opening on those days. Literature on all phases of the building field will be distributed and the new 1961 Ideal Homes will be introduced.

Civic organizations and the major utility companies will participate in the festival. Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company and the New York Telephone Company will be there. Civil Defense will hold instructions at the Island Dock model bomb shelter and the Kingston YMCA, under direction of Lou Schaffer, will hold a trampoline demonstration.

To Explain Mortgages

Movies on homes and modernization will be shown and a financing institution will be on hand to explain mortgaging and special mortgaging terms provided under the government for 40-year terms.

Novel entertainment will be provided for both adults and children. The Trail Sweepers, local ski club, will perform a water skiing exhibition. There will be free boat rides from the marina and there will be free refreshments and free pony rides for the children. Prizes will be awarded every 15 minutes throughout both days.

All who are interested in information concerning financing, or any phase of the home building field are urged to attend. Admission of course is free and all children must be accompanied by an adult.

Why We Say--

CUNNING OR SLY: It was not always a compliment for a girl to be called pretty. The word is derived from the Old English "praetig" which meant cunning or sly. After centuries it changed to crafty, then ingenious and finally to its present meaning.

Juliette Low formed the first Girl Scout troop with 12 members at Savannah, Ga., in 1912.

Cleared in '59 Slaying

DETROIT (AP)—Gordon Watson was found innocent today of first-degree murder and conspiracy to murder in the 1959 slaying of wealthy auto dealer, Parvin (Bill) Lassiter.

The state accused Watson, 46, of planning the slaying out of "lust and greed" with Lassiter's wife, Nelle, 38. It contended they wanted to carry on an illicit love affair and gain his estate. Both denied it.

Nothing New Expected But No Bad News Either

Tonight's TV Talk Opportune Time for President Kennedy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—As President Kennedy's White House term lengthened, this question repeatedly was being asked around Washington: When is he going to make his first nationwide TV talk?

He already had used three of the four main ways open to a president for getting his ideas across to the people: televised news conferences, messages to Congress and television speeches at special events.

In Good Position Now

It was assumed that Kennedy, acutely aware of a president's need for broad public support, would make a TV broadcast sooner or later.

It also was assumed that, because Kennedy is an extremely shrewd political tactician, he would make the broadcast when he was in the best position for it.

He's in a very good position for it tonight, perhaps better than at any time since he became president.

He'll be fresh back from his meetings with President Charles de Gaulle, Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The country is still interested enough to want to know what good, if any, came from the conferences.

Not on Defensive

So, while attempting to answer this, Kennedy also can get his own foreign policy ideas across on the big issues.

He can do this now without being on the defensive—as he would have been, for instance, if he took to TV to explain his advance approval of the disastrous Cuban invasion—or without irritating any particular part of the American society.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, in his first term, took to TV earlier than Kennedy. He made a nationwide TV-radio broadcast on May 19, 1953, to explain why people couldn't expect an income tax cut right away.

This must have carried some element of disappointment for a lot of people at the time. So Eisenhower's talk, in a sense, was an effort to persuade the public to grin and bear it.

No Disappointments

There can hardly be much disappointment in Kennedy's talk tonight—about his conferences abroad, particularly with De Gaulle and Khrushchev—since no one expected any big solutions or little ones, either.

Kennedy isn't expected to say anything new tonight on foreign policy. Since taking office his policy—standing stiff against the Russians—has been essentially the same as that of Presidents Eisenhower and Truman.

So, in talking to a nation which knows the broad outline of American policy and supports it, Kennedy will be asking for continuance of the same support for the same policy given his predecessors.

Kennedy actually is repeating what Eisenhower did after his first meeting with Khrushchev in July 1955. He came right back and made a TV report to the nation.

JFK Benefits

But he made a mistake which Kennedy, benefiting by his predecessor's experience, isn't likely to repeat. Eisenhower raised hopes that things might be better as a result of the meeting.

He said there was a realization that negotiations could now be conducted without "propaganda and threat and invective." Within a few months American-Russian relations went down hill fast.

Eisenhower must have regretted his optimism five years later when Khrushchev, who had been rattling his rockets for some time, broke up the second summit with propaganda and invective because of the U. S. spyplane shot down over Russia.

Liquor Dealers Sponsor Course On Distillation

The Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association, Inc. will sponsor a course dealing with the distilling of alcohol beverages at the monthly meeting scheduled June 13 in the Alpine restaurant at DeWitt Lake at 7:30 p. m.

Representatives of Hiram Walkers Distillers and Colony Liquor Distributors, Inc. will conduct the program, it was announced today by Michael (Sparky) Greco, president of the association.

The course will cover all phases of distilling, including grain handling, fermentation, distillation, aging and rectifying (preparation of the aged product for bottling), Greco said.

The discussion will be conducted by a three-member panel who will answer questions. The program also will include distilling displays, grain samples, etc.

The special meeting provides a "first hand opportunity for those engaged in the industry to derive a broader understanding on the ordering and stocking of merchandise, and the making and serving of alcoholic beverages," Greco said, inviting all licensees, bartenders and those associated with the industry to attend the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Dutch Festival Slated July 1-8 In Pennsy Town

The little village of Kutztown, Pa., tucked away in the rolling farm country of that neighbor state, will spring into national prominence with the annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival July 1-8.

Although called a "Dutch" festival, however, the picturesque little village was actually settled by German immigrants, according to Harry Rigby Jr., Kingston's noted historian and folklorist.

Rigby said that for several years he has wanted to attend the festival but has not yet succeeded, nor will he be able to make it this year.

He explained that the Kutztown settlers left Germany and settled in Pennsylvania about a century after the Dutch settled in this country. The true Dutch settlements can be found scattered sparsely through the eastern section—New Castle, Del., the Jersey shore, the city of Hartford, Conn., etc.

More tehan 125,000 persons are expected to journey to Kutztown for the 12th annual festival—the nation's largest folk festival. In past years visitors traveled from all over the United States and Canada to the fairgrounds of the small town on Route 222 between Reading and Allentown.

During this year's festival the folklore of the area will be keynoted, as usual.

Pioneer activities, many still practiced by the Hook-and-eye Amish and the Horse-and-buggy Mennonites, will be shown, including the use of a vertical horse power, the grinding of pomace in an early apple mill, whitewashing board fences with long handled brushes and squaring logs which become the pumpstocks of wooden pumps.

Featured will be the whole gamut of rural crafts which sustained the foremost farming region of the nation in the revolutionary and early 19th Century periods. Demonstrations include roof thatching, flax scutching, rag carpet weaving on mammoth old-time looms, lye making, millstone cutting, apple butter boiling and the wheelwright's craft.

Says High Cost Of Weapons Is Deterrent to War

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Dr. Hans A. Bethe, Cornell University physicist, maintains there is less chance of a third world war as long as the cost of nuclear weapons remains high.

Bethe, in a speech last night to the American Nuclear Society, said the more costly the weapons, the less available they are to small nations.

"It is in our interest to keep weapons as expensive as possible," he said. The United States, he continued, now has weapons to prevent an enemy from winning a war with a single nuclear attack.

Bethe cited weapons such as Minute Man missiles, submarines armed with Polaris missiles, and indestructible underground ICBM missile sites.

Imagination Firm Jailed for Checks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Tom Stephenson, 48, imaginative president of imaginary Imagination Plus Inc., has been sentenced to spend the next three years in federal prison.

Stephenson was sentenced Monday by Judge James T. Foley in Federal District Court on charges of transporting bogus checks across state lines. He pleaded guilty to the charges.

Stephenson was arrested April 10 in an Albany bank when he attempted to cash a check.

The FBI said Stephenson had come to Albany from Pennsylvania and had in his possession checks ranging from $12 to $15,000, all bearing the fictitious business name, "Imagination Plus Inc.", and listing Stephenson as president.

Named to Surrogate Post, Quits Bench

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Rollin A. Fancher, of Jamestown, who was elected County Judge and Surrogate of Chautauqua County, was appointed County Surrogate today.

Fancher will resign the combined post to accept the Surrogate's position. The Legislature this year created the separate offices of surrogate and county judge.

Gov. Rockefeller appointed Fancher to a term ending Dec. 31. He had been elected to the combined office for a six year term that began in 1957.

HST Plans Programs

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman announced Monday that he plans a series of 26 one-hour television programs dealing with historic events of the present age and the period when he was president.

"I will do the talking and I will be the show," he told a news conference. "I propose to illustrate and supplement my comments with films from many sources."

Accused Slayer Loses Move to Dismiss Charge

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Charles Ducharme, 20, accused killer of his former girl friend, has lost a bid to have a first-degree murder charge against him dismissed.

City Judge Irving Goldman turned down Monday an attorney's argument that the shooting occurred in Canada. Goldman ordered Ducharme held for grand jury action.

Ducharme, is accused of shooting Betty Ann Davison, 17, April 30 as she was returning home from a date with another youth.

The judge said Ducharme's attorney had not supplied evidence to support the motion for dismissal on the ground the killing occurred in Canada.

Ducharme, a West Chazy farmer, was captured May 4 after he had shot himself in the stomach.

More Freedom or More Trujillo

5-Nation Group to Leave For D.R. Check Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-nation special commission is expected to leave Thursday to determine whether the Dominican Republic is moving toward more freedom for its people or toward an even tighter dictatorship.

A seven-nation committee of the Organization of American States voted Monday to send the commission to investigate conditions in the Caribbean country following the assassination last week of dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The unanimous acceptance of a U.S. request for the investigation came after Dominican Foreign Minister Frofirio Herrera Baez said his country would welcome the special mission.

The decision marked the first victory in an inter-American agency for the administration of President Kennedy. The United States had strong support in the proposal from other American republics but the initiative clearly came from Washington.

The OAS last August at San Jose, Costa Rica, charged that the Trujillo government plotted an assassination attempt on President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela and voted that all American republics should break diplomatic relations with the Trujillo regime.

A special committee sent to the Dominican Republic last year to conduct an investigation was not permitted to travel freely and conduct its business.

OAS officials said it appeared probable the special five-nation commission would depart Thursday morning from New York. Its members are Panama, the United States, Argentina, Mexico and Uruguay.

High School Baseball Team Wins, 4-3, Against Middletown

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

It isn't official yet, but it seems quite probable that the elders of the DUSO League Council will reject the application of Our Lady of Lourdes (Poughkeepsie) for admittance to the DUSO League, when they meet in solemn conclave on June 14 at Walden.

According to scuttlebutt making the rounds, two formidable arguments are stacked against the new Poughkeepsie high school: (1) it can draw talent from anywhere in the area and (2) the DUSO moguls take a dim view of two schools in one city.

Both of these arguments appear plausible on the surface, but at closer range they are somewhat obtuse. The first argument is negated by the fact that Our Ladys now plays three DUSO members — Kingston, Port Jervis and Middletown — baseball and basketball.

For some strange reason, Sam Kalloch, the portly and highly successful Poughkeepsie High School mentor, has avoided any contact with his neighbors four blocks away. This must seem curious to many folks since Poughkeepsie hasn't booked a full 8-game football schedule since the Battle of the Bulge.

• Argument Is Weakened:

Let us quickly clear the picture. Lourdes has not yet adopted football for the simple reason the school is only three years old and will not have its fourth class until this September. Football will soon become a certainty and it should give Kalloch some measure of comfort to know that he can book a football game right in his own bailiwick.

If the DUSO moguls firmly believe argument I, then the current relationship with Kingston, Port Jervis and Middletown in basketball and baseball is highly clandestine and should be ended forthwith. Continued relations among the four schools in these two sports vitiates, we think, any plausible argument against Our Lady of the Lourdes' entry in the DUSO League.

The Dutchess County Scholastic League has previously rejected Our Lady's application for membership, presumably on the same grounds.

The DUSO athletic directors must also be concerned with the ever shrinking basketball schedule. Ellenville and Fallsburgh dropped out of the DUSO city section a year ago. Liberty and Monticello, those hardy Sullivan County basketball perennials, will give up the ghost after the end of the 1961-62 season, after 30 years of gallant competition.

Departure of these four schools leave only Middletown, Kingston, Newburgh, Port Jervis and Poughkeepsie, with the "village" schools available under the conference-type schedule. Four outside opponents must be on the schedule every year to complete the normal 18-game setup in basketball.

We think the situation dictates a bit of soul searching on the part of the DUSO Council. There must be stronger reasons than the above two to deny admittance to Our Lady.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

John E. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood E. Davis of Richmond Park, Kingston, was awarded freshman track numerals at Wesleyan University's recent spring sports banquet. Davis is a graduate of the Loomis School in Windsor, Conn. . . . Sylvia Wene, America's "Woman Bowler of the Year," put on a show that Millbrook fans will not forget for some time. Appearing at Washington Lanes in Millbrook, the former National All Star champion cracked a tremendous 787 series on games of 266, 243 and 278, the highest three games ever rolled by a woman bowler in mid-Hudson history. . . . The indestructible Billy Ostrom, who leads the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls into Dietz Stadium Saturday night collected four hits in two Interstate League games, three of them triples up the left center field alley. Billy, a southpaw swinger apparently hasn't lost his wrong-field power. . . . Poughkeepsie High School tennis team has won three straight DUSO titles and has a winning streak of 34 straight matches. . . . State University at New Paltz, working on a plus 20 skein, has been invited to the Colgate University tournament in mid-June and may also take part in the Hawkeye tourney in Des Moines, Iowa, during the latter part of June. . . . Proving that Coach Charlie Wolbers is a man who likes to get around. . . . Carl Cerniglia, of the Newburgh American Legion Rookies, who boomed a terrific home run against the Kingston Braves Sunday, was an All-DUSO outfielder while playing for Poughkeepsie High in 1959. He stands 6-5 and weighs about 225, impressive statistics for long ball hitting. The Braves' pitching staff in the NY-NJ League — Al Corwin, Bob Maines, Frank Horan and Larry De Vita — is of minor league quality. If pitching is 70 per cent of the battle, the Braves have only 30 per cent to go to win the1961 NY-NJ pennant.

Closes Season With 2nd Place In DUSO League

Surviving a seventh inning rally by the home side, the Kingston High School baseball team closed its season at Middletown yesterday with a 4-3 verdict and second place in the DUSO standings. However, the Middies made the contest close with a three run rally and Coach Al Gruner had to summon ace Bob Dunn to retire the last out and preserve a triumph for Jerry Howard.

The Moroon players had a record of 9-5 for the season and were 5-3 in the league, finishing three games behind Newburgh. Four of the wins came in the final fiver circuit contests.

The final standings:

	W	L
Newburgh	8	0
Kingston	5	3
Poughkeepsie	3	5
Middletown	2	6
Port Jervis	2	6

Howard was breezing on a two-hitter starting the seventh and got Ronnie Smith on a strike out to start the frame. After being touched for a hit, he got Dick Collins to pop up and it looked as if he were home free.

Bases Loaded Double

Then another safety and a walk clogged the sacks and pinchhitter Lou Modico rapped a double to score three runs. Coach Gruner then summoned Dunn from the bullpen and he forced Dom Roselli to rap to the box for the final out of the season.

Until that seventh inning rally, Howard was in complete control of the situation. He had perfect control and had the home side hitting the ball on the ground.

The locals had pecked away at loser Ken Decker. In the second frame, Richie Sickler singled, went to second on a balk and scored on a booming double by Gerry Hawkins.

Sophomore slugger Paul Natale homered along the right field line in the sixth inning to make the margin 2-0. It was his second of three hits.

Don Price relieved Decker in the seventh and he walked Hawkins to start matters. Gerry then stole second and scored as Vince Smedes reached base on an error. Natale delivered Smedes with a ringing hit.

That set the stage for the do-or-die Middletown rally in the seventh and it fell a run short.

Moore Is Ready For Any Style Against Rinaldi

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Archie Moore, the venerable king of the light heavyweights, announced today that he was ready to encounter any style Giulio Rinaldi employs in their title bout in New York Saturday night.

"Let's say," quipped Archie, who is 44 years old by his reckoning but 47 by his ma's, "that I will ad lib this one. Whatever Rinaldi does I expect to do something better."

Rinaldi, who decisioned Archie in Italy earlier in the year, has made no secret of his plans. He intends to push the Methusalah of the division, keep him off balance and stay away from his right.

"Hmmm," mused Archie, rubbing his goatee, "the last time we fought Giulio was not particularly aggressive and he didn't crowd much.

"But it really doesn't make any difference. I am completely prepared against such tactics. I am also prepared if Rinaldi tries to do something different."

There had been rumors that Archie would have trouble making the 175-pound limit. But he hopped on the scale and it showed 178½.

McCaig Birdies 18th To Win Seniors Title

Dr. Robert McCaig of Saugerties came to the 18th hole at The Twaalfskill Club needing a birdie-3 to win the 1961 Seniors championship.

The ninth hole at Twaalfskill, which becomes the 18th the second time around, of course, is substantial par-4 where birdies are not commonplace.

But these statistics failed to inhibit the doctor who calmly canned a 30-yard chip and run shot to edge George (Doc) Rusk by a single shot to cinch the title.

McCaig, a long time member of the perennial Saugerties foursome with Fabian L. Russell, Dr. Rodney Ball and Ernest Schirmer, finished with a net 64, with 78 net and 14 handicap.

Rusk posted 87-22-65 to finish a stroke ahead of Henry Hartley, 77-11-66, while Walton Fitzgerald shot 90-23-67 and Clarence Raichle had low gross of the day (73) and four handicap for 69 net.

Tribe Closing In on Tigers; Vern Law Halts Dodgers, 5-2

7th Straight Win Is 7-5 Over Nats; Yanks Sweep Pair

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians closed within one game of front-running Detroit in the American League race by beating Washington 7-5 for their seventh straight victory Monday night while the Chicago White Sox beat the Tigers 8-0.

Reliever Barry Latman won his fourth with four innings of two-hit, shutout relief for the Tribe, and broke a 5-5 tie with a triple.

New York swept a twi-night doubleheader from Minnesota 6-1 and 6-2, the Los Angeles Angels defeated Baltimore 3-0 on the six-hit pitching of Ron Moeller and Kansas City split a doubleheader at Boston, winning 10-6 after the Red Sox took the opener 6-2.

The Indians, after blowing 3-0 and 5-3 leads behind starter Johnny Antonelli and Bobby Locke, finally made it with two unearned runs in the seventh at Washington against losing reliever John Gabler (2-2). Latman's two-out triple triggered the rally and gave the bullpen three victories and three saves in the Tribe's seven-game streak.

First Shutout

Cleveland collected 15 hits—including a 4-for-4 show by the three pitchers—with Jimmy Piersall cracking a triple and three singles and Johnny Romano extended his hit streak through 20 games with a double.

Frank Baumann (4-4) allowed seven hits while pitching the first shutout by the White Sox staff and became the first left to go all the way against Detroit this season. He also had three hits and drove in three runs. Right-hander Phil Regan, a five-game winner for Detroit, lost his second in a row when the Sox scored twice in the second inning on two walks and singles by Jim Landis and Sherm Lollar.

The Yankees set AL home run records for 13 and 14 consecutive games while tagging the Twins with an 11-game losing string. A three-run, pinch homer by Johnny Blanchard did it in the seventh inning of the opener, and Mickey Mantle then regained a tie for the AL lead with his 15th, a two-run shot, in the eighth. That made it 27 home runs in 13 games for New York, and Tony Kubek made it 28 for 14 in the nightcap with a two-run homer in the seventh that gave the Yankee shortstop a 14-game hitting streak.

Coates, Sheldon Win

Jim Coates (6-2) won his fifth in a row, first as a starter, with relief by Luis Arroyo in the opener. Rookie Roland Sheldon (2-2) then pitched his first complete game with a six-hitter in the second game, clinching it with his first major league hit, a two-run single, in the fifth. Don Lee and Chuck Stobbs, both 0-2, were the losers.

Ted Kluszewski hammered a two-run homer in the first inning for the Angels off Hec Brown (5-2), who had won four in a row. It was Klu's sixth hit off Baltimore pitching this season—all home runs. Moeller, an ex-Bird, struck out nine—fanning Brooks Robinson and Jim Gentile with the bases loaded in the fifth, and whiffing Jerry Adair and pinch-hitter Dave Philley with two on in the sixth. It was his first victory and complete game in the majors.

Mike Fornieles (2-2) gave up 10 hits but went all the way while making his first start in three seasons for Boston in the opener. Frank Malzone's single broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth off Ray Herbert (3-5). Joe Nuxhall (4-1) won the second game, with relief help from Bill Kunkel. Norm Siebern reached base eight times in a row for the A's in the twinbill, hitting a home run in a decisive five-run fifth in the second game. Reliever Dave Hillman (2-2) was the loser.

Major League Stars

Pitching — Frank Baumann, White Sox, gave Sox first shutout and became first left-hander to pitch complete game against first place Tigers, winning 8-0 with seven-hitter.

Hitting — Norm Siebern, A's, reached base eight times in row after first inning out in doubleheader at Boston, hitting home run and four singles and drawing three walks as A's first lost 6-2, then won, 10-6.

Herdegen Tourney Saturday

New rules changes will affect the 11th annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament which gets under way Saturday at 9 a. m. at Wiltwyck Country Club.

The 72-hole medal tournament will determine the amateur champion of Ulster County for 1961.

Defending champion is Leon Randall of Wiltwyck, who also captured the Hudson River Golf Association crown last year.

The 1961 tournament is limited to players with accredited club handicaps of 11 or less. The entry fee has been hiked slightly and USGA rules will be observed except for ground rules covering local conditions.

In all except one of the past 10 tournaments, players in the Herdegen Memorial have been permitted so-called preferred lies.

Four Courses in Play

Tournament officials report that all four courses to be used—Twaalfskill, Wiltwyck, Woodstock and Shawangunk in Ellenville—will be in the best possible condition.

The second round of the qualifying play is scheduled Sunday at 9 a. m. at Shawangunk. The field will be reduced to low 24 players and ties at the end of 36 holes.

The final two rounds are scheduled Saturday, June 17, at Twaalfskill and on Sunday, June 18, at Woodstock Country Club where the players will be guests of the country club at a luncheon following the matches.

The 1961 champion will receive a trophy and the Herdegen Memorial coat first worn by Leon Randall in 1960. There will be 12 places in the money.

In case of a tie for first place, there will be a sudden death playoff. All other place winners will draw for prizes.

Deadline for entries is Thursday, June 8.

Braves Boosters Meet Wednesday

An important meeting of the Kingston Braves Boosters committee, headed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Addison Jones, will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the mayor's office at city hall.

Ticket reports will be made and plans finalized for the parade and NY-NJ League opener between the Braves and Poughkeepsie, Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

Reds Now First In NL Race After 5-3 Win Decision

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates, with Vern Law winning his first in more than a month, defeated Los Angeles 5-2 and knocked the Dodgers out of the National League lead Monday night. Cincinnati regained first place, by a half game, with a 5-3 victory over Milwaukee.

Last place Philadelphia dropped San Francisco to third, 3-2, and St. Louis out-slugged the Chicago Cubs 10-8.

Face Saves It

Law, bothered by a sore shoulder and home runs, avoided both troubles at Los Angeles. He gave up eight hits and blew a 2-0 lead, but then singled home the tie-breaker in the sixth against losing reliever Ron Perranoski (3-1) before giving way for a pinchhitter. ElRoy Face then saved it, with two-innings of one-hit, shutout relief. Bill Mazeroski and Smoky Burgess homered for the Pirates, who collected 13 hits.

The Reds came from behind and beat Lew Burdette (4-5) with a three-run eighth inning on homers by Frank Robinson and Jerry Lynch. Robinson singled and Lynch doubled as they scored Cincinnati's first two in the second inning on a single by Gordie Coleman after the Braves had counted three in the first on home runs by Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock. Joey Jay, a former Brave, worked the first seven innings, blanking Milwaukee on one hit over the last six. Jim Brosnan (2-1) then won it in relief, with help from Bill Henry in the ninth.

McDermott Gains Win

A six-run seventh inning, triggered by Carl Sawatski's two-run homer and capped by Bill White's grand slam, brought the Cardinals from behind. Maury McDermott, gaining his first NL decision, was the winner in relief. Ed Bouchee and Ernie Banks homered for the Cubs. The losing pitcher was reliever Joe Schaffernoth (0-3).

Robin Roberts, who had lost his first seven decisions, beat the Giants with a six-hit job. Chuck Hiller hit a two-run homer for San Francisco in the second inning, but then put the tying run on base with an error ahead of Pancho Herrera's winning three-run homer in the third. Mike McCormick (5-5) was the loser, dropping his third in a row.

Sioux Win, 20-0, Over Iroquois

A total of nine doubles were hit in the contest with Holden of the winners hitting three of them. He also scored three runs. Present of the Sioux had a pair of doubles.

Subway was forced to tally three runs in the seventh inning to tie Armstrong's but fell by the wayside when the visitors picked up two markers in the tenth. Relief hurler Frank Coulard was the loser while Bill Costello went all the way for the winners.

Barger Does the Damage

Dick Barger pitched and batted Alpine to its win over Anchorage. He broke a 3-3 deadlock with a three-run homer in the fifth frame to pin the loss on the vetetran Mike Boyle. Chris Schwark homered for Anchorage.

Deputy Master of N. Y. State Grange Dies

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — C. LeRoy Ossont, deputy master of the New York State Grange, died Monday in St. Luke's Hospital after a short illness.

Ossont, a retired schoolteacher, was 77. He lived in nearby Prospect and was village clerk.

Ossont also served as deputy state grand master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in 1959-60.

Utica Police Officer Delivers 16th Baby

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A policeman, father of two and grandfather of three, delivered his 16th baby Monday night in 23 years on the force.

The mother, Mrs. Ann Connolly, 26, and her daughter were reported doing well in a hospital.

Patrolman William P. Ryborowski, and his partner, rookie patrolman William Galle, had responded to a call to aid a sick woman. He delivered the seven-pound girl without incident and they took mother and daughter to the hospital.

Delaware Judge Will Also Act In Madison Co.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Delaware County Judge Walter L. Terry has taken over the duties of Madison County judge. Terry replaces Judge Clarence E. Conley, who suspended himself after he and a firm he heads were indicted for alleged payroll padding.

Terry, whose appointment is temporary, will hold the Madison County post in addition to his Delaware County bench.

Conley and his firm, Westlake Manufacturing Co., were indicted last month by a federal grand jury on 64 counts of payroll padding as a subcontractor at the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory near Schenectady.

The government claims the firm charged for 8,137 hours more than were worked by its employes in five years at the Atomic Energy Commission installation.

Terry also takes over Conley's other posts, judge of children's court and surrogate in Madison County. Gov. Rockefeller's office announced Terry's appointment, which took effect Monday.

Have Certain Common Features

Dr. Schaefer Tells How Hail Is Made in Storms

BY CHARLES R. DOUGLAS
(Freeman Staff Writer)

This is the 11th in a series of articles on weather modification experiments as conducted a few years ago in the Hudson Valley and more recently elsewhere in the nation.

Much of the information obtained by Dr. Schaefer during his studies in the West is of interest only to other scientists, but we're all probably interested in learning how hailstones are formed and what the weather does with them.

In dealing with peroperties of hailstones, Dr. Schoefer notes that while some have been reported of grapefruit size, the largest available for his research were about 2½ inches in diameter. Those of the latter size, he said, had been shipped to him and were "studied as part of a basic research program in the atmospheric sciences conducted at the Loomis School, Windsor, Conn." Detailed studies, he said, were made in his laboratory.

Hailstones, he notes, are of a variety of shapes and sizes, but they have certain features in common. All show "banded structure, indicating two or more changes in growth rate and/or environment."

Types Illustrated

The changes, he said, "appear to the casual observer as concentric bands of clear and cloudy ice, the so-called onion-skin structure." His report illustrated the type and structure of hailstones, and he explained the differences resulting of exposure to different conditions.

In the crystalline structure of larger hailstones, he said, "it is noted that the smallest crystals are generally 10 to 30 times larger than ordinary cloud droplets. This can mean several things. The structures observed could be formed by the rapid freezing of mistlike droplets as they contact the hail embryo to form a porous graupel-like (soft like snow) matrix."

This sponge-like structure, he noted, "might then soak up liquid water" in fast enough motion so as not to freeze immediately upon contact. A similar mechanism, he explained "may be postulated involving cirrus-type (stratified) ice crystals. In this case, however, water and ice crystals would coexist, the size of the ice crystals and their packing determining the final crystal sizes. Either of these processes could explain the uniform bands of small crystals found in most large hailstones."

Like Icicles

Formation of larger crystals could also be from zones of "slow wet growth." Crystals, he noted, are often similar to those found in icicles or similar formations which are formed by relativley slow development. Some hailstones, he said, "are certainly formed in this manner, since the elongated crystals observed . . . . could hardly be formed in any other way. Where the large crystals tend to have a uniform size, they might represent the accretion of large, frozen raindrops agglomerating on the surface as a slushlike mass that is freezing at about the same rate as the water and ice mixture is being deposited."

Among the striking features of the crystalline pattern of large hailstones, he said, "is the abrupt manner in which a change in crystal size occurs. These cyclic zones may be produced by several different types of environments or processes. They could, for example, grow within and at the edge of the main core of a very large convective column and represent the fluctuating nature of the environment of such a complex, dynamic structure. In a mature storm such as produces the larger hail stones, such column must contain zones of subcooled cloud droplets, mist and rain, small ice crystals, frozen rain drops, and wet snowflakes."

The latter reads like something which should go on a menu, and if it ever did, we know from what we have learned from the scientists, that the farmers of western great plains will never order it.

Dr. Schaefer described other methods of hailstone formation, and explained: "Large stones do not fall from simple convective cumulus. They invariably occur under conditions that involve either an intense zone of large scale convergence, as was the case with the Grand Island storm, or the developement of the giant, isolated cumulo nimbus that often occur east of the front range of the Rockies downwind of some of the large mountain peaks initiating them."

Rockefeller Is Watching Jersey As Test for GOP

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York says the gubernatorial election in New Jersey next November will have a significant bearing on the fortunes of the Republican Party in 1962.

Rockefeller, who will be seeking re-election in 1962, campaigned in Camden County Monday night for James P. Mitchell, the former secretary of labor who is the GOP candidate for governor of New Jersey. Rockefeller made his first political speech outside his home state since last November's presidential election.

Goldfine Could Cut Jail Term By Disclosures

BOSTON (AP)—Upon Bernard Goldfine's willingness to make full disclosure of financial manipulations exceeding $600,000 depends the length of his stay behind bars, federal sources said today.

The ailing 70-year-old industrialist, beginning a jail sentence of a year and a day for evasion of nearly $800,000 in federal income taxes, could win freedom in four months, these sources said, or might be imprisoned 2½ years.

Condition Attached

U.S. Dist. Judge George C. Sweeney sentencing Goldfine Monday, attached a condition to the defendant's five-year probation—that Goldfine give the attorney general all information, of whatever character on funds taken from Strathmore Woolen Co. and other Goldfine holdings through cash withdrawals or checks written to cash.

Such withdrawals, the judge said, total something in excess of $600,000 and it is the intent of the court to compel disclosure of where this money is and where it went.

Reports issued from the federal building that a grand jury would be called to hear Goldfine if the defendant decided to comply with the disclosure requirement.

Goldfine began his sentence at the federal correctional institution at Danbury, Conn., late Monday. He had been a prisoner there before, when he served a 90-day sentence last year for contempt of court.

Goldfine, born in Russia, made a fortune in textiles and real estate and spent freely on gifts for influential men. A congressional committee threw a spotlight in 1958 on his lavish gifts and hospitality for government officials.

Denies Wrongdoing

Out of that came the resignation of former Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire as White House assistant to President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Adams admitted Goldfine had paid some of his hotel bills and given him an expensive vicuna coat.

He denied any wrongdoing, despite testimony that he had telephoned the Securities and Exchange Commission for reports on proceedings against Golfine.

Goldfine's blonde secretary, Mildred Paperman, 43, was placed on probation for three years for evasion of corporate income taxes as an officer of the Strathmore company. She was given an indeterminate suspended sentence.

Both Goldfine and his secretary were ordered to pay the evaded taxes plus penalties and interest.

HST Offers Advice

NEW YORK (AP) —Former President Harry S. Truman today advised two young Northerners interested in Southern desegregation to "sweep your own yard first."

"It's eager beavers who cause all the trouble," Truman commented to newsmen on his morning stroll. "Nine times out of ten their own back yard needs cleaning worse. They give me a pain in the neck."

Two antisegregationists had joined in the walk. They said they were Joel Geier, 22, of Chicago, national secretary of the Young People's Socialist League; and Thalia Syracopulos, 18, of 897 Delia Ave., Akron, Ohio.

Expect to Be Arrested, Leader of Group Says

Seven More Riders Leave for Jackson Despite Threats of Stiffer Penalties

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven more "Freedom Riders" headed for Jackson, Miss., by bus today and others planned new moves by air to test Mississippi segregation laws despite threats of stiffer punishment.

Five white persons and two Negroes left New Orleans by bus at 6:25 a.m. today and were due in Jackson at 11:25 a.m. (CST).

Would Serve Fines

Newell Weber of East Orange, N.J., spokesman for the group, said they expected to be arrested in Jackson and would serve out their fines in the city or county jail.

The first fly-in to check on segregation at the Jackson airport was expected to arrive from St. Louis, Mo., Wednesday.

Plans were announced for students from a half-dozen cities to leave Louisville, Ky., early next week for Freedom Rides to several southern cities.

13 More Convicted

Thirteen more riders were convicted in Jackson Monday raising the total to 65 since the first wave arrived May 24.

None has been charged with violating segregation laws. All were fined $200 and given 60-day suspended sentences on breach of peace charges. The maximum penalty on that charge is a $200 fine and four months in jail.

City Attorney Jack Travis said he would demand penalties for future riders and added that other charges might be filed against them.

"The city and state have done all they can to uphold the laws since these so-called riders have come to Mississippi," Travis said. "It appears that a conspiracy, plan or plot exists to completely break down the laws of the state."

Most riders have elected to stay in jail to work out their fines at $3 a day. Some have started hunger strikes to exphasize their protests over segregation.

Break Hunger Strike

Three Cornell University students, all white, broke their hunger strike Monday night. The three, Charles A. Haynie, 25, Douglaston, Queens, N.Y.; Paul Green, 22, New York City; and Joe H. Griffith, 26, Corpus Christi, Tex., had fasted since May 31.

Their decision to resume eating left five white and three Negro prisoners still refusing food.

One of the 13 convicted Monday was the Rev. Richard Gleason, 24, a white Baptist minister from the Bible Witness Mission in Chicago. He announced he had broken connections with the Freedom Riders because they included atheists, persons with police records and some who talked of communism.

2 Airmen Begin 17-Day Trip to Moon and Return

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Two airmen have started out to spend as much time in a simulated space cabin as it would take them to fly to the moon and back.

Capts. Lewis C. Gang, 38, and Bernard L. Westfall, 30, began their 17-day, make-believe journey in an 8X12 sealed steel tank Monday at 12:15 p.m.

Scientists at the school of aerospace medicine expect the tests will give them a better idea of how men will perform under conditions in space.

Dr. Billy Welch of the school said the 17-day length was chosen because it "is the duration of the missions that will be applicable in the next five years."

Medical Science Will Try to Cure Behavior: Doctor

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—President Kennedy's personal physician predicts the goal of medical science soon will be the cure of human behavior rather than the cure of human physical illness.

Foreseeing a world free of physical disease in which "only death will be accepted as inevitable," Dr. Janet Travell told the 108-member graduating class of Meharry Medical College here Monday: "The challenges of the future for medicine lie in the possibilities of modifying the behavioral patterns of the human race for the good of society."

Dr. Travell went with the President to Paris and Vienna but returned to appear as the commencement speaker at Meharry, a predominantly Negro school.

Fortune Teller Gets Her Word—In Police Style

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—"Your lonely nights are ending because in two weeks you will meet and marry a beautiful dark-haired girl," the fortune teller said Monday night. "Come back tomorrow, and I'll have more to tell you."

"I can't," said the man.

"Why not?" the fortune teller replied.

"Because I'm already married, and you won't be here," the man answered.

The man, an undercover member of the city's police vice squad, arrested Julia Thomas, 22, who said she was from Chicago. She was charged with violation of a state law that prohibits fortune telling.

Military Rulers In South Korea Attend Services

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's new military rulers made their first public appearance today with U.S. representatives who opposed their coup three weeks ago.

The 32-man military junta attended memorial services at the national military cemetery for soldiers killed in the Korean War. Also present were U.S. Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green and Gen. Carter B. Magruder, the U.N. and U.S. commander in Korea.

After the ceremony the junta chairman, Lt. Gen. Chang do-young, and his deputy, Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-hi, shook hands with Green and Magruder.

Cooperation Held Vital for Dairy Groups of N.Y.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—New York dairy interests must cooperate closely to protect their market for fluid milk or face a bleak future, the state director of milk control said today.

It has become a case of "hang together or hang separately," Herbert R. Kling declared in a talk prepared for 300 dairymen delegates attending the annual meeting of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative.

Kling cited inroads of milk substitutes, what he called an almost certain increase in interstate shipments of milk, and a shift from home-delivery to store sales as tending to depress dairymen's prices.

Cooperatives should not give up their individual identities, Kling said, but could work more closely and effectively.

Without dairying he contended, "we don't have much" in agriculture in New York, and the dairy industry is squarely dependent upon the fluid milk market.

In another prepared talk, Allen Ostrander of Theresa, president of Eastern, expressed the cooperative's continued opposition to any northeast order that would combine the New York and New England markets.

John C. York, manager of Eastern, called for nationwide pricing regulations on some manufactured dairy products.

In a prepared talk, he cited Italian-type cheese, which draws a premium price, as a product that could be priced on a nationwide basis.

It has been estimated that a snail's pace is exactly 0.000030600 miles per hour, or half-an-inch a minute.

Warns Against Any Trouble for Fall School Integration

ATLANTA (AP)—Rabble rousers, would-be rioters and the like have been warned by Gov. Ernest Vandiver against trying to stir up trouble when four Atlanta public high schools are integrated next fall.

Vandiver said Monday that although he was dead set against integration, "anytime the life or property of any citizen is endangered whatever forces that are necessary to preserve the peace will be used.

The Atlanta Board of Education has approved transfers of 10 Negroes in the 11th and 12th grades to white schools. The desegregation was ordered by a federal judge.

"Unless the state of Georgia wants to secede from the United States and fire on Ft. McPherson, we'll have to obey that court order," Vandiver told a news conference.

Site Done For Saturn Big Rocket

America's Best Chance in Race

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Construction has been completed on the launching site from which early Saturn space vehicles will be fired.

The super rocket, which will generate 1½ million pounds of thrust on liftoff, is America's best hope of overtaking the Soviet lead in the space race.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration dedicated the $11-million facility Monday, accepting it from the Army Corps of Engineers in a brief ceremony.

Like 30 Stories

Engineers supervised the two-year building program for the massive 45-acre complex, whose centerpiece is a service tower which is as tall as a 30-story building.

Scientists and technicians now will prepare the ground support and launch control equipment for the first experimental Saturn firing, set for next fall.

Dr. Kurt Debus, head of NASA's launch operations directorate, called the complex "the first launch point for the world's greatest known rocket.

"Saturn," he said, "will be the workhorse booster for many exciting space experiments planned in the next decade.

To Get Men Into Space

"The main application of the Saturn launch vehicle will be man into space. Not too many years hence, three astronauts will be blazing toward an orbit about the moon atop the mighty Saturn."

The early Saturn C1 vehicle will be fired from this launch pad. A second stage will be added later, giving the rocket capability of placing 10-ton payloads into earth orbit.

A second Saturn launch complex will be built here to handle the advanced C2 vehicle, which will have considerably more power and twice the payload capability.

This nation's present largest space booster is the Atlas, which has 360,000 pounds of thrust. Estimated thrust of the Soviet space rockets ranges from 800,000 to one million pounds.

Will Consider Police Residency, Streets and Dogs

A proposed police department residency law, a street rebuilding and resurfacing program, and a proposed dog ordinance are on the agenda for tonight's meeting of the Common Council at City Hall.

The residency law, proposed by Police Commissioner Henry Eighmey would require all applicants seeking appointment to the police department to reside in the city, excepting where Civil Service requirements provide for the appointment of applicants outside the city.

Would Allow 90 Days

In such a case, Mayor Edwin E. Radel said, an appointee would be allowed 90 days to establish residence within the city limits.

A special Common Council committee is expected to present a proposed dog ordinance at tonight's meeting. The committee said in a communication to the Council that it is the opinion of committee members that a dog ordinance should be adopted for the protection of people, especially children, dogs and their owners.

Mitchell Hurt In Hotel Fall

Herbert Holran, executive director of Mitchell's campaign, said Mitchell had met late with aides. As the candidate was going to the bathroom, he slipped on the tile and fell heavily to the floor.

Holran estimated that Mitchell would be on crutches for at least three weeks with complete healing to take four to six months. The gubernatorial election is in November, when Mitchell will oppose Democratic candidate Richard J. Hughes.

Hunger Drove Fugitives Out

Says Trujillo Plotters Held Family Four Days

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A young doctor said four of those who plotted dictator Rafael Trujillo's assassination held him and his family hostage for four days until hunger drove them out of hiding.

Dr. Robert Reid Cabral said his home was commandeered by the four fugitives shortly after Trujillo was gunned down last Tuesday night.

Two of Four Slain

Reid Cabral said he, his pregnant wife and their infant son were held hostages until Sunday.

The family's ordeal ended when the fugitives, desperate for food and cigarettes, came out of hiding. Within two hours, two of the four had met death in a gun battle with police. The two others surrendered to authorities.

Leader of the group and alleged mastermind of the assassination was retired Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, 52.

Reid Cabral told this story:

After the Trujillo slaying, Diaz and his accomplices went to the office of another physician, Dr. Marcelino Velez, to get treatment for a bullet wound.

Forced Way In

The men threatened Velez unless he found them a hiding place and he took them to Reid Cabral's home. When Reid Cabral opened the door, Diaz and Antonio de la Maza forced their way in with guns drawn. Later two other fugitives moved in.

Reid Cabral said the fugitives tried to get him to relay word to a person identified only as "wimpy" to tell Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt that "the tyrant is dead."

Wimpy was to try to drum up support in Latin America for the Dominican Revolutionary Movement, the country's opposition party. Reid Cabral refused to relay the information, despite threats to liquidate him and his family.

Departure Never Came

"Every day they said they would leave at night, but the hour never arrived," the doctor said.

Two hours after they came out into the open, police spotted Diaz and De la Maza in downtown Ciudad Trujillo. Diaz was machinegunned to death and Maza died of wounds soon afterward in a military hospital.

The other two, Salvador Estrella and Luis Caceres Michel, gave themselves up voluntarily.

Waterman to Hear Sentence June 7 On Entry Charge

Donald Waterman, 19, 61 German Street, one of two brothers accused of entering the Friendly Tavern on Thomas Street and also allegedly involved in numerous other thefts about the city, entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry and petit larceny Monday before County Judge Raymond J. Mino. Sentence will be pronounced on Wedesday at 11 a. m.

The Waterman indictment was one of 42 criminal cases on the June County court criminal calendar presented by District Attorney David W. Corwin.

Donald Waterman was accused of entering the Friendly Tavern on March 12, 1961, and was indicted for third degree burglary as well as the other two charges. He continued his plea of innocent to the burglary charge. Jointly indicted is his brother George Waterman, 17, whose case was continued to Wednesday at 11 a. m.

The Waterman brothers were arrested after Donald was observed by Kingston police officers carrying a brown paper bag behind the John M. Rapp Van Lines, Inc., at 557 Broadway. Contents of the bag led to questioning about the tavern job. Police said later both signed statements admitting more than 200 larcenies involving parked cars, milk bottles and private homes.

Thomas Saccoman appears for George Waterman and Marshall Lipton appeared for Donald Waterman when the plea was taken Monday afternoon in County court.

Other Cases

Among other cases before Judge Mino Monday afternoon were:

Robert Thomas Cossaboom, 32, who was arrested in Hart-

Warns Soviets Are Trained To Cripple Pentagon Staff

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Army spokesman says the Soviet Union has the trained operatives, gadgets and the germs to sicken the Pentagon's 30,000 employees in a secret attack.

The Army also warned that the Soviets are so far ahead in both offensive and defensive chemical and biological warfare that it would take the U.S. at least five years to catch up.

In recent testimony before the House Appropriations Committee, censored before release today, Chemical Corps intelligence officer W. E. Black said that the Soviets could start a general war using chemical weapons and sustain it along a major front.

He said that the Soviets were equally proficient in covert operations, citing the possibility of erupting a small vessel of highly infectuous material into the ventilating system of a building such as the Pentagon.

Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, Army research chief, said that about one-sixth of the huge Soviet military stockpile consists of chemical warfare weapons.

The Army's chemical chief, Maj. Gen. Marshall Stubbs, testified that all intelligence points with certainty to the fact that the Soviets and their allies are ahead of the United States and its friends in both the use and the defense against chemicals and germs.

The censors pruned out most of what the general said was required to catch up with the Communists.

Vote to Help Baseball

Merchants Endorse Modernization Week

Kingston's Urban Renewal and Home Modernization Week was enthusiastically endorsed by the Uptown Businessmen's Association Monday night at the June meeting in the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

In addition to the endorsement of the week of June 11 as Urban Renewal Week, as proclaimed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel, members and citizens were asked to support the project by a general program of clean-up, fix-up and paint-up for community beautification.

The Uptown Businessmen also voted to support the Braves Booster Committee in the project to help keep organized baseball in Kingston. James Elder was named to head a committee and arranged for at least one car in the motorcade Saturday night. The motorcade, sponsored by the committee, will start from Delaware Avenue and Broadway at 7 p. m. and proceed to Deitz Memorial Stadium for the opening baseball game between the Kingston Braves and the Poughkeepsie Club at 8:30 p. m.

Will Write for Signs

It was also voted to write to Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and the State Department of Public Works asking for the immediate erection of temporary or the permanent signs at the Thruway traffic circle marking or indicating the Washington Avenue approach to one of Kingston's major business districts. Carpenters Still Out

Firms Say $1.13 Demand Is Exorbitant

There was no change in the labor situation today between striking carpenters in the nine county area covered by the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters and the employing contractors. Pickets were still on two school jobs in Kingston and the New Paltz State Teacher College job.

Another meeting is scheduled for Wednesday evening between the contractors and Union officials.

Contractors met last night to discuss matters prior to resuming discussions with union leaders tomorrow.

In a press statement issued today spokesmen representing construction employers from Newburgh, Middletown, Oneonta and Kingston described the current status of their negotiations with the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters as "continuing," despite certain difficulties brought on by the expiration of their agreements with the Council.

The contractors described the carpenters contract demands as exhorbitant when compared with recent settlements negotiated with other construction trades in the area. The statement says

There'll Be Some Changes Made

Vision Fogged Briefly By Vibration: Shepard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut Alan Shepard disclosed today that rocket vibration fogged his vision briefly in the early part of his historic 15-minute space flight a month ago. But he said just about everything else went well.

Shepard said that as the result of his difficulty, some changes have been ordered in the Mercury capsule design to reduce vibration during the crucial moments just after launching.

Data For Scientists

Shepard made the observation in a paper prepared for delivery to 300 physicians and research scientists at a conference on the medical results of the first U.S. manned suborbital space flight last May 5. He rocketed to an altitude of 116.5 miles before landing in the ocean 302 miles from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site.

Shepard said the roughest part of the flight came as the rocket accelerated through the speed of sound and then passed through the point of maximum dynamic pressure. That was the point at which the Redstone rocket and the capsule it carried were subjected to the most severe combination of acceleration forces and atmosphere resistance.

Blurred Few Seconds

"These events occurred very close together on the flight, and there was general vibration associated with them," Shepard said.

"At one point my head vibration was such that my vision was blurred for a few seconds.

"We intend to avoid a recurrence of this experience by providing more foam rubber for the head support and improving the space craft adapter ring."

Shepard said he had no other difficulty during the powered flight and found no problem in breathing, seeing, or reporting to the ground.

Shepard added that:

1. The water landing was no more severe than the catapulting of a plane from a carrier deck.

Debriefing Useful

2. The so-called debriefing conducted during his two-day stay at Grand Bahama Island, after the flight, was useful and will be profitable for future flights.

3. The five minutes of weightlessness was similar to floating and did not affect movements, speech or breathing.

4. The capsule periscope not only was a good device for viewing the sky and earth, but also was a "backup" aid for navigation and for monitoring the opening of the parachutes on the descent.

Points to Trend That Threatens To Destroy Law

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits says recent cases of price-fixing in the electrical industry, work stoppage at missile centers, and the failure of local police to protect Alabama "freedom riders" all reveal the trend that threatens to destroy the law.

The New York Republican told a meeting of the Erie County Bar Association Monday night that it is up to lawyers to help restore moral responsibility and to keep the law from being undermined.

Javits cited the recent convictions in Philadelphia of high corporate officials under anti-trust laws for price-fixing on electrical equipment and also cited what he termed "featherbedding" in the missile base building program.

He said 30 unions and 100,000 workers were involved in 327 missile work stoppages that cost the government millions of dollars.

Javits charged that police and public officials in Alabama failed to protect "Freedom Riders" and were in open violation of the Constitution by "permitting the mob to take over."

Rocky Goes to Syracuse To Do Early Campaigning

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) —Gov. Rockefeller headed today for this Republican trouble spot on a fence-mending visit arranged along the lines of a full-scale campaign trip.

Although Rockefeller will not be campaigning for re-election officially until next year, he scheduled the unusual, two-day political assault against the background of continuing Republican concern over his popularity in the state's fourth largest city.

For the endeavor, he has crammed more than 18 public appearances, speeches and meetings into his schedule.

He set meetings with industrialists, labor leaders, businessmen, educators, political leaders and, in the finale tomorrow night, with the general public at a "Town Meeting."

Rockefeller prepared to listen sympathetically, during the two-day visit, to area problems and hopes in highway building, industrial development, schools and other areas.

He also scheduled political meetings and will dine tomorrow night at the home of Sen. John Hughes, who was a leader in the 1959 legislative revolt against Rockefeller's taxing - and - spending program.

The governor's tax program, which involved increases, touched off strong opposition in Syracuse and Onondaga County, which Rockefeller had carried 101,749 to 67,325 when first elected.

Other factors spurred the anti-Rockefeller feeling. Orthodox Republicans protested that his criticisms of President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon in 1960 hurt the party and contributed to its defeat last November.

The defeat of Assembly Majority Leader Charles A. Schoeneck Jr. in the election was a danger signal to Republicans. He had won two years previously 22,270 to 15,837.

Talk Set At 7 P.M. On Summit

Congress Voices Hope, Skepticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy returned home today from his series of summit level conferences abroad and prepared to report to the nation tonight on the results of his trip.

In a nationwide television and radio broadcast at 6 p.m. EST, Kennedy planned to brief the country on his meetings with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, President Charles de Gaulle of France and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Will Reaffirm Stand

In tonight's talk, Kennedy is expected to deal largely in generalities in reporting his conversations with Khrushchev. But it seemed certain that he will reaffirm the West's determination to stand solidly against any new Communist thrusts in Berlin and other danger spots.

Members of Congress—divided between hope and skepticism — eagerly awaited Kennedy's report.

Congressional Democrats generally were optimistic that some improvement in East-West relations might grow out of the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Vienna, even though no concrete results had been anticipated. Republicans were more skeptical.

Sees Groundwork

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he believes the conversations were "well worth while" and may have contributed to laying the groundwork for lower-level negotiations on East-West differences.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said it seemed to him the Vienna meeting "well served the purpose of getting the two leaders acquainted" and giving them an opportunity to talk over the world situation.

Solved Nothing

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, in a separate interview described the Khrushchev session as "a sparring match that solved nothing."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a spokesman for GOP conservatives, said he doubts that the meetings will alter the world situation in any way.

"About the best we can say is that they didn't do any harm—so far as we know now," he said.

Upstate Chief Is For Department Like Kingston's

Kingston's police department is cited as one of "excellent reputation" in a bid by an upstate police chief to gain helpful information in its reorganization project, it was learned today.

In a letter to Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Chief Gerard C. Paul, of the Town of Greece, a large Rochester suburban community, said his department was projecting its personnel needs, "for the next 10 years or so," and he asks for information, as to the Kingston departments' organizational structure chart, manual of procedure, rules and regulations, and officers identification cards.

"I have been informed," said Chief Paul, "that your department has an excellent reputation in your area, and I would like to pattern our department after one such as yours. Also, if at some later date, I can make arrangements to visit your community, would it be possible for me to meet with you and discuss this matter."

Chief Murphy said he has invited Chief Paul to come to this city, and said he will cooperate with him fully in outlining the operation of the local department.

Successful Camporee

842 Turnout Sets Tri-Mount Record

All previous Camporee attendance records were eclipsed by a turnout of 842 Boy Scouts, Explorers and leaders at the 1961 Rip Van Winkle Council Camporee held at the Camp Tri-Mount Scout Reservation June 2-4.

The "young army" of boys and their leaders descended upon camp late Friday afternoon and evening. Most of the time was spent by the Scouts in setting up their tent campsites for the weekend outing.

Show Is Highlight

Highlighting the Camporee program on Saturday morning was a sportsmens and conservation show which included an archery exhibition put on by three members of the Kingston Archers group, Arthur Pinkham, Donald Planthaber and Donald Bowra. The Scouts also were in enthusiastic evidence at the camp waterfront as the Ulster Skindivers Club demonstrated their skills. Members of this group who took part in the demonstration included Edward Muller, Gerry Klemin, Theodore Wiands and Richard Grant. Climaxing the conservation phase of the program was a presentation on forest fire fighting and safety in the woods made by Ranger Victor Schraeder of the New York State Conservation Department.

An opportunity to test their outdoor skills was provided the Scouts Saturday afternoon as more than 100 Scout Patrols vied in traditional inter-patrol skills competition. Included among the events were physical fitness, observation, nature lore, compass work, Morse code signalling and first aid. Giving leadership to the patrol skills contest program was Harold Harrison, assisted by a large group of veteran Scouters representing all seven districts in the Rip Van Winkle Council.

For Explorer participants at the Camporee a special field event program was staged Saturday afternoon. The older boys enjoyed a program which included such varied activities as tree felling, cross cut sawing, tree climbing, rifle markmanship, canoe racing and chess matches.

Heading the special Explorer field events program was William Lenski of Cairo assisted by Gilbert Fredenburgh of Catskill.

Campfire Is Climax

A grand climax of the Camporee activities Saturday was a spectacular Council campfire program conducted by Robert Tremper of Ulster Park, assistant district commissioner of the Kingston District. Conducting the colorful opening ceremony of the campfire program were members of the Half Moon Lodge, Order of the Arrow.

In addition to the traditional campfire songs, skits and stunts, special musical entertainment was provided by Scout Orman Leighton of Mt. Marion. A monologue by Explorer Robert Burnett of Kingston was a highlight of the campfire program.

Council Scout Executive Alex Macdonald of Hurley spoke briefly and dedicated the campfire to the volunteer Scout leaders of the seven districts in the Rip Van Winkle Council.

Western District Commissioner Richard Stewart of West Hurley brought the campfire to a close with a brief inspirational message.

Worship services were conducted on the Camporee grounds for Scouts of Protestant and Catholic faiths Sunday morning.

A feature of the Camporee program Sunday was the closing ceremonies during which recognition was given to all who had participated in the weekend Camporee program. Ken Magyar, of Saugerties, Council Camporee chief presided over the closing ceremonies program.

Award Ribbons Given

Award ribbons were also presented to the Explorer Posts which participated in the Special Explorer Field Events program.

First place ribbons were awarded to Post 43 of Cairo for winning the tree chopping, canoe, tree climb and chess contests. First place was awarded to Explorer Post 12 of Kingston in the 2 man cross cut sawing and obstacle race. First place honors in rifle markmanship were awarded to Post 78, New Paltz.

Second place winners in the various field events were Post 141 of Catskill; Post 78, New Paltz; Post 43, Cairo; and Post 12, Kingston.

Overall winner of the Explorer Field Events program was Post 43 of Cairo. Explorer Post 12 of Kingston won second honors.

Camporee emblems were presented to all Scouts, Explorers and leader participants by Council Commissioner Sherwood Lasher of Kingston.

Told to Take Gold a 13

JERUSALEM (AP) — A young Jew told the Eichmann trial court today that at 13 he was forced to extract the gold teeth from bodies of gassed victims in the Chelmno concentration camp.

Simon Srebnik, a Polish-born taschanic now in Israel, testified he saw an average of 1,200 Jews paraded to their deaths daily over a period of nine months.

The routine was always the same, he said. The Jews were given towels and soap and 80 to 100 at a time were herded into a big van and driven away.

"The doors were hermetically sealed," he said. "When the van moved on, the gas would enter it and in this way they all were killed."

Court Upholds 1940 Smith Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday upheld validity of the "knowing membership" clause of the Smith anti-Communist law of 1940.

The clause makes it a crime to be a member of a group knowing that it advocates violent overthrow of the government.

Justice Harlan delivered the court's ruling.

The court made the decision in upholding conviction of Junius Irving Scales, scion of a prominent North Carolina family and onetime chairman of a Communist party district embracing the Carolinas.

Hovey Pleads Guilty

FONDA, N. Y. (AP)—Howard G. Hovey former automobile dealer convicted in Schenectady of swindling buyers, pleaded guilty Monday to another charge of first-degree grand larceny.

Hovey, 40, was accused of obtaining a $2,500 loan in Amsterdam by giving as security a fraudulently registered automobile. Judge Chandler S. Knight of Montgomery County court set sentencing for June 26.

No Thought of Controls Yet

Recovery May Renew Inflation, Concern Of White House Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top White House advisers say there is rising concern in the Kennedy administration over the threat that business recovery will revive inflation.

There is no thought of resorting to direct price or wage controls barring "a wartime situation," said Chairman Walter W. Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

But Heller added: "We will have to exercise self-restraint to a degree perhaps never known before."

Three administration leaders—Heller, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, and Walt Whitman Rostow, special assistant to the President—stressed the renewed threat of advancing prices in addresses to the Advertising Council Monday.

The council's an organization of national advertisers and advertising agencies which donate millions of dollars worth of free advertising each year to campaigns in the public interest.

Heller told the advertisers the vigor of the business upturn should lift national output to a record $530 billion yearly rate by the end of 1961—a 5 per cent gain from the first quarter—and should generate enough tax revenues to give government a budget surplus in fiscal 1963.

But he and other officials stressed that a resumption of living cost increases may be a by-product of prosperity unless unions settle for moderate wage advances and management holds prices in check.

"As we go into the new wage negotiations, the question is whether we will negotiate our way into inflation or whether we can exercise discipline without wage and price controls," said Rostow.

Heller disclosed that the problem is currently before the President's Labor-Management Advisory Committee. The administration is hoping the committee of labor, industry and public representatives can lay out guidelines for wages and prices in major industries like steel and autos.

Phone Contract, Aimed at Ending Strike, Refused

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Telephone maintenance workers here, spurning the advice of their international union, have overwhelmingly turned down a new contract aimed at settling their month-long strike at the Rochester Telephone Corp.

The workers, members of Local 1170 of the Communications Workers of America, voted 619-93 Monday night against a new 33-month contract. Officials of the local had fought the contract because it changed a sick leave clause in their old contract, they said.

At the same time, the workers, acting on the request of the international, filed separate mail ballots to the union's headquarters. The international had favored the company offer, which provided for a $4.50-$5.00 weekly wage raise and increased fringe benefits.

About 1,100 workers are on strike at the company but existing telephone service has not been affected.

Results of the mail balloting will not be known until later this week. Local union sources said they did not know what would happen if results of the two votes disagreed.

TRUJILLO'S ASSASSINATION

No signs exist at this early stage that the people of the Dominican Republic have been or will be the gainers from the assassination of dictator Trujillo.

His oppressive government remains in firm control. The reported mastermind of the attack upon him is said to have been guided by a desire for personal revenge rather than a wish to transform the Dominican government.

It is not beyond the range of prospects that Trujillo's political heirs may use this stunning event as a new excuse to take the Dominican people toward Communist totalitarianism.

One of the ironies of Trujillo's last months in power was his sudden turning in that direction after long years in the Fascist mold. It was proof, if any be needed, that at the foundation totalitarianism uses ideology largely as a weapon and a lever.

The late dictator's switch, evidenced by a propaganda bombardment of Communist slogans, came after he was quarantined diplomatically by the United States and many other members of the Organization of American States. It appeared to be pure revenge.

There were indications, indeed, that the move actually was producing a quiet concert with Fidel Castro in Cuba, though earlier the two dictators had "traded invasions" and seemed the worst of enemies.

No one likes to see assassination employed in political warfare but slight sympathy will be found for Trujillo among free men. Not only had his own regime become repressive in the extreme, but he had many times trafficked in plots against Democratic leaders in Venezuela and other Latin lands. He was a confirmed exporter of trouble.

Free nations like to believe that change spells opportunity and progress. But in an unhealthy political society such as prevails in the Dominican Republic, change can spell danger.

No alternative of Democratic leadership looms in prospect. Repression has been carried on too long. Neither the trained men nor the means of gaining power are at hand.

On the other side, no successors to Trujillo can hope to match, at least at the outset, the confident independence with which he pursued his ugly course. Like Castro they are likely to look for friends. This could be another compulsion pushing them toward the totalitarianism of Moscow and Peiping.

Trujillo's violent death has removed an evil figure from the scene. It has not yet given promise of good things to come for the long-suffering Dominican people.

Joe Cronin, American League president, favors reinstatement of the spitball. He hopes the rules committee doesn't think he's all wet.

THE GAS STATION FBI

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover's appeal to gas station attendants to assist in the war on crime is intriguing. These men are, Hoover notes, in a position to render outstanding service to law enforcement. Many wanted criminals are among travelers who patronize gas stations.

Quite a number of lawbreakers already have been apprehended through the help of those who man the gas pumps. It makes good sense to alert them particularly to keep their eyes open for known criminals.

The FBI might even go a step further and give attendants who meet certain requirements a kind of reserve status. More than a few station attendants have been wounded or killed in brushes with criminals, and even when they act in an exceptional manner these men seldom reap any reward for what they have done. Some sort of FBI recognition might well be awarded to honor those who thus take an active part in the fight against crime.

'These Days'

BIG JIM'S ANGER

No more kindly person exists upon this planet than Big Jim, better known to the lesser folk as James A. Farley, who was, among his sins, responsible for making Franklin D. Roosevelt President of the United States. In recent years, Big Jim has been selling Coca-Cola outside of the United States and has been making speeches all over the place. He is usually applauded enthusiastically even if he rises only to take a bow.

Rarely angry about things, Big Jim enjoys his way of life, continues to make friends, continues to travel and is never lonely.

Unlike Herbert Hoover, Jim Farley remains a partisan. Hoover has become a general American without too much regard to political parties and he speaks as kindly of Harry Truman and John Kennedy as he does of his erstwhile Republican colleagues. Jim Farley remains a Democrat; supports his party and despises mugwumps who slide hither and yon wherever the provender is best.

So James Farley went down to San Antonio, Texas, and told an audience:

"But neither the Greeks nor the Franks nor ourselves ever before faced the mortal challenge which confronts us today in world Communism. Tens of millions of graves and thousands of concentration camps prove conclusively that the Communists place less value on the human spirit than did Attila the Hun. Space rockets and spinning satellites prove that our enemy intends to borrow every technical advance of Western civilization to destroy the spiritual values which produced these self-same material advances. Worse still, not being bound by our humanitarian and spiritual values — with unparalleled cunning — the Communist enemy has used the symbols of faith, hope and charity to subvert and destroy those values in the human heart itself."

This is the strongest language I have ever heard James Farley use. Then he said:

"Let us not pay tribute to the enemy's zeal; that is only half the story of his success. The other half we have contributed through our folly, our child-like ineptitude and our outright appeasement."

These are important two sentences for the President to bear in mind during his visit with Khrushchev in Vienna. For after all, it is as easy to give away as to be taken. Who is to say that Franklin D. Roosevelt was taken by Stalin at Teheran; yet today we know that the losses of the United States at that Conference were enormous and the fact that none of them were incorporated in a treaty does not make the loss less. In fact, Farley denounces policies and attitudes for which Democrats were more responsible than Republicans although both sides pursued the same course. He says further:

"It was the incredible theory of the leaders of the West that our great strength frightened the Communists. To accommodate the supposed fears of the enemy, we disbanded our forces; demobilized our armies; dismounted our air arm; mothballed our fleet. The Communists at once expanded into the power vacuum we had left. Country after country fell before their unopposed forces."

Coming from James Farley, this attack upon the policies of General Marshall and Secretary of State Dean Acheson policies is startling. It can only mean that in 1961 what seemed to be right in the 40's has proved itself wrong and that some men are capable of recognizing error no matter where it originates. It is true that John Foster Dulles attempted to undo the errors of his predecessor but he could not have succeeded because they were established fait accompli. The Russians had taken advantage of every opportunity and using the Teheran agreements as a base proceeded to commit their outrages legitimately even though inhumanly. It is the legitimacy that must now be brought into question and that can only be done by the publication of all the documents relating to Russo-American Relations from Teheran on. Only then can we know the precise truth.

Did we give away human freedom or were we tricked by our naivete? This question can only be answered by looking at the facts without partisanship desiring to protect personalities. History will be written in brutal language when all the data is in and no one will be spared. The fact is that Western civilization was struck a fierce blow at Teheran — a blow from which it is not recovering. We need to know why and by whom.

Be Kind to Those Nerves— You Can't Replace Them

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If ever you've rapped your funny bone on the edge of a table or the arm of a chair you don't need to be told that the nerve trunk is composed of mighty delicate tissue.

But perhaps you aren't aware of the damage that can be done by continued pressure on an exposed trunk.

Writing in the Journal of Industrial Medicine, Dr. A. A. Marinacci has drawn attention to nerve injuries and even paralyses that result from constant pressure, sometimes the result of on-the-job activities but sometimes unrelated to wage-earning.

Here are a few examples of Dr. Marinacci's investigations, with suggestions for their avoidance:

Weakness of a branch of the facial nerve from prolonged use of the telephone with the base of the receiver resting on the shoulder and the rim against the side of the face.

To prevent, use a headphone.

Weakness and even paralysis of the powerful muscles of the upper back and neck from bearing heavy weights on the shoulders, as do hod carriers.

To prevent, use heavy padding.

Crutch paralysis, with involvement of forearm muscles from pressure in the armpits.

To prevent, use modern crutches with hand bars and learn to reduce armpit pressures to a minimum.

"Saturday night paralysis" from heavy sleep while under the influence of drugs or alcohol, with arm hung over the side of a bed or a chair or from resting the weight of the body on the flexed arm.

Weakness of thigh and leg muscles from heavy sleep, with the leg hanging over the side of the bed.

Weakness of forearm muscles from resting elbows on the arms of a chair during prolonged sessions of televiewing. Weakness of leg and thigh muscles from hanging the legs over the edge of a chair during similar session.

Weakness of the leg muscles on one side from prolonged sitting with legs crossed.

Weaknesses of hand muscles from prolonged use of tools held in the palm, particularly during operations such as riveting.

Numbness of the feet and pains in the calf when carpet-layers abuse their lower extremities by standing on their toes and use their hamstrings (back of the knee) as springs.

Weakness of foot muscles from prolonged motoring in bare feet.

Permanent weaknesses and even total paralyses from injuury to adjacent nerves by the fragments of a bone fracture, particularly at or just below the shoulders (Erb's palsy).

Better be kind to those nerves. They're not easy to repair and they're impossible to replace.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Most of the changes in U. S. Army organization just recommended to Congress by President Kennedy were put forward during the last six years by former Army chiefs of staff—Generals Maxwell D. Taylor, Matthew B. Ridgway, and Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, retired chief or Army research and development. The main points in the Kennedy program include::

- A long-delayed modernization to cost $100 million.
- New programing of existing Army appropriations to provide another $100 million for nonnuclear, guerrilla warfare.
- Reorganization of Army reserves to provide double combat strength in less than two months after mobilization.
- Increase Marine Corps to 190,000 men, $60 million.
- Complete overhaul of United States intelligence operations.
- Change the present pentomic division of 12,500 men in five combat teams to the former triangular, three-regiment division of 15,000 men, in place of the World War II 17,500 men.

Only this last point is a repudiation of the Ridgway-Taylor ideas. Both of them backed the pentomic division, as a result of their Korean war experience. But it proved to be too thin and light, so a return to heavier organization is ordered.

THIS CHANGE IS GENERALLY CREDITED to General George H. Decker, the new Army chief of staff. He took his recommendations to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and together they persuaded the President of its desirability.

All the other changes, however, bear great similarity to earlier recommendations of Ridgway, Taylor and Gavin.

In 1955 Ridgway, backed by Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Arleigh A. Burke, vigorously opposed reduction of United States armed forces from 3.2 million to 2.8 million men in two years.

When President Eisenhower was asked about this criticism, he replied at a press conference that Ridgway's views "were in a sense, parochial," because he did not have the overall sense of responsibility of the commander-in-chief.

When Ridgway's memoirs were published under the title of "Soldier," the next year, he repeated his criticism. He accused Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson of "ordering manpower cuts for political reasons that reflected the sort of thinking which brought us disaster in Korea."

Shortly after this, Ridgway asked for early retirement. He was succeeded by Taylor in 1958. Wilson also departed, to be succeeded by Neil H. McElroy.

TAYLOR IMMEDIATELY BEGAN PUSHING his campaign for modernization of the Army, which had also been advocated by Ridgway. Eisenhower resisted this for the last five years of his administration, for reasons of economy and a belief that nuclear weapons made ground forces less necessary.

Taylor argued that the United States already had excessive nuclear weapon capacity, with thousands of vehicles able to deliver bombs, whereas only hundreds were needed. He advocated more conventional weapons for fighting smaller wars.

Unable to persuade the Eisenhower administration of this need, Taylor resigned in 1959. In his subsequent book, "The Uncertain Trumpet," he set forth views which, if adopted, would have predated changes now being recommended by Kennedy.

THE VIEWS OF GENERAL GAVIN are known to have influenced President Kennedy a great deal. An advocate of more research and development, Gavin talked constantly of wanting "quantum jumps" — great leaps forward. He didn't want 1903 weapons brought up to the 1950s. He wanted weapons for the 1960s and beyond — more Army airpower, missiles and small A-bombs.

His views were too advanced for his time, however. He retired at age 51, and wrote a book, "War and Peace in the Space Age." Gavin was a military adviser to Kennedy during his campaign for the presidency and after election. Many of the President's ideas took shape in this period, before he appointed Gavin as his ambassador to Paris.

Military experts warn now, however, that the new Kennedy program alone will not do the complete job.

It is recognized that the U. S. may use small, non-nuclear forces in the first rounds of any small foreign war. But if they fail, reliance must be put on nuclear weapons.

Congress Seen as Entitled To a Full Summit Report

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 5—The American people may have to be content with the generalities of President Kennedy's half-hour speech on television about his meeting with Premier Khrushchev. But Congress which is after all a co-ordinate branch of the government, cannot be satisfied with such a fragmentary account.

All the members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs are entitled to a detailed report on any statements made in behalf of the United States during several hours of talk with the Premier of the Soviet Union without the presence of even the Secretary of State.

If there were any commitments or pledges or agreements which could directly or indirectly involve preparations to be made by our armed forces or the appropriation of public funds for foreign aid or other matters connected with foreign policy, the committees in Congress have a right to be informed about them.

Possible Controversy

Diplomacy normally is a proper means of communication for the executive branch, but when our government talks to another government in a crisis involving war or peace it is important that the legislative branch be advised, and in detail. Many an executive agreement has been made in the past with a foreign government which was not submitted to the Senate for ratification, and this has produced many a controversy. The clear intent of the Constitution, however, is that Congress, through its leader or committees, should be kept informed.

Mr. Kennedy acted at Vienna in the role of ambassador. But he reports to nobody else in the executive branch. He talked alone for several hours with the head of the Soviet Union with only interpreters present. Notes of a sort were kept, but hardly a complete stenographic record. Translators have a way of condensing long answers, and sometimes they unwittingly soften harsh phrases. Sometimes they give meanings that are not as comprehensive as they should be as language differences are not always explainable.

Certainly the long hours of off-the-cuff conversation between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev were hardly a substitute for the carefully prepared papers and documents of formal diplomacy. Yet the fate of the world may rest on the most effective communication possible between the head of the American government and the dictator of the Soviet government.

Mercuric Khrushchev

Plainly Mr. Kennedy thought that personal contact would be helpful in producing an atmosphere of cordiality and friendliness. But Premier Khrushchev is the kind of man who turns on the smile or the frown to suit his own purposes. His promises have proved meaningless in the past. He can fraternize with Dwight Eisenhower one day and not long afterward he can be calling him a "coward" or a "thief." He can be addressing the United Nations Assembly one day with all the dignity of a foreign potentate and the next day he can be pounding his shoe on a table like an uncivilized peasant.

Subjects like Laos and disarmament and nuclear test bans and the status of Berlin are never going to be settled by personal parleys at the "summit." Power and the pressures of the "cold war," in which many billions of dollars are spent on both sides, will alone affect the result. The threat of war will be used to force trades and deals and so-called agreements. The truth is that the communist dictatorship is deploying its army of plain-clothes men in every country of the world.

Basis for Respect

If these subversive activities were really outlawed and banished from this country, for instance, the Soviet government would begin to have more respect for the West. But inside the United States, as long as so-called "intellectuals" — various professors and crusading students, as well as sections of the press and church groups—continue to call for a stifling of Congressional investigations of subversion, the FBI will be helpless by itself to stamp out the movements that are, knowingly or unknowingly, playing the Communist game.

The only course available, therefore, is to bring out into the open every statement made by Premier Khrushchev so that the world can witness his deception and trickery and be alert to the acts of treachery which have been so effective for his side in Laos, Africa, Cuba and Latin America.

For the Soviet government is carrying on the biggest intervention in the internal affairs of other nations the world has ever witnessed—and still the so-called free world sits by and carries on wordy conferences with its most powerful enemy. If the American objective is to win friends through public argument, then the sooner the United States establishes communication with the people behind the Iron Curtain and begins telling them the whole truth about the real threat to peace, the sooner will come the day when peoples inside the Communist bloc will deal with the dictator and the menace of war will be removed.

The Soviet Union spends each year on its forces stationed inside the free world far more money than the United States spends for "foreign aid" of all kinds. It is more important today for America to spend money to win peace on earth than it is to spend forty billions to invade the moon.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The Decoration Day parade brought memories of years gone by when a benefit was being held for the Joyce Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the proceeds of which were to be used to erect a home for the returning veterans. There was the Joyce Schirick Post ball held in October of 1945 at which Florence Albright was chosen queen. Margaret DeCicco was chosen queen by the veteran patients at Castle Point.

I wonder how many remember when Chuck Connors returned to the local sports scene in November, 1945, to appear in the lineup of the Jersey Reds to meet the New York Jewels in the season's first basketball game for the benefit of the Joyce-Schirick Post, VFW. The proceeds to be used toward the VFW Home in Kingston. Chuck was well known to sports fans here then, as he was first baseman of the Kingston Recreations.

Mrs. Dominick La Torre of 42 Post Street gave me the Pictorial Magazine of the Journal American of Sunday, May 21, 1961. Chuck Conners is on the front page, in bright colors, for he is headliner in a TV show, "The Rifleman." They write about him in part: "Upon the TV frontier, each week looms, Chuck Connors, ballplayer-turned-actor. In the title role of ABC's popular Western, "The Rifleman," he's a truly formidable man-behind-the-gun. Brooklyn-born Chuck joined the Dodger's roster in 1942, while a baseball star at Seton Hall College. Sojourns with Southern teams, with Montreal, the Chicago Cubs and the Los Angeles Angels followed. The LA stop proved a big boon for his popularity with the fans led to a part in M-G-M's "Pat and Mike" and eventually to a full-time career in movies and TV.

I bought an interesting book the other day. It is a hard cover, red cloth bound book called "Reformed Church of Flatbush, 1807-1907." of Flatbush, N. Y. compiled by Rev. P. S. Beekman. It was printed by R. W. Anderson and Son, of 15 and 17 West Strand, Kingston, New York in 1907. It is printed on good paper and well illustrated.

Quoting in part from this fine book, I see the committee expressed their thanks to Benjamin M. Brink, for his introduction and helpful suggestions. I take it, Mr. Brink was the publisher and editor of "Olde Ulster" the historical and genealogical magazine, also printed by Anderson around 1907, of which I have a few copies. I understand Mr. Brink could translate local records from the Dutch language. They also thank Jacob M. Snyder, who remembered all the pastors of the church, as well as the edifice as first built, and other interesting and valuable information.

Mr. Brink gives in detail all the land conveyance from the early 1600's and uses freely Indian names and Dutch names. One grant of 1677, he tells about the consideration given the Indians was "a blanket, a shirt and a loaf of bread and baize for socks." He further goes on to say: "The consideration appears ridiculous to us, but it was then an unbroken wilderness of hills, forests and swamps needing the years of toil requisite to clear and develop. To the Indians it was worthless. This may interest historians: "On May 19, 1687, the great patent was granted to the people of Kingston, which was known as "The Kingston Commons," which covered all the region of Flatbush."

NEW YORK (AP)—Debt continues to mount, if jerkily. The recession slowed the increase of the total of private debt. But there's a good chance today that both public and private debt are ready for another spurt.

Since World War II, total debt and national income have kept pretty closely in step with each other—speeding up in boom times and slowing down in recessions—but over-all advancing steadily. This is particularly true of corporate and personal debt, and as long as it moves along in step with income, most people won't get too excited.

Net Debt Was High

The total of public and private net debt stood at a record $883 billion at the start of the year, a gain of $37 billion in 12 months. The various forms of government owed $301 billion, corporations were in hock by $295 billion and individuals and unincorporated enterprises by $287 billion. All three types of debt had risen in 1960, although much of the year was a recession period.

The gross national product for the year—that is, the dollar total of goods and services produced—was $503.2 billion, a gain of $21.1 billion in the year. This, too, wasn't bad for a period called disappointing in terms of earlier predictions.

Recession Slowed Debt

But the recession did slow the growth of corporate and individual debt, and the increase in gross national product, also.

Individuals continued to pull in their horns during the early months of 1961, a fairly rare occurence since the end of the war.

Instalment debt totals fell in January, February and April, and had only a slight rise in March. The total is now about level with last September, although still above a year ago.

The recession also slowed borrowing by corporations. Plans for expansion were pared. This cut down the need for funds for building plants or buying equipment.

Need for Funds Drop

Also, business drew back from building up stocks and tended to live off those on hand. The need for funds to carry inventories dropped way down.

Those two factors left many corporations in position to finance the ordinary operation of their business largely out of cash on hand.

But in all three sectors—government, corporate and individual—the signs today are for an increased borrowing pace.

William Howard Taft was first U.S. president to be chief executive of all 48 states; Eisenhower of all 50.

NEW YORK (AP)—It would be really nice if some of the season's commercials were heading for oblivion along with all those network entertainment programs which won't be back next fall.

Every viewer has his own candidates for extinction, but I could manage to struggle along without:

The jolly demonstration of a wash-day product involving two small boys heaving chocolate pies at a clean table cloth and mopping up with dainty towels a floor covered by a nauseous mess of gravy, soup and sauce.

The rude, aggressively snoopy neighbor who walks into the housewife's kitchen and proceeds to order her to use a certain soap.

The "scientific machines" that demonstrate how fast pills dissolve, how a woman can breathe out of only one nostril and how bad an onion smells.

The couples, obviously madly in love with each other, who spend their precious time together sentimentally describing how mild and satisfying their cigarettes are.

The announcers with authoritative "doctor voices" prescribing reducing aids or headache pills.

The athletes attributing all their skill and vitality to one brand of bread or cereal.

Those filthy sinks that the scouring powder cleans without even scrubbing.

Dave Garroway obviously is going to leave NBC's "Today Show," as he requested, but the date of departure is still up in the air. Garroway was planning to take things easy this summer by taping a couple of shows one day each week anyway.

John Daly is considered the most logical replacement, but network officials say that a number of names have been submitted for consideration.

Recommended tonight: "Summer on Ice," NBC, 10-11 (EDT) —skating show with Peter Lawford and Peggy Lee; Garry Moore Show, CBS, 10-11 — with guest stars Alan King, Eileen Farrell and the Jonah Jones Quartet.

U.S. Unveils Space Kitchen of Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space kitchen in which three astronauts can set up housekeeping in a flight to the moon has had a down-to-earth showing.

If nothing else, the kitchen has one notable merit: No dirty dishes.

The kitchen had its showing Monday at a luncheon, where a young man garbed in an astronaut's suit operated the kitchen to prepare the kind of meal a space traveler might eat.

Moving like a ballet dancer to simulate the free-floating condition of weightlessness in space, he moved from freezer to refrigerator to oven, clutching handles to keep from drifting away.

From the oven he produced a heated can from which he unscrewed a bottom cap, attached a forced-feeder device resembling a potato ricer and fixed a feeding nipple to the can.

He then squeezed the food out of the container, through the nipple and into his mouth.

The kitchen can be stocked with 108 cans of frozen foods like pineapple, strawberries, fruit bars and pound cake; 207 canned main item courses like veal steak, ham and eggs, vegetables and potatoes; 618 plastic tubes of dried milk, cocoa, tea, coffee, fruit juices, eggs and steamed rice.

Overhaul Must To Save WCB, Chairman Avers

NEW YORK (AP)—The chairman of the State Workmen's Compensation Board says he thinks his agency may be threatened with extinction if it doesn't get a major overhaul soon.

Speaking from 33 years' experience in the field, Chairman Solomon E. Senior says he believes the whole process of governmental provision for the injured in industry has failed to keep abreast of the times.

He complains especially that the Workmen's Compensation Law does not yet cover all employes, that its benefits have not kept pace with the cost of living and that costly "legal jousting" has come to dominate a system once designed to deal quickly with workers' needs.

At a news conference Monday called to answer critics who have demanded an investigation of his board, Senior said the fundamental trouble with the compensation process is that it fails to emphasize rehabilitation and restoration.

an outmoded schedule of compensation payments that ignore the worker's age and other circumstances and relies too often on lump sum benefits where long-term payments coupled with rehabilitation programs are called for.

He called the entire system of lump sum payments "baffling."

State Sen. Joseph Zaretzki, Manhattan Democrat and Senate minority leader, and Assemblyman Melville E. Abrams, Bronx Democrat, have asked that the agency be investigated by a joint legislative committee.

Mrs. JFK Sleeps Late, President Wings Home Alone

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy stayed in bed until nearly noon today, resting up from a hectic round of public appearances with her husband.

In response to questions about Mrs. Kennedy's plans for what remained of the day, a secretary said: "I really don't know what she is going to do. She might get an impulse to do something."

As the President flew home, the First Lady stayed behind at the home of her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill.

The secretary said that Mrs. Kennedy plans to leave sometime Wednesday for Rome en route to Athens but that the departure time was still not fixed.

In Greece she plans some rest and sightseeing, and a short cruise to the islands in the Aegean.

Bids Business Chiefs Do More on Ethics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said today that business leaders should do more to impress on their own employes the importance of adhering to the antitrust laws.

Hodges testified before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, which has been investigating price fixing in the electrical equipment industry.

He said he believes that the American businessman is committed to finding a way to both live within the law—particularly the antitrust laws—and to compete fairly, honestly and helpfully.

But Hodges said that big business does have some special problems and perhaps one of its great failures is a failure in communication.

"Management of corporate America must assume the responsibility for a more aggressive program of acquainting its own people with its policies, its commitments and its philosophies," he said.

Woman Pays Fine Leaves Jail for Woodstock Home

One of three Town of Woodstock residents jailed for refusal to take shelter during the April Civil Defense alert has paid a $25 fine and been released from jail after serving out the original five day jail sentence imposed in addition to the $25 fine.

Mrs. Mona J. Fletcher, 32, of Lake Hill, was discharged from the Ulster County jail last Friday on completion of the jail sentence when she paid the fine. Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten, Town of Woodstock, sentenced Holley Cantine Jr., Dorothy Secrest and Mona J. Fletcher to 5 days in jail and imposed a $25 fine, one day to be spent in jail for each $1 of the fine unpaid. Cantine and Dorothy Secrest have completed their five day sentence but have not paid the $25 and remain in jail.

Two additional cases involving failure to take shelter during the April 28 Civil Defense drill, are still pending. Jeanne Nield will have a hearing on June 13 and Mrs. Gorien Kelcey Jacober will come before the justice on June 27.

anxiety which the child does not know how to handle. She expressed the belief that there is no such thing as a bad parent, and added parents may be sick or misguided or that they do not know how to handle problems of the child.

Must Be Consistent

Dr. Sportsman also emphasized that a happy child is never cruel and that the most important factor in handling a child is to be consistent. Being strict in handling problems of a child is not so important as consistency in the treatment of a child, the speaker said.

Spoiling a child often comes from inconsistent management, she said. A spoiled child is the result of a bribery between incapable parents.

The speaker also emphasized that problems of emotional disturbances can sometimes be helped by the person talking over problems with an understanding, disciplined person.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — A patchwork of small plus and minus signs left the stock market in an irregular pattern early this afternoon. If there was any trend either way, it was upward.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .30 at 252.40, just below its record closing high achieved last month. Industrials were up .20, rails up .30 and utilities up .20.

Steels were lower.

Trading was moderately active. Wide movers were few and far between, although Woolworth moved up another 3⅛ and Standard Oil of California rose 1⅜.

Chemicals were strong, with Air Reduction up 1¼ and other leading issues fractionally higher. Rubbers also moved up small amounts, but other industry groups were pretty well scrambled.

One-eighth changes up and down were the rule among motors.

Seek Stone Throwers

City police are patroling at intervals along Rondout Creek in the immediate vicinity of Island Dock in an effort to prevent boys from throwing stones that have caused some damage to boats. A spokesman for the Island Dock Lumber Co. Inc., termed the condition as a nuisance, and said boats are not moored within throwing distance of the Rondout Bridge. Parents are urged to advise their children not to throw stones at boats and to keep off the piles of block to avoid possible personal injury or damage to property.

Carpenters Still

"comparable increases were offered the District Council, but were refused."

"We feel the public should know the extent of the demands made by the carpenter and the potential effect of these demands on tax rates as a result of increased public building costs."

Statement Made

The statement of the contractors, which is denied by Union officials, continues:

"The carpenters have been, and are now, demanding increases in wages and fringe benefits amounting to at least $1.13 per hour. Current carpenter wages and fringe benefits total $4.32."

Gforge E. Yerry Jr., president and agent of the Council said the contractors have offered, "a 5c an hour increase this year and to negotiate elimination of travel expense and shape-up pay."

Yerry stated today that the Council had offered numerous suggested remedies to the situation under certain circumstances. Among the suggestions is a one year contract with rotation of work for all carpenters and a wage agreement under two, three and four year periods.

Yerry Charges Confusion

The statement that the carpenter demands are for at least $1.13 an hour, Yerry said, without stressing the time element was adding to the confusion being created by the contractors. Although no definite statement as to what offers have been made, Yerry indicated there has been some discussion with contractors on a basis of hourly increase coupled with length of the new contract and increases in hourly wages at certain times during the contract period.

Today Yerry made arrangements with union officials in New York City to supply work in New York for any carpenter from the Hudson Valley District Council area who desires to work in New York City.

Carpenters employed on the West Delaware water project where New York City is creating a new reservoir, are not affected by the strike since they are now working a new three year agreement. Highway construction carpenters are also continuing work under a new contract.

Kraus Homestead Fire Accidental, Is Being Razed

Fire at the former Kraus homestead, which is being demolished for a new shopping center on Albany avenue extension, was of an accidental nature investigation disclosed. It is believed sparks from burning refuse near the house Monday afternoon set fire to the brick structure which was being razed.

Ulster Hose No. 5, responded and found a lively fire in progress, fanned by high winds. Before the blaze was extinguished practically the entire roof was burned away and heavy hand hewn floor and roof timbers, which the contractor planned to sell were practically ruined.

Prior to the fire, windows had been removed and much of the interior had been salvaged, leaving only the heavy hand hewn floor and roof timbers standing inside the brick shell.

Medical Electronics Has Good Potentials

Q) "What do you think of the medical electronics industry? I am interested in this field. Would you name a stock?" H.B.

A) You are interested in a growing and active field. I regard the medical electronics industry as having very big potentials. The demand for medical treatment has risen rapidly since World War II. Population increases, insurance plans and research breakthroughs have all contributed, and this uptrend should continue. Hospital officials say that the rate of expansion will have to be doubled to meet 1975 requirements. And the experts go on to say that these projected needs will result in a doubling of volume in new-type electronic instruments over each of the next ten years.

You will find that many larger, well established companies are interested in medical electronics. From an investment viewpoint, though, the best gains will probably be made by specialized firms. I particularly like Sanborn Co. (OTC) as a good growth issue. This company will probably be merged into Hewitt-Packard (NYSE). By buying Sanborn, you will have an interest in medical electronics, which will be broadened, if the merger goes through, into a wider field of electronic instrumentation.

A list of other companies having an interest in medical electronics includes Beckman Instruments (NYSE), Cenco Instruments (ASE), Bell & Howell (NYSE), Gulton Industries (ASE), P. R. Mallory (NYSE), Tracerlab (OTC), and Minneapolis-Honeywell (NYSE).

Q—"I hold 50 shares of Gillette which were bought a year ago. I have a profit. Is there a chance of a stock split? Should I continue to hold? J.G.

A) Gillette (NYSE) is prominent in the manufacture and merchandising of shaving needs and other toiletries—Consumer items from which steady growth is expected. Aggressive promotion of new items will continue and acquisition of other lines is quite possible. The stock displays a very strong pattern of growth on my chart and is a prime candidate for a split. My advice is to hold your Gillette for further gains.

No Single Rule For Trujillo Jr. Rubirosa Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Rafael Trujillo Jr. was reported today to have no ambitions whatsoever toward continuing the political dynasty of his assassinated father in the Dominican Republic.

The report came from Porirrio Rubirosa, Dominican playboy-diplomat, in an interview by the New York Journal-American. Rubirosa arrived Monday on what he termed an unofficial mission, not otherwise defined.

Rubirosa denied that there had been any mass arrests or reign of terror in the island republic after the dictator's assassination.

Rubirosa was asked who was boss in his country now.

"We have no single boss today. The generalissimo is dead, and no man has succeeded him, and no one person intends to succeed him," he said.

"President Balaguer heads our government, and Gen. Trujillo commands the army, which supports the government."

Says All Members Were Informed of Deal in Tractors

WASHINGTON (AP)—An aide says Milton Eisenhower was fully informed about other members of the Tractors-for-Freedom Committee before agreeing to help in the drive to ransom 1,200 Cuban rebel prisoners.

The statement by Eisenhower aide Keith Spalding Sunday came in response to Republican charges Eisenhower was enlisted by President Kennedy without telling him who other members of the committee would be.

His brother, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is reported by associates to oppose the exchange of 500 tractors for the prisoners captured when an invasion attempt was crushed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The former president has made no public statement on the matter.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers Union president.

Richard N. Goodwin, assistant special counsel to Kennedy, also said the President made it clear that Eisenhower would be asked to work with Mrs. Roosevelt and Reuther in the fund-raising drive.

Spalding declined to comment on reports the former president was not pleased with his brother's participation. Milton Eisenhower was unavailable for comment.

KENANSVILLE, N. C. (AP) —An electric power company reported a 5-foot short circuit knocked out electric service to 2,200 homes. The 5-footer was a black snake that crawled into a power company substation and disrupted service. The snake was electrocuted.

Nation Has More Than 400 Centers With Poisoning Data

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — There are now more than 400 centers in the United States that can give a telephoning doctor fast, life-saving information in cases of accidental poisoning, it was reported today.

These so-called "poison centers" —usually just a reference library, a few staff members and a telephone — are manned round-the-clock and keep a file on poisons in all commercial products, said Dr. Roger P. Smith of Dartmouth Medical School.

He told the 57th annual New York State Public Health Association meeting that the centers shoulder an increasingly important role, as shown by a survey indicating that half of all accidents handled by pediatricians involve accidental poisoning.

Dr. Smith said poison was the fourth-ranked cause of death in children from one to four years old and added that these cases alone amount to about 5 percent of all fatal accidents.

The "poison centers," begun in Chicago eight years ago, are usually maintained by public health officials, hospitals, and medical schools.

Sol F. Lifson, public relations directors for the National Tuberculosis Association, told the conference that public health agencies are dependent today more than ever on other public agencies because of the increasingly complex health problems they face.

He cited air and water pollution, radiation hazards, and the mounting number of older people.

Dr. Herman Hilleboe, New York State health commissioner, told an opening session of the four-day meeting Monday that state and local government must provide plans flexible enough to make "medical care available to all who need it, at a price people can afford and without dislocating the economic stability of families."

Dr. John M. Galbraith, president of the State Medical Society, urged more ties between health agencies and the medical society in projects on air pollution, alcoholism, youth physical fitness, health education, and post-graduate medical schooling for doctors.

Levitt Favored For Governor by Columbia Group

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Comptroller Arthur Levitt had the backing of one county committee but he had no reply today on its support for the 1962 Democratic gubernatorial election.

The Columbia County Democratic Committee, at a dinner Monday night, formally pledged its support to Levitt for the party's nomination next year.

Levitt, principal speaker at the dinner, made no public reply.

County Chairman Charles Alonge claimed Columbia was the first county in the state to declare for a candidate.

Levitt has remained consistently noncommittal on his plans in the 1962 election other than to say that he will be a candidate for statewide office.

The dinner program was curtailed after the publicity chairman for the county committee collapsed and died.

Samuel Berman, 59, a furniture dealer in Hudson, was stricken as he sat down at his table after being introduced to the dinner. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Columbia Memorial Hospital.

Others frequently mentioned as possible candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination include Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City and Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady. Neither has yet indicated he was seeking the nomination.

Twine Corrects Show Standings

The following letter has been received from Donald M. Twine, public relations chairman of the Woodstock Riding Club:

"Will you please print this correction.

"Last week, I erroneously reported to The Freeman that points in the Western division of the Woodstock Riding Club's Dollar Championship series stood: Jerry Ellis, first with 11 points, and Dawn Countryman, second with 8 points. Actually, Mrs. Ellis and Miss Countryman are tied for the lead with 8 points each. — DONALD M. TWINE."

Demonstration Unit Sets Final Meeting

The Woodstock Home Demonstration Unit will meet at the Methodist Church hall on Tuesday, June 13, at 1 p. m.

Members are requested to bring sandwiches or picnic lunch. Dessert and coffee will be furnished by the executive board. This will be the closing meeting for the season, so there will be no guest speaker.

WOODSTOCK

PB-QA

Following is another series of questions and answers pertaining to planning and zoning in the Town of Woodstock:

Q. How much should an individual contribute to the Growth Plan?

A. Give according to what you can afford and according to your feelings about the importance and urgency of a Growth Plan for Woodstock. If your budget is small, don't hesitate to give only a very small amount.

Contributions received from commercial enterprises range from $500 to $5 and those received from individuals from $300 to $2. On June 1, the average pledge (for 3 yearly installments) was $51. As of June 1, pledges received totaled $7,512.

Q. Does a Growth Plan mean zoning?

A. No, strictly speaking, it does not. The town can have a Growth Plan without also having a Zoning Ordinance. The Growth Plan, however, is not truly enforceable other than by means of a zoning ordinance, to which the town law has specifically assigned the power to implement a Growth Plan.

Although a Growth Plan does not mean zoning, it is highly desirable that a Growth Plan be followed by a zoning ordinance. But they are two separate things. Few people will object to the making of a Growth Plan and particularly so if its costs are not a tax burden (as in Woodstock where it will be financed by voluntary contributions). The subsequent zoning ordinance, however, means regulations and people are only likely to accept such regulations if they are first convinced of the merits of the Growth Plan. The Planning Board therefore believes that the citizens of Woodstock should first be allowed to have a good look at such a plan for Woodstock (and participate in its development) and only thereafter decide as to whether they wish to accept the necessary zoning regulations to implement it.

Stiff Penalties Due for Bogus Air Bomb Calls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a bill clarifying and stiffening penalties for false information about bombs on airplanes.

The bill sent to the Senate Monday was requested by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy who says too many airplane bomb hoaxers have been acquitted by juries when they said they were just playing a practical joke.

The attorney general's bill specifically provides punishment for practical jokers—those who give false bomb information knowing it to be false. Maximum penalty would be a $1,000 fine or a year in prison.

Another section would provide a tougher penalty for anyone who gives false bomb information maliciously "or with reckless disregard for the safety of human life." The penalty would be a $5,000 fine or five years in prison.

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—Sarah Churchill, actress daughter of Sir Winston Churchill, was fined two pounds—$5.60—Monday for being drunk and disorderly in a Brighton pub.

It was her eighth appearance on such charges in two years. She pleaded guilty and told the magistrate: "I have nothing to say except that I regret it."

$6 Million Loss

2 Plants, Ten Dwellings Lost In Mass. Blaze

AYER, Mass. (AP)—Town officials and businessmen met today to assess the future in the wake of a devastating fire which destroyed two industrial plants and 10 dwellings with an unofficial loss estimated at $6 million.

In smoldering ruins after Monday night's fire were the town's largest employer, Hartnett Tanning Co., and the International Purchasing Co., a rope-making firm, along with the dwellings of some 40 persons.

The disastrous fire raged along a quarter-mile front, devouring all buildings in its path. A 20-mile-an-hour wind whipped the flames which firefighters battled for more than four hours.

Heavy smoke felled 25 persons. Another 10 persons suffered minor injuries.

Loss of the tannery was a particularly hard blow to this central Massachusetts town of 15,000. The plant, which employs about 400, is the town's main industry and has distributed over $2 million in bonuses annually.

Load in Washer Causes Smoke, Kerosene Burns

Firemen from Engine Company 2 and Truck 2, Wiltwyck fire station, were dispatched to 65 Amsterdam Avenue at 7:44 a. m. today after a resident reported she detected odors of smoke in the cellar.

Firemen in charge of Deputy Chief Julius L. Buchholtz traced the source of smoke to an automatic washer, which was overloaded. The washer was disconnected. The house is owned and occupied by Alfred Rose.

At 11:15 p. m. Sunday Engines 1 and 2, Trucks 1 and 2 and the Salvage truck were dispatched to 277 Clinton Avenue where kerosene ignited on the hot water heater in the basement and caused smoke.

An exhaust fan was used to clear smoke from the building and the burning kerosene was extinguished with C02. Firemen said the first floor is occupied by the owner of the rooming house, Leonard M. Dessler, who was repairing a leak when the fire started.

Ating Fire Chief George D. Matthews and Deputy Chief Edwin Murphy were in charge of firemen.

May Car Sales Best of Year

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's auto dealers sold more new cars in May than in any previous month this year. The daily selling rate also was the highest of 1961.

The five automakers reported Monday that May sales totaled 537,825 cars with a daily sales rate of 20,686.

Last month's upturn failed to match the pace of May 1960 when sales totaled 566,650 and the daily rate was 22,665.

Sales had been lagging nearly 100,000 units per month below 1960, but the gap was cut to less than 30,000 in May.

Admits Pushing Girl Into River In Trial Record

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) —A youth's confession that he pushed his teen-age girl friend into the Hudson River has been admitted as evidence at his trial.

The statement by David Amesse, 20, was taken by Dutchess County Dist. Atty. Raymond Baratta on Dec. 21, the night Rachel Perry, 18, drowned in the river.

The statement, read Monday in county court, said:

"She had her hands on the rail, all set to go together. I chickened out and pushed her. I heard her hit the abutment and splash in the water.

Amesse is on trial on charges of second-degree murder in the death and first-degree manslaughter because of a suicide pact with the girl.

The prosecution maintains he entered the pact with the girl, then backed out and did away with her.

AFL-CIO Presents 47 Films for Use In State Schools

ALBANY — An initial five-film unit of the motion picture series, "Americans At Work," produced by the AFL-CIO and showing men and women on the job making the products and providing the services of America, was presented today to the New York State Department of Education.

The presentation was made here on behalf of labor by Harold J. Garno, secretary-treasurer of the New York State AFL-CIO. Dr. Walter Crewson, associate commissioner for elementary and secondary education, accepted the gift in the absence of Dr. James E. Allen, commissioner of education.

A luncheon attended by the two officials, along with assistant commissioners Edwin Van Kleek, Warren Knox and Joseph R. Strobel and representatives of guidance, vocational and secondary advisory staffs, preceded the presentation, held in the office of Dr. Crewson.

Garno expressed the hope that the films, along with the other 42 selected units of the set being shipped directly from Washington, will prove of value to education in New York State.

"Each of these films gives a brief picture of one of the many skills for which our young people in the schools may prepare themselves and emphasizes that continued cooperation between employers and employes makes possible our American standards of pay and working conditions," he said.

Burns Are Fatal

Sit-in Becomes 'Sleep-Through'

NEW YORK (AP)—Four students turned a "sit-in" into a "sleep-through" Monday night at the offices of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters, Inc., where they vowed to remain until Paramount theaters in Austin, Tex., are desegregated.

The four began the sit-in at 2 p.m. Monday as a climax to picketing of the ABC-TV Center Building by 10 Austin students. They slept through the night while two others marched outside the building.

ABC-Paramount issued a statement saying its theaters are not centrally controlled and that desegregation "is a matter to be resolved by the responsible elements in each community."

Esopus Resident Pleads Innocent To Drunk Driving

Accused of driving an automobile while intoxicated after a collision on Ten Broeck Avenue Monday at 4:20 p. m., David MacFarland, 43, of Parker Avenue, Esopus, was paroled by City Judge Aaron E. Klein.

MacFarland pleaded innocent today and received an adjournment until Tuesday, June 13, to obtain counsel.

According to Patrolmen Lewis Keator and Raymond Wells, MacFarland's car was involved in a collision with a vehicle operated by Mildred Herwig, of 33 Manor Place. No one was injured, according to police, who said the defendant refused to submit to a chemical test following his arrest.

First motion picture on the west coast was produced by Charles French, an Ohioan, and antedated Cecil B. DeMille by five years.

EUGENE LaPLANTE

Popular Art Teacher Accepts Another Post; Designs New K of C Building in Saugerties

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

Eugene LaPlante, director of art for the Saugerties Central School System, submitted his letter of resignation to the Saugerties Board of Education today in order to accept another position in his field at a substantial increase in salary and advancement in departmental responsibilities. Mr. LaPlante, who had signed a new contract with the Saugerties School System in May, told the Freeman he has accepted a position in California and that his resignation will be effective the end of this school year.

Details of Mr. LaPlante's new post will be released at a later date by the California school.

In a statement to The Freeman, Mr. LaPlante said, "We will certainly miss our many friends and students in the area. However, in deference to my family, I feel it is my obligation to accept a better position when the opportunity presents itself. My new post will also enable me to work toward my master's degree."

Makes Art Popular

In the time that Mr. LaPlante has been with the Saugerties School System, he has successfully made the art program a popular one. He has encouraged seniors to study art on the college level and many of them return each year to see the improvements at the school and discuss their work with their former teacher. This year, four graduates have chosen art as a major in college.

It was upon Mr. LaPlante's recommendation that a four-year art program, instead of three-year, was introduced into the Saugerties Central School System. Under his direction, students were screened for the course enabling the most talented to be trained. Another first, was the coordination of the elementary, junior and senior art programs under one department head. The art program today also includes a study on art history. The course makes use of projector and color slides. At the outset, only 12 slides were included in the files. Today, the slides number at least 500 enabling students to learn about the art treasures of the past and present.

Along with other programs Mr. LaPlante has introduced the following: originated Saugerties Sawyer Spectacular for the yearbook benefit; assisted with all art work for the Saugerties Yearbook and contributed original drawings for this year's publication. He has also assisted with the staging of the Snowball Dance and has aided the Physical Education Department with their various shows.

Artist, Singer

As an artist, Mr. LaPlante has gained recognition for his beautifully executed oils and water colors. His work has also included commissioned portraits.

His recently completed architectural plans for a new Knights of Columbus building in Saugerties were approved by the K of C headquarters in Connecticut and will be built in the near future. Mr. LaPlante has also designed a showroom and garage in Catskill and completed several swimming pool plans for A. C. Home Improvement Inc.

The St. Rose of Lima School in Littleton, N. H., is mainly Mr. LaPlante's design and he has volunteered architectural plans, services and ideas for many individual residences in the area. He has also found time to serve as an interior decorating consultant in the area.

An active member of the community, Mr. LaPlante has staged shows for the Saugerties Rotary Club, school operas, operettas, and variety shows, to name a few. As a vice president of St. Mary's Choir, Saugerties, he has staged the group's annual benefit shows and appeared as soloist.

A popular tenor, Mr. LaPlante was guest singer for the Ulster County premiere performance of "Via Crucis," a religious cantata composed by the Rt. Rev. Joseph D. Ostermann of Kingston. He has also appeared for the Kingston Newspaper Guild's Page One Ball and numerous benefits throughout the area.

Mr. LaPlante attended the Boston Conservatory of Music and was graduated from the University of New Hampshire with a degree in art education. He appeared with the Boston Opera Company in the lead role of Don Jose in "Carmen," also "Student Prince," and "My Fair Lady."

Active in summer stock with the Salisbury Players in New Hampshire, and Boston Players, Massachusetts, he has appeared in such plays as "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Importance of Being Ernest," and "Our Town."

His memberships have included the New York State Art Teachers Association.

Saugerties Woman Reported Fairly Good

Mrs. Florence Tallman of Churchland, Town of Saugerties, who collapsed on the sidewalk on Partition Street Friday morning, was reported in fairly good condition at Kingston Hospital today.

Saugerties Village police reported she suffered a slight stroke. Sgt. Harold Mills applied the police inhalator prior to her removal to the hospital by H&S Ambulance.

Schimmerling, Pauker and Bornstein Give Lecture Recital on Israeli Music June 3

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

Those attending the lecture recital on Contemporary Music of Israel given Saturday, June 3 in the auditorium of Temple Emanuel, were treated to an unusually fine program.

Lecturing was Hanus A. Schimmerling of Woodstock, assisted by June Pauker, soprano and Peter Bornstein, violinist. The program was sponsored by the Jewish Community Center of Kingston.

Mr. Schimmerling divided his program into five categories — Sources and Development of Israeli Music; The Eastern European School; The Central European School; The Eastern Mediterranean School; and The Young Generation.

According to his precise and detailed presentation, the most prolific composers in the world today are to be found in the small state of Israel. Mr. Schimmerling carefully illustrated how these composers are not only contributing to the musical wealth of the world, but to the cultural uplift of their young country. Paul Ben-Haim, who represents the Eastern Mediterranean influence, seems to be Mr. Schimmerling's favorite.

In tracing the origin of Israeli music, how it developed, how it compares with other church music of today, and how other cultures influence the Israeli composer, Mr. Schimmerling also conveyed the message that the most interesting place today, as far as music is concerned, is Israel.

Musical illustrations of style were sung by Jane Pauker, soprano. Mrs. Pauker made a difficult task seem comparatively easy. Her strong, clear soprano voice was particularly suited for this type of presentation. Mrs. Pauker's voice has gained depth and range and she handled the vocal gymnastics of some of the most difficult passages with confidence of a seasoned professional. Although Mrs. Pauker was limited to the program material, her performance was very satisfying and she was received enthusiastically by her audience.

Mr. Schimmerling further enhanced his program with the appearance of another fine artist, Peter Bornstein, violinist. Particularly enjoyable was his interpretation of Jacobi's "King David's Lion."

Since it is not our intent to reproduce Mr. Schimmerling's lecture here, suffice it to say that it would be encouraging, if we are interested in the musical uplift of our own immediate area, to see more lectures of this type scheduled. Not only on the music of Israel, but other countries as well. Local interest in this type of format was evidenced recently by the good attendance at a series of Music Appreciation lectures given by Claude Monteaux, director of the Mid-Hudson Valley Philharmonic.

In brief, the works and backgrounds of the following composers were discussed by Mr. Schimmerling: Edel, Rappaport, Stutchevsky, as representative of the Eastern European influences; Sternberg, Salomon, Jacobi, Josef Tal, Central (German) European; Paul Ben-Haim, Oedoen Partos, Alexander Boskovich, Menahim Avidon and Marc Lavry, Eastern Mediterranean area; Haim Alexander, Herbert Brun; Starter; Miron Michrovsky, Yitzchak Sidi and Dev Seltzer.

Mrs. Kennedy Is Staying Behind To Visit Greece

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy stayed behind today while her husband flew home to report to the American people on his European tour.

Mrs. Kennedy is spending two more days in London with her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, and then taking private sightseeing trip to Greece.

America's beautiful young First Lady has captivated London just as she did Paris and Vienna.

In her last official appearance at Buckingham Palace Monday night she displayed still another new hairdo that drew a chorus of "oohs" and "ahhhs" from spectators outside. Her black hair was lifted high in front, nestled in slight waves across her ears and tucked into a swept-up bun enhanced with diamond clips and diamond-drop earrings.

Queen Elizabeth II gave what was described as a "good old English dinner" for the President and his wife under soft lighting in the palace's state dining room.

Kennedy was the first U.S. President to dine at the palace since Woodrow Wilson in 1918.

COULD ANYONE BE THAT GRASPING?

Q: Will you kindly settle this dispute before it grows out of proportion and ends in a family feud? "A" says it is an accepted fact, that a wedding guest is permitted to take the unused portion of any and all liquors home with him, after the reception. "B" feels that such action is a display of very bad manners. A guest can drink (and eat) all he wants at the reception but the leftovers are none of his concern. The remaining bottles belong to the host, who paid for them, the father of the bride. Who is right?

A: I cannot imagine where "A's" astounding misinformation comes from, and "B's" calling such behavior very bad manners is hardly strong enough criticism of it.

Hosts Have No Spare Room

Q: My husband's aunt and uncle are coming to visit us shortly. We live in a three-room apartment and have only one real bedroom. However, we do have a sofa in the living room that opens into a bed that is quite comfortable. Does courtesy exact that we give up our room to our guests, or may we stay where we are and let them sleep in the living room?

A: You are not expected to give up your bedroom, but you must warn them, when they ask if you can put them up, or when you invite them to visit you, that all you can offer them is a bed in your living room.

Making Room for Others to Pass

Q: I have a pet peeve which I wish you would write about in your column. Whenever I go to the movies, I get furious with people who remain in their seats and make it necessary for others to squeeze by them. Don't you think it is very discourteous of them not to stand to let people by?

A: I agree that if by turning their knees to one side, they cannot make enough room for you to pass easily, they should stand.

Resignation Is Read at Village Meeting Monday

At the Monday night meeting of the Saugerties Village board, the official resignation of Sgt. John J. Keeley Sr., from the police department was read and accepted with regret by Mayor George P. Holmes and the board members. The letter, addressed to Mayor Holmes, Police Commissioner George Terpening and the trustees, follows:

June 2, 1961

Gentlemen:

It is with deep regret that I must tender my resignation as a member of the Saugerties Police Department effective July 1, 1961. As you may have been aware of for some time, my health has not been too good. I am now at the point where I believe that my physical condition will prevent me from discharging my duty according to the standards required of a police officer.

I deem it a privilege to have been able to serve the people of Saugerties for the past 31 years. It has also been a great pleasure to have been associated with the other members of the police department and I have greatly enjoyed working with them

Sincerely
JOHN J. KEELEY SR.
Police Sergeant

Mayor Holmes requested that a letter be sent to Keeley, thanking him for his long years of service to the village and wishing him happy years in his retirement.

Sealed bids for the furnishing of fuel oil to the municipal building, the C. A. Lynch Fire Company meeting rooms, and the public library were opened and the Wham Oil Company of Kingston was awarded the contract as low bidder on a flat rate per year.

It was recommended by the board to send Donald Sullivan of the police department to the 9th annual training conference at St. Lawrence Institute for police officers July 16 through 21, sponsored by New York State Division for Youth.

Mayor Holmes informed the board members that Frank Haas, field representative of the Urban Renewal Administration, and others from the planning department of that office, would be in the village June 13 to meet with members of the board and Chamber of Commerce to look over specific areas to determine if the plan would be available to the village.

Guidance Head Leaves for Post At Dryden School

Kenneth L. Lane, guidance counselor at the Saugerties High School for the past three years, has resigned effective July 1 to accept a position as director of guidance at Dryden Central School, Tompkins County.

Lane is a graduate of Cornell University where he earned his BS and MS degrees. He has done graduate work at the University of Rochester and State University College of Education, Albany.

Active in school affairs, Lane was recently elected president of the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association.

Driver Course Offered Locally This Summer

An adult driver education class, sponsored by the Saugerties Central Schools Adult Education Program, will be held this summer beginning the last week in June and continuing through the third week in July.

Registration will be held in room 3 at the high school, Washington Avenue, Saugerties, June 22 at 7 p. m. All interested persons should register in person, if possible. Questions concerning the course should be directed to Kenneth Lane, assistant director, at the high school.

Rosary Society Sets Day of Recollection

A Day of Recollection will be held on Saturday, June 10, at Villa St. Joseph, the Dominican Sisters Convent, Barclay Heights. The arrangements have been made through Sister Mary John at Villa St. Dorpinic at Glasco by St. Mary's Rosary Society.

The program will start with Mass at 11 a. m. The Rev. Justin McManus, who is chaplain at St. Agnes Convent, Spark Hill, Rockland County, will officiate. He has served as chaplain at Villa St. Joseph for several summers.

Lunch will be served from noon to 1 p. m, after which conferences will be held and a question and answer period.

Private confessions and private conferences will be held between 3 and 4 p. m. Holy Hour will be 4-5 p. m.

Dinner and closing of the Day will be from 5 to 6 p. m. Any women wishing to attend please contact Mrs. Jean Seither or Mrs. Peg Wilsey.

Camp Fire Girls Tour Doll Museum

The Bluebirds of Saugerties area Camp Fire Council, consisting of six groups, traveled by bus Saturday to Averill Park where they visited the Doll Museum conducted by Lillian Favilore.

The 103 girls between the ages of 7 and 9, and their leaders and some mothers, viewed the display of some 1,200 dolls with an estimated value of $5,200. One display of the royal family of England included Queen Elizabeth in her coronation gown which Mrs. Eavilore reported took a year for her to fashion. There were miniature displays of characters from fairy tales complete with detailed scenery.

Leaders accompanying the girls included Mrs. Frank Ruddy of the Flying Bluebirds; Mrs. Jack Dean, Star Bright Bluebirds; Mrs. Theodore Freligh, Singing Bluebirds; Mrs. Ray Olsen, dancing bluebirds; Mrs. Gordon Keeley, Miss Marion Newkirk, Friendly Bluebirds.

The Saugerties Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold its annual picnic Saturday at 12 noon at the home of Mrs. William Young on Esopus Creek.

They will celebrate not only Flag Day, but the 60th anniversary of the Saugerties Chapter. Mrs. Lyle J. Howland, state vice regent of Rome, will be guest speaker.

We The Women

Woman Who's Widowed Is Apt to Lose Friends, Too

Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Since a large percentage of today's wives someday will be widows, the indifference of women who still have husbands to women who have lost theirs is hard to understand.

It exists just the same. This column continually receives letters from widows that express pretty much the puzzled disillusionment in the following letter:

"My husband died two years ago. While he was alive we had a close circle of friends, couples we thoroughly enjoyed and entertained from time to time.

"I can truthfully say that we entertained more often than most because we both enjoyed being with old friends and making new ones. We also tried to be especially thoughtful about inviting newcomers to our home.

"I thought we had so many friends and such a well-established place in our community that I would not feel left out of the town's social life when I was left alone.

"But, though our friends rallied around me wonderfully at the time of my husband's death —all but two couples have drifted away in just two years.

"I still am invited to strictly 'female' get-togethers, teas and luncheons, and such. But I'm no longer included in evening parties where there are both men and women.

"I realize that I am now only half of a couple—but should that make such a difference to friends of long standing? I wouldn't be writing this letter if this were just my problem. But I think what has happened to me happens to most widows —and, somehow it seems unnecessarily unkind. I should have said unnecessarily thoughtless, for I am sure that none of the couples who used to be such close friends actually mean to be unkind."

Beaten by Negroes

Youth Is Back After Race Riot In Dixie Town

TRINITY, N.C. (AP)—Robert Paris, 20, employe of a grill, who had been missing all night after a race riot, walked into his home today. He had welts on his back and arms from what he said was a beating by Negroes wielding leather belts.

Parris told officers he had fled from a fight Monday night involving about 40 Negroes and a dozen whites and hid under a house. He said he lost consciousness and did not revive until daylight.

Monday morning, Parris said, three negro youths came into the grill, got drinks and started out. A group of white youths said something to the Negroes.

John McPherson, owner of the grill, told the Negroes to leave before trouble started and as they told him: "I'll be seeing you tonight."

An intensive search for Parris had been made after the fight.

There were no arrests.

Trinity is a community of about 1,000 persons with whites outnumbering Negroes. It is in central North Carolina.

Six Children Perish As Their Home Burns

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Six children perished in a fire which destroyed their home Monday night. Another child was critically burned.

The mother, Jesse Mae Forest, was treated for shock. She rushed from the blazing house barefooted and in her nightgown. A neighbor, Jimmy Davis and another man, Van Adams, rescued one child, Michael Forest, 9, who was rushed to a hospital with burns over 60 per cent of his body.

The flames blocked further rescue work. The house was destroyed.

The dead children ranged in age from 1 to 9. They were Aaron 10, Don 7, Ema Mae 6, Kayseen 5, Robbis 1, and Jennett 2.

The Forests are Negroes.

YMCA Teenagers Induct Members

Outgoing president John Roberts acted as master of ceremonies. Welcoming speech was given by Louis H. Schafer, general secretary of the YMCA. Howard Shinn, New York State associate secretary, spoke on the beginnings of Hi-Y and stressed today's New York State Hi-Y Youth and Government program.

Twenty-two parents and 37 high school students were in attendance. Refreshments were served by the Hi-Y girls, aided by the YMCA Parent's Club.

Officers installed were:

Bookwalter Club, James Rundle, president; William McDermott, vice president; John Osterhoudt, secretary; Robert Whiston, treasurer; John Roberts, chaplain and Harry Tutwiler, sergeant-at-arms.

Adlai Pleased, Continues Tour

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson heads for Argentina today after a 48-hour visit to Venezuela's capital, first stop on his presidential mission to Latin America.

Although no agreements were sought on concrete problems, Stevenson made known he was pleased with the results.

For one thing, he was reported reassured by President Romulo Betancourt's continued firm stand against dictatorships in Latin America, of both the left and right complexion.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations also was gratified by the warm personal reception he received in the city which displayed violently anti-U.S. feelings to Vice President Richard M. Nixon three years ago.

Stevenson will see Argentine President Arturo Frondizi Wednesday. No special difficulties are anticipated in Argentina since relations between the United States and the Frondizi government are extremely cordial.

Efforts to Force Communist Party to Register Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday upheld the government's long effort to compel the Communist party to register as an arm of the Soviet Union.

Such registration was ordered under the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950, but the case has been tied up for almost 10 years in the courts. The high tribunal heard arguments on two separate occasions, totalng six hours of legal debate, before reaching today's decision.

Justice Frankfurter delivered today's 5-4 ruling.

Must Reveal Members

Under the registration law the party can be compelled to divulge its membership lists and finances and label its literature as Communist propaganda.

Justice Frankfurter's majority opinion ran 112 printed pages.

He concluded with this sentence: "The Constitution does not prohibit the requirement that the Communist party register with the attorney general as a Communist-action organization."

Chief Justice Warren and Justices Douglas and Black wrote dissenting opinions. Justice Brennan wrote a separate opinion dissenting in part.

Warren Gives Reasons

Warren's dissent, covering 22 printed pages, gave reasons why he felt the law constitutes a violation of the Constitution's 5th amendment ban against self incrimination.

Black said in his dissent that he would "leave the Communists free to advocate their beliefs in proletarian dictatorship publicly and openly among the people of this country with full confidence that the people will remain loyal to any democratic government truly dedicated to freedom and justice—the kind of government which some of us still think of as being 'the last best hope of earth.'"

Douglas' dissenting opinion asserted that "our Constitution protects all minorities, no matter how despised they are."

Rocky-Goldwater (Or Vice Versa,) Possible: Miller

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman William E. Miller says a Goldwater-Rockefeller or a Rockefeller-Goldwater ticket is possible in 1964.

But, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., doesn't think it would be a good idea for him or any other conservative to have a second spot on a ticket headed by a liberal.

And, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said a ticket combining Goldwater with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York would be an undesirable poltical hybrid. Javits, like Rockefeller, is considered at home in the party's liberal wing.

Miller foresaw a possible Rockefeller - Goldwater combination when questioned by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., on a television program taped for New York stations.

Not entirely lost in the discussion was the 1960 GOP presidential candidate, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Miller said if Nixon runs for governor of California in 1962 and wins he presumably would be a contender for a second presidential nomination. Another possible aspirant, Miller said, is Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Most famous of the hundreds retiring from teaching this month is Dr. Frank Baxter, who refused to pull a tea cozy over his bald head and fade away like Mr. Chips.

The only resemblance between Dr. Baxter and Mr. Chips is that they were both good teachers. But Dr. Baxter is no ivy-covered pedant. A man of infinite jest like Yorick, he has carried his zest for knowledge across the land through the medium of television.

Lectures Win Awards

For 31 years, Dr. Baxter's English classes have been one of the notable assets of the University of Southern California. In 1953, he enlarged his classroom for "Shakespeare on TV," a pioneering venture for the new medium. Since then, his TV lectures have garnered a harvest of awards, including seven Emmies.

Now 65, he is retiring from USC. All that remains of his academic career is correcting a set of final papers.

"No, I'm not sorry to be quitting," he said. "After all, I've been at this teaching game for 31 years. That's a long time. I'll be happy not to have to get up early and fight the freeway traffic from South Pasadena three times a week. I won't miss correcting papers; undergraduate prose is not the most uplifting in the world.

"Oh, I'll miss certain things. Mainly it's the students. All of us in the teaching profession are vampires feeding on the blood of the young."

His future schedule sounds athletic. He has lined up lectures all over the country, starting this summer in Hawaii. He will start a 15-minute radio series on subjects of his choosing for Westinghouse, which has been seeking him for two years. He will tape introductions for "An Age of Kings," the British-made series of Shakespeare's chronicles which will appear on TV throughout the nation. He may continue narrating the Bell Telephone science hours.

"I feel fit," he commented on the heavy schedule. "In some ways I feel like a man of 20, though the legs tell me differently."

Island Dock Lumber to Hold Home, Urban Festival 2 Days

Island Dock Lumber, Inc., will hold a spectacular "Home and Urban Festival" at the Island Dock, Abeel Street, on Saturday and Sunday.

Mayor Radel will officiate at the initial opening at 1 p. m. on Saturday, and Mrs. New York State will be official hostess at the event both days. The two-day festival will be open to the public between 1 and 6 p. m.

Better ways of living through use of the latest materials and home products will be demonstrated. Among the nationally known manufacturers displaying products will be Stylon Ceramic Tile, Johns-Manville, Universal Rundle bath fixtures and General Motors' Delco heating, both conventional and the latest concepts in electric heat.

To Explain Building

The Home Modernization Center at Island Dock will have its grand opening on those days. Literature on all phases of the building field will be distributed and the new 1961 Ideal Homes will be introduced.

Civic organizations and the major utility companies will participate in the festival. Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company and the New York Telephone Company will be there. Civil Defense will hold instructions at the Island Dock model bomb shelter and the Kingston YMCA, under direction of Lou Schaffer, will hold a trampoline demonstration.

To Explain Mortgages

Movies on homes and modernization will be shown and a financing institution will be on hand to explain mortgaging and special mortgaging terms provided under the government for 40-year terms.

Novel entertainment will be provided for both adults and children. The Trail Sweepers, local ski club, will perform a water skiing exhibition. There will be free boat rides from the marina and there will be free refreshments and free pony rides for the children. Prizes will be awarded every 15 minutes throughout both days.

All who are interested in information concerning financing, or any phase of the home building field are urged to attend. Admission of course is free and all children must be accompanied by an adult.

Why We Say--

CUNNING OR SLY: It was not always a compliment for a girl to be called pretty. The word is derived from the Old English "praetig" which meant cunning or sly. After centuries it changed to crafty, then ingenious and finally to its present meaning.

Juliette Low formed the first Girl Scout troop with 12 members at Savannah, Ga., in 1912.

Cleared in '59 Slaying

DETROIT (AP)—Gordon Watson was found innocent today of first-degree murder and conspiracy to murder in the 1959 slaying of wealthy auto dealer, Parvin (Bill) Lassiter.

The state accused Watson, 46, of planning the slaying out of "lust and greed" with Lassiter's wife, Nelle, 38. It contended they wanted to carry on an illicit love affair and gain his estate. Both denied it.

Nothing New Expected But No Bad News Either

Tonight's TV Talk Opportune Time for President Kennedy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—As President Kennedy's White House term lengthened, this question repeatedly was being asked around Washington: When is he going to make his first nationwide TV talk?

He already had used three of the four main ways open to a president for getting his ideas across to the people: televised news conferences, messages to Congress and television speeches at special events.

In Good Position Now

It was assumed that Kennedy, acutely aware of a president's need for broad public support, would make a TV broadcast sooner or later.

It also was assumed that, because Kennedy is an extremely shrewd political tactician, he would make the broadcast when he was in the best position for it.

He's in a very good position for it tonight, perhaps better than at any time since he became president.

He'll be fresh back from his meetings with President Charles de Gaulle, Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The country is still interested enough to want to know what good, if any, came from the conferences.

Not on Defensive

So, while attempting to answer this, Kennedy also can get his own foreign policy ideas across on the big issues.

He can do this now without being on the defensive—as he would have been, for instance, if he took to TV to explain his advance approval of the disastrous Cuban invasion—or without irritating any particular part of the American society.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, in his first term, took to TV earlier than Kennedy. He made a nationwide TV-radio broadcast on May 19, 1953, to explain why people couldn't expect an income tax cut right away.

This must have carried some element of disappointment for a lot of people at the time. So Eisenhower's talk, in a sense, was an effort to persuade the public to grin and bear it.

No Disappointments

There can hardly be much disappointment in Kennedy's talk tonight—about his conferences abroad, particularly with De Gaulle and Khrushchev—since no one expected any big solutions or little ones, either.

Kennedy isn't expected to say anything new tonight on foreign policy. Since taking office his policy—standing stiff against the Russians—has been essentially the same as that of Presidents Eisenhower and Truman.

So, in talking to a nation which knows the broad outline of American policy and supports it, Kennedy will be asking for continuance of the same support for the same policy given his predecessors.

Kennedy actually is repeating what Eisenhower did after his first meeting with Khrushchev in July, 1955. He came right back and made a TV report to the nation.

JFK Benefits

But he made a mistake which Kennedy, benefiting by his predecessor's experience, isn't likely to repeat. Eisenhower raised hopes that things might be better as a result of the meeting.

He said there was a realization that negotiations could now be conducted without "propaganda and threat and invective." Within a few months American-Russian relations went down hill fast.

Eisenhower must have regretted his optimism five years later when Khrushchev, who had been rattling his rockets for some time, broke up the second summit with propaganda and invective because of the U. S. spyplane shot down over Russia.

Liquor Dealers Sponsor Course On Distillation

The Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association, Inc. will sponsor a course dealing with the distilling of alcohol beverages at the monthly meeting scheduled June 13 in the Alpine restaurant at DeWitt Lake at 7:30 p. m.

Representatives of Hiram Walkers Distillers and Colony Liquor Distributors, Inc. will conduct the program, it was announced today by Michael (Sparky) Greco, president of the association.

The course will cover all phases of distilling, including grain handling, fermentation, distillation, aging and rectifying (preparation of the aged product for bottling), Greco said.

The discussion will be conducted by a three-member panel who will answer questions. The program also will include distilling displays, grain samples, etc.

"The special meeting provides a "first hand opportunity for those engaged in the industry to derive a broader understanding on the ordering and stocking of merchandise, and the making and serving of alcoholic beverages," Greco said, inviting all licensees, bartenders and those associated with the industry to attend the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Dutch Festival Slated July 1-8 In Pennsy Town

The little village of Kutztown, Pa., tucked away in the rolling farm country of that neighbor state, will spring into national prominence with the annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival July 1-8.

Although called a "Dutch" festival, however, the picturesque little village was actually settled by German immigrants, according to Harry Rigby Jr., Kingston's noted historian and folklorist.

Rigby said that for several years he has wanted to attend the festival but has not yet succeeded, nor will he be able to make it this year.

He explained that the Kutztown settlers left Germany and settled in Pennsylvania about a century after the Dutch settled in this country. The true Dutch settlements can be found scattered sparsely through the eastern section—New Castle, Del., the Jersey shore, the city of Hartford, Conn., etc.

More tehan 125,000 persons are expected to journey to Kutztown for the 12th annual festival—the nation's largest folk festival. In past years visitors traveled from all over the United States and Canada to the fairgrounds of the small town on Route 222 between Reading and Allentown.

During this year's festival the folklore of the area will be keynoted, as usual.

Pioneer activities, many still practiced by the Hook-and-eye Amish and the Horse-and-buggy Mennonites, will be shown, including the use of a vertical horse power, the grinding of pomace in an early apple mill, whitewashing board fences with long handled brushes and squaring logs which become the pumpstocks of wooden pumps.

Featured will be the whole gamut of rural crafts which sustained the foremost farming region of the nation in the revolutionary and early 19th Century periods. Demonstrations include roof thatching, flax scutching, rag carpet weaving on mammoth old-time looms, lye making, millstone cutting, apple butter boiling and the wheelwright's craft.

Says High Cost Of Weapons Is Deterrent to War

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Dr. Hans A. Bethe, Cornell University physicist, maintains there is less chance of a third world war as long as the cost of nuclear weapons remains high.

Bethe, in a speech last night to the American Nuclear Society, said the more costly the weapons, the less available they are to small nations.

"It is in our interest to keep weapons as expensive as possible," he said. The United States, he continued, now has weapons to prevent an enemy from winning a war with a single nuclear attack.

Bethe cited weapons such as Minute Man missiles, submarines armed with Polaris missiles, and indestructible underground ICBM missile sites.

Imagination Firm Jailed for Checks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Tom Stephenson, 48, imaginative president of imaginary Imagination Plus Inc., has been sentenced to spend the next three years in federal prison.

Stephenson was sentenced Monday by Judge James T. Foley in Federal District Court on charges of transporting bogus checks across state lines. He pleaded guilty to the charges.

Stephenson was arrested April 10 in an Albany bank when he attempted to cash a check.

The FBI said Stephenson had come to Albany from Pennsylvania and had in his possession checks ranging from $12 to $15,000, all bearing the fictitious business name, "Imagination Plus Inc.", and listing Stephenson as president.

Named to Surrogate Post, Quits Bench

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Rollin A. Fancher of Jamestown, who was elected County Judge and Surrogate of Chautauqua County, was appointed County Surrogate today.

Fancher will resign the combined post to accept the Surrogate's position. The Legislature this year created the separate offices of surrogate and county judge.

Gov. Rockefeller appointed Fancher to a term ending Dec. 31. He had been elected to the combined office for a six year term that began in 1957.

HST Plans Programs

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman announced Monday that he plans a series of 26 one-hour television programs dealing with historic events of the present age and the period when he was president.

"I will do the talking and I will be the show," he told a news conference. "I propose to illustrate and supplement my comments with films from many sources."

Accused Slayer Loses Move to Dismiss Charge

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Charles Ducharme, 20, accused killer of his former girl friend, has lost a bid to have a first-degree murder charge against him dismissed.

City Judge Irving Goldman turned down Monday an attorney's argument that the shooting occurred in Canada. Goldman ordered Ducharme held for grand jury action.

Ducharme is accused of shooting Betty Ann Davison, 17, April 20 as she was returning home from a date with another youth.

The judge said Ducharme's attorney had not supplied evidence to support the motion for dismissal on the ground the killing occurred in Canada.

Ducharme, a West Chazy farmer, was captured May 4 after he had shot himself in the stomach.

More Freedom or More Trujillo

5-Nation Group to Leave For D. R. Check Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-nation special commission is expected to leave Thursday to determine whether the Dominican Republic is moving toward more freedom for its people or toward an even tighter dictatorship.

A seven-nation committee of the Organization of American States voted Monday to send the commission to investigate conditions in the Caribbean country following the assassination last week of dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The unanimous acceptance of a U.S. request for the investigation came after Dominican Foreign Minister Teofilo Herrera Baez said his country would welcome the special mission.

The OAS first Argentine, Sun Jose, Costa Rica, charged that the Trujillo government plotted the assassination attempt on Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt. Venezuela and other republics should break diplomatic relations with the Trujillo regime.

A special committee set up by the Dominican Republic itself was to conduct an investigation but was permitted to travel freely and conduct its business.

OAS officials said it was expected probable the report by the seven-day meeting from New York. Decision would be by majority vote. Commission members are Panama, the United States, Argentina, Mexico and Uruguay.

High School Baseball Team Wins, 4-3, Against Middletown

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

It isn't official yet, but it seems quite probable that the elders of the DUSO League Council will reject the application of Our Lady of Lourdes (Poughkeepsie) for admittance to the DUSO League, when they meet in solemn conclave on June 14 at Walden.

According to scuttlebutt making the rounds, two formidable arguments are stacked against the new Poughkeepsie high school: (1) it can draw talent from anywhere in the area and (2) the DUSO moguls take a dim view of two schools in one city.

Both of these arguments appear plausible on the surface, but at closer range they are somewhat obtuse. The first argument is negated by the fact that Our Ladys now plays three DUSO members — Kingston, Port Jervis and Middletown — baseball and basketball.

For some strange reason, Sam Kalloch, the portly and highly successful Poughkeepsie High School mentor, has avoided any contact with his neighbors four blocks away. This must seem curious to many folks since Poughkeepsie hasn't booked a full 8-game football schedule since the Battle of the Bulge.

• Argument Is Weakened:

Let us quickly clear the picture. Lourdes has not yet adopted football for the simple reason the school is only three years old and will not have its fourth class until this September. Football will soon become a certainty and it should give Kalloch some measure of comfort to know that he can book a football game right in his own bailiwick.

If the DUSO moguls firmly believe argument I, then the current relationship with Kingston, Port Jervis and Middletown in basketball and baseball is highly clandestine and should be ended forthwith. Continued relations among the four schools in these two sports vitiates, we think, any plausible argument against Our Lady of the Lourdes' entry in the DUSO League.

The Dutchess County Scholastic League has previously rejected Our Lady's application for membership, presumably on the same grounds.

The DUSO athletic directors must also be concerned with the ever shrinking basketball schedule. Ellenville and Fallsburgh dropped out of the DUSO city section a year ago. Liberty and Monticello, those hardy Sullivan County basketball perennials, will give up the ghost after the end of the 1961-62 season, after 30 years of gallant competition.

Departure of these four schools leave only Middletown, Kingston, Newburgh, Port Jervis and Poughkeepsie, with the "village" schools available under the conference-type schedule. Four outside opponents must be on the schedule every year to complete the normal 18-game setup in basketball.

We think the situation dictates a bit of soul searching on the part of the DUSO Council. There must be stronger reasons than the above two to deny admittance to Our Lady.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

John E. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood E. Davis of Richmond Park, Kingston, was awarded freshman track numerals at Wesleyan University's recent spring sports banquet. Davis is a graduate of the Loomis School in Windsor, Conn. . . . Sylvia Wene, America's "Woman Bowler of the Year," put on a show that Millbrook fans will not forget for some time. Appearing at Washington Lanes in Millbrook, the former National All Star champion cracked a tremendous 787 series on games of 266, 243 and 278, the highest three games ever rolled by a woman bowler in mid-Hudson history. . . . The indestructible Billy Ostrom, who leads the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls into Dietz Stadium Saturday night collected four hits in two Interstate League games, three of them triples up the left center field alley. Billy, a southpaw swinger apparently hasn't lost his wrong-field power. . . . Poughkeepsie High School tennis team has won three straight DUSO titles and has a winning streak of 34 straight matches. . . . State University at New Paltz, working on a plus 20 skein, has been invited to the Colgate University tournament in mid-June and may also take part in the Hawkeye tourney in Des Moines, Iowa, during the latter part of June. . . . Proving that Coach Charlie Wolbers is a man who likes to get around. . . . Carl Cerniglia, of the Newburgh American Legion Rookies, who boomed a terrific home run against the Kingston Braves Sunday, was an All-DUSO outfielder while playing for Poughkeepsie High in 1959. He stands 6-5 and weighs about 225, impressive statistics for long ball hitting. The Braves' pitching staff in the NY-NJ League — Al Corwin, Bob Maines, Frank Horan and Larry De Vita — is of minor league quality. If pitching is 70 per cent of the battle, the Braves have only 30 per cent to go to win the1961 NY-NJ pennant.

Closes Season With 2nd Place In DUSO League

Surviving a seventh inning rally by the home side, the Kingston High School baseball team closed its season at Middletown yesterday with a 4-3 verdict and second place in the DUSO standings. However, the Middies made the contest close with a three run rally and Coach Al Gruner had to summon ace Bob Dunn to retire the last out and preserve a triumph for Jerry Howard.

The Maroon players had a record of 9-5 for the season and were 5-3 in the league, finishing three games behind Newburgh. Four of the wins came in the final fiver circuit contests.

The final standings:

	W	L
Newburgh	8	0
Kingston	5	3
Poughkeepsie	3	5
Middletown	2	6
Port Jervis	2	6

Howard was breezing on a two-hitter starting the seventh and got Ronnie Smith on a strike out to start the frame. After being touched for a hit, he got Dick Collins to pop up and it looked as if he were home free.

Bases Loaded Double

Then another safety and a walk clogged the sacks and pinchhitter Lou Modico rapped a double to score three runs. Coach Gruner then summoned Dunn from the bullpen and he forced Dom Roselli to rap to the box for the final out of the season.

Until that seventh inning rally, Howard was in complete control of the situation. He had perfect control and had the home side hitting the ball on the ground.

The locals had pecked away at loser Ken Decker. In the second frame, Richie Sickler singled, went to second on a balk and scored on a booming double by Gerry Hawkins.

Sophomore slugger Paul Natale homered along the right field line in the sixth inning to make the margin 2-0. It was his second of three hits.

Don Price relieved Decker in the seventh and he walked Hawkins to start matters. Gerry then stole second and scored as Vince Smedes reached base on an error. Natale delivered Smedes with a ringing hit.

That set the stage for the do-or-die Middletown rally in the seventh and it fell a run short.

Moore Is Ready For Any Style Against Rinaldi

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Archie Moore, the venerable king of the light heavyweights, announced today that he was ready to encounter any style Giulio Rinaldi employs in their title bout in New York Saturday night.

"Let's say," quipped Archie, who is 44 years old by his reckoning but 47 by his ma's, "that I will ad lib this one. Whatever Rinaldi does I expect to do something better."

Rinaldi, who decisioned Archie in Italy earlier in the year, has made no secret of his plans. He intends to push the Methusalah of the division, keep him off balance and stay away from his right.

"Hmmm," mused Archie, rubbing his goatee, "the last time we fought Giulio was not particularly aggressive and he didn't crowd much.

"But it really doesn't make any difference. I am completely prepared against such tactics. I am also prepared if Rinaldi tries to do something different."

There had been rumors that Archie would have trouble making the 175-pound limit. But he hopped on the scale and it showed 178½.

McCaig Birdies 18th To Win Seniors Title

Dr. Robert McCaig of Saugerties came to the 18th hole at The Twaalfskill Club needing a birdie-3 to win the 1961 Seniors championship.

The ninth hole at Twaalfskill, which becomes the 18th the second time around, of course, is substantial par-4 where birdies are not commonplace.

But these statistics failed to inhibit the doctor who calmly canned a 30-yard chip and run shot to edge George (Doc) Rusk by a single shot to cinch the title.

McCaig, a long time member of the perennial Saugerties foursome with Fabian L. Russell, Dr. Rodney Ball and Ernest Schirmer, finished with a net 64, with 78 net and 14 handicap.

Rusk posted 87-22-65 to finish a stroke ahead of Henry Hartley, 77-11-66, while Walton Fitzgerald shot 90-23-67 and Clarence Raichle had low gross of the day (73) and four handicap for 69 net.

Tribe Closing In on Tigers; Vern Law Halts Dodgers, 5-2

7th Straight Win Is 7-5 Over Nats; Yanks Sweep Pair

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians closed within one game of front-running Detroit in the American League race by beating Washington 7-5 for their seventh straight victory Monday night while the Chicago White Sox beat the Tigers 8-0.

Reliever Barry Latman won his fourth with four innings of two-hit, shutout relief for the Tribe, and broke a 5-5 tie with a triple.

New York swept a twi-night doubleheader from Minnesota 6-1 and 6-2, the Los Angeles Angels defeated Baltimore 3-0 on the six-hit pitching of Ron Moeller and Kansas City split a doubleheader at Boston, winning 10-6 after the Red Sox took the opener 6-2.

The Indians, after blowing 3-0 and 5-3 leads behind starter Johnny Antonelli and Bobby Locke, finally made it with two unearned runs in the seventh at Washington against losing reliever John Gabler (2-2). Latman's two-out triple triggered the rally and gave the bullpen three victories and three saves in the Tribe's seven-game streak.

First Shutout

Cleveland collected 15 hits—including a 4-for-4 show by the three pitchers—with Jimmy Piersall cracking a triple and three singles and Johnny Romano extended his hit streak through 20 games with a double.

Frank Baumann (4-4) allowed seven hits while pitching the first shutout by the White Sox staff and became the first left to go all the way against Detroit this season. He also had three hits and drove in three runs. Right-hander Phil Regan, a five-game winner for Detroit, lost his second in a row when the Sox scored twice in the second inning on two walks and singles by Jim Landis and Sherm Lollar.

The Yankees set AL home run records for 13 and 14 consecutive games while tagging the Twins with an 11-game losing string. A three-run, pinch homer by Johnny Blanchard did it in the seventh inning of the opener, and Mickey Mantle then regained a tie for the AL lead with his 15th, a two-run shot, in the eighth. That made it 27 home runs in 13 games for New York, and Tony Kubek made it 28 for 14 in the nightcap with a two-run homer in the seventh that gave the Yankee shortstop a 14-game hitting streak.

Coates, Sheldon Win

Jim Coates (6-2) won his fifth in a row, first as a starter, with relief by Luis Arroyo in the opener. Rookie Roland Sheldon (2-2) then pitched his first complete game with a six-hitter in the second game, clinching it with his first major league hit, a two-run single, in the fifth. Don Lee and Chuck Stobbs, both 0-2, were the losers.

Ted Kluszewski hammered a two-run homer in the first inning for the Angels off Hec Brown (5-2), who had won four in a row. It was Klu's sixth hit off Baltimore pitching this season—all home runs. Moeller, an ex-Bird, struck out nine—fanning Brooks Robinson and Jim Gentile with the bases loaded in the fifth, and whiffing Jerry Adair and pinch-hitter Dave Philley with two on in the sixth. It was his first victory and complete game in the majors.

Mike Fornieles (2-2) gave up 10 hits but went all the way while making his first start in three seasons for Boston in the opener. Frank Malzone's single broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth off Ray Herbert (3-5). Joe Nuxhall (4-1) won the second game, with relief help from Bill Kunkel. Norm Siebern reached base eight times in a row for the A's in the twinbill, hitting a home run in a decisive five-run fifth in the second game. Reliever Dave Hillman (2-2) was the loser.

Major League Stars

Pitching — Frank Baumann, White Sox, gave Sox first shutout and became first left-hander to pitch complete game against first place Tigers, winning 8-0 with seven-hitter.

Hitting — Norm Siebern, A's, reached base eight times in row after first inning out in double-header at Boston, hitting home run and four singles and drawing three walks as A's first lost 6-2, then won, 10-6.

Herdegen Tourney Saturday

New rules changes will affect the 11th annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament which gets under way Saturday at 9 a. m. at Wiltwyck Country Club.

The 72-hole medal tournament will determine the amateur champion of Ulster County for 1961.

Defending champion is Leon Randall of Wiltwyck, who also captured the Hudson River Golf Association crown last year.

The 1961 tournament is limited to players with accredited club handicaps of 11 or less. The entry fee has been hiked slightly and USGA rules will be observed except for ground rules covering local conditions.

In all except one of the past 10 tournaments, players in the Herdegen Memorial have been permitted so-called preferred lies.

Four Courses in Play

Tournament officials report that all four courses to be used — Twaalfskill, Wiltwyck, Woodstock and Shawangunk in Ellenville — will be in the best possible condition.

The second round of the qualifying play is scheduled Sunday at 9 a. m. at Shawangunk. The field will be reduced to low 24 players and ties at the end of 36 holes.

The final two rounds are scheduled Saturday, June 17, at Twaalfskill and on Sunday, June 18, at Woodstock Country Club where the players will be guests of the country club at a luncheon following the matches.

The 1961 champion will receive a trophy and the Herdegen Memorial coat first worn by Leon Randall in 1960. There will be 12 places in the money.

In case of a tie for first place, there will be a sudden death playoff. All other place winners will draw for prizes.

Deadline for entries is Thursday, June 8.

Braves Boosters Meet Wednesday

An important meeting of the Kingston Braves Boosters committee, headed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Addison Jones, will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the mayor's office at city hall.

Ticket reports will be made and plans finalized for the parade and NY-NJ League opener between the Braves and Poughkeepsie, Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

Reds Now First In NL Race After 5-3 Win Decision

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates, with Vern Law winning his first in more than a month, defeated Los Angeles 5-2 and knocked the Dodgers out of the National League lead Monday night. Cincinnati regained first place, by a half game, with a 5-3 victory over Milwaukee.

Last place Philadelphia dropped San Francisco to third, 3-2, and St. Louis outslugged the Chicago Cubs 10-8.

Face Saves It

Law, bothered by a sore shoulder and home runs, avoided both troubles at Los Angeles. He gave up eight hits and blew a 2-0 lead, but then singled home the tie-breaker in the sixth against losing reliever Ron Perranoski (3-1) before giving way for a pinchhitter. ElRoy Face then saved it, with two-innings of one-hit, shutout relief. Bill Mazeroski and Smoky Burgess homered for the Pirates, who collected 13 hits.

The Reds came from behind and beat Lew Burdette (4-5) with a three-run eighth inning on homers by Frank Robinson and Jerry Lynch. Robinsor singled and Lynch doubled as they scored Cincinnati's first two in the second inning on a single by Gordie Coleman after the Braves had counted three in the first on home runs by Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock. Joey Jay, a former Brave, worked the first seven innings, blanking Milwaukee on one hit over the last six. Jim Brosnan (2-1) then won it in relief, with help from Bill Henry in the ninth.

McDermott Gains Win

A six-run seventh inning, triggered by Carl Sawatski's two-run homer and capped by Bill White's grand slam, brought the Cardinals from behind. Maury McDermott, gaining his first NL decision, was the winner in relief. Ed Bouchee and Ernie Banks homered for the Cubs. The losing pitcher was reliever Joe Schaffernoth (0-3).

Robin Roberts, who had lost his first seven decisions, beat the Giants with a six-hit job. Chuck Hiller hit a two-run homer for San Francisco in the second inning, but then put the tying run on base with an error ahead of Pancho Herrera's winning three-run homer in the third. Mike McCormick (5-5) was the loser, dropping his third in a row.

Sioux Win, 20-0, Over Iroquois

The Sioux scored at will and trounced the Iroquois, 20-0 in a Met Knothole league game yesterday. The winners clinched the triumph with nine runs in the fourth frame.

A total of nine doubles were hit in the contest with Holden of the winners hitting three of them. He also scored three runs. Present of the Sioux had a pair of doubles.

Armstrong's, Alpine, Chez, Hilltop Win Softball Tilts

Armstrong's pushed two runs across the plate in the 10th inning and nipped the Subway, 10-8, in a wild City Softball league game last night at the Stadium.

In other action, Alpine stopped Anchorage, 8-3; Chez Emile walloped Yallum's, 13-4, and Hilltop nipped Red Hook, 6-4.

Subway was forced to tally three runs in the seventh inning to tie Armstrong's but fell by the wayside when the visitors picked up two markers in the tenth. Relief hurler Frank Coulard was the loser while Bill Costello went all the way for the winners.

Barger Does the Damage

Dick Barger pitched and batted Alpine to its win over Anchorage. He broke a 3-3 deadlock with a three-run homer in the fifth frame to pin the loss on the vetetran Mike Boyle. Chris Schwark homered for Anchorage.

Chez Emile teed off against Mike Amato for six runs in the second inning and then romped to a decision. Farley hit a homer to pace the winners while Crosby doubled, tripled and singled in four trips to the dish. Joe Tremper had a three base blast for Yallum's. Vince Carpino picked up the verdict.

Jack Niles scored the first two runs and drove in the next four as Hilltop won over Red Hook. He slammed a home run, double and two singles to pace the attack on losing chucker Red Moul. Don Conn and Moul tripled for the losers and Moul also doubled. John Woods was the winner.

Have Certain Common Features

Dr. Schaefer Tells How Hail Is Made in Storms

BY CHARLES R. DOUGLAS
(Freeman Staff Writer)

This is the 11th in a series of articles on weather modification experiments as conducted a few years ago in the Hudson Valley and more recently elsewhere in the nation.

Much of the information obtained by Dr. Schaefer during his studies in the West is of interest only to other scientists, but we're all probably interested in learning how hailstones are formed and what the weather does with them.

In dealing with properties of hailstones, Dr. Schaefer notes that while some have been reported of grapefruit size, the largest available for his research were about 2½ inches in diameter. Those of the latter size, he said, had been shipped to him and were "studied as part of a basic research program in the atmospheric sciences conducted at the Loomis School, Windsor, Conn." Detailed studies, he said, were made in his laboratory.

Hailstones, he notes, are of a variety of shapes and sizes, but they have certain features in common. All show "banded structure, indicating two or more changes in growth rate and or environment."

Types Illustrated

The changes, he said, "appear to the casual observer as concentric bands of clear and cloudy ice, the so-called onion-skin structure." His report illustrated the type and structure of hailstones, and he explained the differences resulting of exposure to different conditions.

In the crystalline structure of larger hailstones, he said, "it is noted that the smallest crystals are generally 10 to 30 times larger than ordinary cloud droplets. This can mean several things. The structures observed could be formed by the rapid freezing of mistlike droplets as they contact the hail embryo to form a porous graupel-like (soft-like snow) matrix."

This sponge-like structure, he noted, "might then soak up liquid water in fast enough motion so as not to freeze immediately upon contact. A similar mechanism," he explained "may be postulated involving cirrus-type (stratified) ice crystals. In this case, however, water and ice crystals would coexist, the size of the ice crystals and their packing determining the final crystal sizes. Either of these processes could explain the uniform bands of small crystals found in most large hailstones."

Like Icicles

Formation of larger crystals could also be from zones of "slow wet growth." Crystals, he noted, are often similar to those found in icicles or similar formations which are formed by relatively slow development. Some hailstones, he said, "are certainly formed in this manner, since the elongated crystals observed . . . . could hardly be formed in any other way. Where the large crystals tend to have a uniform size, they might represent the accretion of large, frozen raindrops agglomerating on the surface as a slushlike mass that is freezing at about the same rate as the water and ice mixture is being deposited."

Among the striking features of the crystalline pattern of large hailstones, he said, "is the abrupt manner in which a change in crystal size occurs. These cyclic zones may be produced by several different types of environments or processes. They could, for example, grow within and at the edge of the main core of a very large convective column and represent the fluctuating nature of the environment of such a complex, dynamic structure. In a mature storm such as produces the larger hail stones, such column must contain zones of subcooled cloud droplets, mist and rain, small ice crystals, frozen rain drops, and wet snowflakes."

The latter reads like something which should go on a menu, and if it ever did, we know from what we have learned from the scientists, that the farmers of western great plains will never order it.

Dr. Schaefer described other methods of hailstone formation, and explained: "Large stones do not fall from simple convective cumulus. They invariably occur under conditions that involve either an intense zone of large scale convergence, as was the case with the Grand Island storm, or the developement of the giant, isolated cumulo nimbus that often occur east of the front range of the Rockies downwind of some of the large mountain peaks initiating them."

EXACT WEIGHTS and MEASURES

Accurate weighing and measuring equipment is the heart of a modern prescription laboratory. Whether a prescription calls for a capsule, ointment or a liquid, pharmacists must take special care to insure the exact quantity is dispensed of each ingredient.

We appreciate the opportunity of showing you our modern prescription scales and graduates. We welcome prescriptions requiring intricate compounding and professional skill.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Delaware Judge Will Also Act In Madison Co.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Delaware County Judge Walter L. Terry has taken over the duties of Madison County judge. Terry replaces Judge Clarence E. Conley, who suspended himself after he and a firm he heads were indicted for alleged payroll padding.

Terry, whose appointment is temporary, will hold the Madison County post in addition to his Delaware County bench.

Conley and his firm, Westlake Manufacturing Co., were indicted last month by a federal grand jury on 64 counts of payroll padding as a subcontractor at the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory near Schenectady.

The government claims the firm charged for 8,137 hours more than were worked by its employes in five years at the Atomic Energy Commission installation.

Terry also takes over Conley's other posts, judge of children's court and surrogate in Madison County. Gov. Rockefeller's office announced Terry's appointment, which took effect Monday.

Rockefeller Is Watching Jersey As Test for GOP

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York says the gubernatorial election in New Jersey next November will have a significant bearing on the fortunes of the Republican Party in 1962.

Rockefeller, who will be seeking re-election in 1962, campaigned in Camden County Monday night for James P. Mitchell, the former secretary of labor who is the GOP candidate for governor of New Jersey. Rockefeller made his first political speech outside his home state since last November's presidential election.

Goldfine Could Cut Jail Term By Disclosures

BOSTON (AP)—Upon Bernard Goldfine's willingness to make full disclosure of financial manipulations exceeding $600,000 depends the length of his stay behind bars, federal sources said today.

The ailing 70-year-old industrialist, beginning a jail sentence of a year and a day for evasion of nearly $800,000 in federal income taxes, could win freedom in four months, these sources said, or might be imprisoned 2½ years.

Condition Attached

U.S. Dist. Judge George C. Sweeney sentencing Goldfine Monday, attached a condition to the defendant's five-year probation—that Goldfine give the attorney general all information of whatever character on funds taken from Strathmore Woolen Co. and other Goldfine holdings through cash withdrawals or checks written to cash.

Such withdrawals, the judge said, total something in excess of $600,000 and it is the intent of the court to compel disclosure of where this money is and where it went.

Reports issued from the federal building that a grand jury would be called to hear Goldfine if the defendant decided to comply with the disclosure requirement.

Goldfine began his sentence at the federal correctional institution at Danbury, Conn., late Monday. He had been a prisoner there before, when he served a 90-day sentence last year for contempt of court.

Goldfine, born in Russia, made a fortune in textiles and real estate and spent freely on gifts for influential men. A congressional committee threw a spotlight in 1958 on his lavish gifts and hospitality for government officials.

Denies Wrongdoing

Out of that came the resignation of former Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire as White House assistant to President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Adams admitted Goldfine had paid some of his hotel bills and given him an expensive vicuna coat.

He denied any wrongdoing, despite testimony that he had telephoned the Securities and Exchange Commission for reports on proceedings against Goldfine.

Goldfine's blonde secretary, Mildred Paperman, 43, was placed on probation for three years for evasion of corporate income taxes as an officer of the Strathmore company. She was given an indeterminate suspended sentence.

Both Goldfine and his secretary were ordered to pay the evaded taxes plus penalties and interest.

HST Offers Advice

NEW YORK (AP) —Former President Harry S. Truman today advised two young Northerners interested in Southern desegregation to "sweep your own yard first."

"It's eager beavers who cause all the trouble," Truman commented to newsmen on his morning stroll. "Nine times out of ten their own back yard needs cleaning worse. They give me a pain in the neck."

Two antisegregationists had joined in the walk. They said they were Joel Geier, 22, of Chicago, national secretary of the Young People's Socialist League; and Thalia Syracopulos, 18, of 897 Delia Ave., Akron, Ohio.

Cooperation Held Vital for Dairy Groups of N.Y.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—New York dairy interests must cooperate closely to protect their market for fluid milk or face a bleak future, the state director of milk control said today.

It has become a case of "hang together or hang separately," Herbert R. Kling declared in a talk prepared for 300 dairymen delegates attending the annual meeting of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative.

Kling cited inroads of milk substitutes, what he called an almost certain increase in interstate shipments of milk, and a shift from home-delivery to store sales as tending to depress dairymen's prices.

Cooperatives should not give up their individual identities, Kling said, but could work more closely and effectively.

"Without dairying he contended, "we don't have much" in agriculture in New York, and the dairy industry is squarely dependent upon the fluid milk market.

In another prepared talk, Allen Ostrander of Theresa, president of Eastern, expressed the cooperative's continued opposition to any northeast order that would combine the New York and New England markets.

John C. York, manager of Eastern, called for nationwide pricing regulations on some manufactured dairy products.

In a prepared talk, he cited Italian-type cheese, which draws a premium price, as a product that could be priced on a nationwide basis.

It has been estimated that a snail's pace is exactly 0.000030600 miles per hour, or half-an-inch a minute.

Warns Against Any Trouble for Fall School Integration

ATLANTA (AP)—Rabble rousers, would-be rioters and the like have been warned by Gov. Ernest Vandiver against trying to stir up trouble when four Atlanta public high schools are integrated next fall.

Vandiver said Monday that although he was dead set against integration, "anytime the life or property of any citizen is endangered whatever forces that are necessary to preserve the peace will be used.

The Atlanta Board of Education has approved transfers of 10 Negroes in the 11th and 12th grades to white schools. The desegregation was ordered by a federal judge.

"Unless the state of Georgia wants to secede from the United States and fire on Ft. McPherson, we'll have to obey that court order," Vandiver told a news conference.

Named Board Chairman

CORNING, N. Y. (AP)—Amory Houghton Jr., president of Corning Glass Works, has been elected board chairman of Corning Glass Works of Canada Ltd., it was announced today. He succeeds William C. Decker.

Expect to Be Arrested, Leader of Group Says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven more "Freedom Riders" headed for Jackson, Miss., by bus today and others planned new moves by air to test Mississippi segregation laws despite threats of stiffer punishment.

Five white persons and two Negroes left New Orleans by bus at 6:25 a.m. today and were due in Jackson at 11:25 a.m. (CST).

Would Serve Fines

Newell Weber of East Orange, N.J., spokesman for the group, said they expected to be arrested in Jackson and would serve out their fines in the city or county jail.

The first fly-in to check on segregation at the Jackson airport was expected to arrive from St. Louis, Mo., Wednesday.

Plans were announced for students from a half-dozen cities to leave Louisville, Ky., early next week for Freedom Rides to several southern cities.

13 More Convicted

Thirteen more riders were convicted in Jackson Monday, raising the total to 65 since the first wave arrived May 24.

None has been charged with violating segregation laws. All were fined $200 and given 60-day suspended sentences on breach of peace charges. The maximum penalty on that charge is a $200 fine and four months in jail.

City Attorney Jack Travis said he would demand penalties for future riders and added that other charges might be filed against them.

"The city and state have done all they can to uphold the laws since these so-called riders have come to Mississippi," Travis said. "It appears that a conspiracy, plan or plot exists to completely break down the laws of the state."

Most riders have elected to stay in jail to work out their fines at $3 a day. Some have started hunger strikes to exphasize their protests over segregation.

Break Hunger Strike

Three Cornell University students, all white, broke their hunger strike Monday night. The three, Charles A. Haynie, 25, Douglaston, Queens, N.Y.; Paul Green, 22, New York City; and Joe H. Griffith, 26, Corpus Christi, Tex., had fasted since May 31.

Their decision to resume eating left five white and three Negro prisoners still refusing food.

One of the 13 convicted Monday was the Rev. Richard Gleason, 24, a white Baptist minister from the Bible Witness Mission in Chicago. He announced he had broken connections with the Freedom Riders because they included atheists, persons with police records and some who talked of communism.

2 Airmen Begin 17-Day Trip to Moon and Return

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Two airmen have started out to spend as much time in a simulated space cabin as it would take them to fly to the moon and back.

Capts. Lewis C. Gang, 38, and Bernard L. Westfall, 30, began their 17-day, make-believe journey in an 8X12 sealed steel tank Monday at 12:15 p.m.

Scientists at the school of aerospace medicine expect the tests will give them a better idea of how men will perform under conditions in space.

Dr. Billy Welch of the school said the 17-day length was chosen because it "is the duration of the missions that will be applicable in the next five years."

Medical Science Will Try to Cure Behavior: Doctor

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—President Kennedy's personal physician predicts the goal of medical science soon will be the cure of human behavior rather than the cure of human physical illness.

Foreseeing a world free of physical disease in which "only death will be accepted as inevitable," Dr. Janet Travell told the 108-member graduating class of Meharry Medical College here Monday: "The challenges of the future for medicine lie in the possibilities of modifying the behavioral patterns of the human race for the good of society."

Dr. Travell went with the President to Paris and Vienna but returned to appear as the commencement speaker at Meharry, a predominantly Negro school.

Fortune Teller Gets Her Word—In Police Style

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—"Your lonely nights are ending because in two weeks you will meet and marry a beautiful dark-haired girl," the fortune teller said Monday night. "Come back tomorrow and I'll have more to tell you."

"I can't," said the man.

"Why not?" the fortune teller replied.

"Because I'm already married and you won't be here," the man answered.

The man, an undercover member of the city's police vice squad, arrested Julia Thomas, 22, who said she was from Chicago. She was charged with violation of a state law that prohibits fortune telling.

Military Rulers In South Korea Attend Services

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's new military rulers made their first public appearance today with U.S. representatives who opposed their coup three weeks ago.

The 32-man military junta attended memorial services at the national military cemetery for soldiers killed in the Korean War. Also present were U.S. Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green and Gen. Carter B. Magruder, the U.N. and U.S. commander in Korea.

After the ceremony the junta chairman, Lt. Gen. Chang Do-yong, and his deputy, Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-hi, shook hands with Green and Magruder.
